Mussolini Rebuked.
Trigo Wins—33 to 1.
150,000,000 Years Ago.
Not So Very Happy.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IMPORTANT news from Rome tells of the rebuke administered by Pope Pius to Mussolini.

In connection with the re-establishment of the Pope's temporal power, Mussolini spoke in a manner that the Pope officially called "condemnable modernism."

IN Mussolini's attitude the Pope sees a danger to Christianity, "heretical and worse than heretical expressions as to the very essence of Christianity and Catholicism."

The Pope's letter to Cardinal Gasparri rebukes the Italian dictator in stern fashion, and Europe wonders what the result will be.

MUSSOLINI is not patient, and the Italian accord with the Vatican may be in danger.

Pope Pius, defying Mussolini, reminds you of an earlier pope nearly 1,500 years ago, traveling to the Danube to place himself in the power of the savage Attila and causing the latter to turn away from Rome.

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND Britishers watched the running of the derby and saw Trigo, an "outsider," win the race at 33 to 1.

Millions were won and lost on the running. Worse than the loss of money, which impoverishes, and the winning of money, which demoralizes, is the amount of THOUGHT wasted on a race without meaning.

HOWEVER, a horse race, or even a prize fight is better than the murderous gladiatorial games which they have succeeded. The human race must improve slowly. And the 90 per cent of us that cannot think seriously must be amused.

THE Museum of Natural History in Chicago, established by the generosity of the late Marshall Field, exhibits two new paintings, each twenty-five feet long, nine feet high, given by Ernest R. Graham.

Fundamentalists and modernists who believe and do not believe that the earth is only 6,000 years old, will be interested to hear that one picture shows the brontosaur, that lived 150,000,000 years ago, the other the mosasaur, more modern, that lived only 110,000,000 years ago.

MORE interesting than the brontosaur or the mosasaur and their doings is the fact that human beings undoubtedly will be living and working here 100,000,000 years from now. What sort of creatures will they be after so long a period of evolution?

Only 12,000 years from the late stone age now, we have done a good deal. What will men accomplish in the next fifty or a hundred million years?

WALL STREET did not feel so very happy yesterday. Fierce men, in the United States Senate, thought Wall Street ought to be investigated, and stock gambling discouraged. Anybody that bought stock and sold within sixty days should be taxed substantially.

Such talk is annoying, when you are watching the ticker. However, it does not affect real values, although it may affect temporary price quotations.

Select your real value, pay for it, don't gamble, and you need not worry.

IN New York yesterday the directors of the Guaranty Trust Company voted to their stockholders $20 a year profit per share, and announced a division of a "melon" of about $90,000,000 at present market prices.

The business of lending money is comfortable and profitable.

THE new British cabinet may include one woman, Margaret Bondfield, member of the Labor party.

Many believe that President Hoover's cabinet should include at least one woman. That may come later.

The United States should have at least one woman ambassador to an important country, if only to prove that women have more common sense than men.

EIGHTY-FOUR years ago a little girl was born in San Francisco under the Mexican flag. She died on Tuesday. San Francisco, when she first saw it, was a little Mexican pueblo called "Yerba Buena."

Now it is a great metropolis.

She was the first "white child" of Anglo-Saxon parents born in San Francisco.

It is hard to realize how many things have happened in this country since that little girl was born.

A MAN passed his examinations yesterday in Warsaw, Poland, got his license as taxicab driver, and went to work for $20 a week. His name is Prince Vladimir Constantinovitch, and he is a nephew of late Czar of Russia.

The grandson of a gentleman recently Kaiser in Germany is said to have got a job not long since in the Ford automobile factory.

PROBABLY both of them, without knowing it, are happier than they would have been if the Czar had lived and the Kaiser had stayed on his throne.

There is not much satisfaction in what you do not earn.

STANDARD OIL of New Jersey decides to divide profits with its executives. The brains of the company will have part of what they earn. General Motors adopted that plan long ago, and it is good for stockholders.

SAMUEL JOHNSON said no man ever wrote well except for pay.

You may add that no man ever does his best on a salary. That is part of poor human nature. Profit sharing is necessary to get the last ounce of energy and the NEW IDEAS.

ASKS JOINT CONGRESS BODY TO GIVE AID

Transfer of Prohibition Unit And Rigid Border Guard Among Recommendations

By GEORGE E. DURNO.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Hoover moved today to tighten up federal enforcement of prohibition.

In a special message to Congress, he recommended appointment of a joint congressional committee which would be charged with making an immediate study of "the reorganization and concentration of responsibility in administration of the federal bureau connected with prohibition enforcement."

WOULD NAME AIDS

The President advised Congress he stood ready to appoint a committee from the executive departments to co-operative with such a congressional body, and he also pledged the support of the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement.

Leaders in Congress indicated they were ready to create such a committee.

The proposed survey would cover the whole broad field of governmental dry law activities, according to the President's message. This would include not only the transfer of some bureaus and agencies from certain departments to others, but include also a general strengthening of border patrol, both in connection with prohibition and the illegal entry of aliens.

Mr. Hoover explained he would like the proposed congressional committee to make recommendations at the outset of the regular session of Congress in December, as the problems involved will require legislation.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

His message follows:

"In order to secure the utmost expedition in the reorganization and concentration of responsibility in administration of the federal bureaus connected with prohibition enforcement, so greatly needed to improve their effective-

2 BANK BANDITS SHOT, CAUGHT

CENTRAL CITY, Pa., June 6.—The most spectacular holdup ever to take place in this quiet little town occurred today when four bandits tried to empty the Central City National Bank. When the shooting had died down, two bullet-ridden bandits were behind the bars, a third was believed surrounded by excited townsmen in a swamp and the fourth had fled, double-crossing the gang. Of the $2,500 loot, $1,100 was recovered.

Three of the visitors were in the bank all night. They gained entrance through a coal-hole and this morning confronted Cashier James M. Miller, Assistant Ernest Cook and Teller Maurice Hoffman with revolvers. Ordered to empty the cash tills, they did, but Cashier Miller also sounded the alarm which roused everybody in town. Outside, the fourth bandit sped away. As the other three dashed from the bank, Miller, his aides, canstables and citizens gave chase, and for a mile a running gun battle took place.

All three bandits were wounded. Two were captured in the woods with part of the loot.

One said he had been smuggled into the country two months ago from Poland via Mexico.

King George Leaves Bed, Abscess Heals

LONDON, June 6.—(AP.)—King George passed a good night and was sitting up this morning when his physician, Henry Martyn, visited him, remaining about an hour. It was learned authoritatively he suffered no ill effects from the transactions of yesterday and the day before incident to a change in the nation's government. There has been a perceptible healing of the abscess which formed at the old lung incision and was the cause of the present illness.

Mrs. H. H. Rogers Silent On Divorce Report

PARIS, June 6.—(INS.)—Mrs. H. H. Rogers, wife of Col. Rogers, the Standard Oil multimillionaire, today refused to confirm reports that she and her husband had been divorced by the Dutch courts at Utrecht.

According to the same reports, Col. Rogers planned to marry Mrs. Basil Miles, but advices from Amsterdam stated that there was no record of any such marriage in the official files at Utrecht.

Mrs. Miles is the widow of a former well known Washington man in the State Department service. He lived in Paris for some time just before his death.

Col. and Mrs. Rogers are the parents of Millicent Rogers who married and divorced Count Salm von Hoogstraeten, of Austria. She is now the bride of Arturo Ramos, a wealthy young Argentinian.

FRENCH COUNT CAUGHT IN BIG RUM PLOT

Forty Raiders Nab Dozen Alleged Ringleaders of Huge Bootleg Scheme

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 6.—A French nobleman, importers, fur dealers and many other business men were trapped today as 40 armed federal agents launched a series of widespread raids in Manhattan and Brooklyn to break up a gigantic international liquor ring supplying New York's fashionable set.

Swooping down on warehouses, business offices, homes and hotels, the agents arrested a dozen of the alleged ringleaders within the first hour and confiscated rare wines, liquors and cordials worth a fortune.

The nobleman, Compte de Polignac, alleged to be the European agent for the ring, was arrested in his luxurious suite in the Savoy-Plaza Hotel. A revolver was taken from him and several cases of champagne were confiscated, the agents reported to their chief, William J. Calhoun, who directed the raids from his office in the Sub-Treasury Building.

REAL NOBLEMAN

Calhoun said that Comte de Polignac is a bone-fide member of the French nobility and has moved in the most exclusive society circles in the United States. The de Polignac family has waxed wealthy in Europe from the profits of an exclusive brand of champagne.

The count's plans to leave the country on the liner Paris tomorrow led Calhoun to order the raids today instead of next week, when it is alleged a large shipment of

Ziegfeld Showgirl, Jilted, Jumps From Twelfth Floor On Chicago 'Gold Coast'

International News Service.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Edwin Page, wealthy broker, was summoned today before a coroner's jury investigating the suicide of Miss Barbara Cole, an actress. She killed herself last night by leaping from a window of her luxurious apartment on the twelfth floor of a building in the North Side "gold coast" district.

"I love Ed Page," was penned on the fly leaf of her diary, found beside a glass containing the dregs of a highball.

SCOFFED AT THREAT

Page admitted there had been a "romance" and that they had quarreled.

"She telephone me and threatened to jump from the window," he asserted, "but I thought it was idle talk."

Miss Cole appeared here in "Rose Marie" and the Ziegfeld production of "Blue Boy."

INFORMS OPERATOR

A moment before her death she called the switchboard operator, saying: "This is Miss Cole. I am going to jump from the window."

The operator rushed to the front of the building and looked out. The body of Miss Cole was there.

PLEADS FOR SCIENCE

Dr. Wilbur's subject was "The Laboratory of Civilization," a plea for the introduction of science and scientific methods into public and private affairs. He attributed the backwardness of China and Russia to lack of science.

"In America," said Dr. Wilbur, "we have made tremendous progress, yet we have just started. Science is a necessity for complete realization of perfect democracy."

Doris Mercer Gets More Time in Paris

NEW YORK, June 6.—(INS.)—Mrs. Doris Mercer, formerly of Pittsburgh, who recently in a sensational divorce suit severed her marital ties with Sebastian S. Kresge, multi-millionaire chain store owner, can remain in Paris and pursue her musical studies until fall. PIRATES SEEK TO HOLD LEAD

Back in first place, the Pirates this afternoon will attempt to make good their position in the big National League race by wresting a victory from the Braves. The contest scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off on account of rain.

Remy Kremer will be on Fogarty Knoll today. It is likely the Pirates will have to look at some lefthand slants in the opener, as either Percy Jones or Eddie Brandt is expected to be on the slab for the Braves.

The race in the National League as a whole is tightening up, the developments of yesterday adding much spice. The Giants put up a spunky fight to defeat the Redbirds, the New York victory giving the Pirates undisputed possession of first place. Chicago came from behind in the ninth to win over Brooklyn.

DEATH SUSPECT ESCAPES SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(AP.)—William Tallman, young radio operator, arrested Tuesday on board the steamship Admiral Benson on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Virginia Patty at Los Angeles, was missing when the vessel docked here last night.

Investigation showed that the accused man had unscrewed the lock on his stateroom door with a piece of iron torn from a radiator. Not knowing the prisoner had fled, Capt. Martin Shost, of the ship, placed a guard on duty outside the door.

After the discovery of Mrs. Patty's body in the closet of a Los Angeles apartment, alleged to have been rented by Tallman, police learned he was aboard the Admiral Benson en route from Los Angeles to this city. His arrest on a murder charge had been ordered by radio.

TRAIL NARCOTIC CLUE

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(AP.)—With discovery of narcotics in the apartment of Mrs. Virginia Patty, slain wife of a Portland (Ore.) investment broker, police today pursued a new line of investigation in the affairs of the comely 28-year-old woman.

William Tallman, Oakland radio operator, was arrested on a charge of murder while aboard the steamer Admiral Benson, and later escaped en route to San Francisco.

The finding of narcotics in Mrs. Patty's apartment seemed to the police to bear out a suspicion of her husband, Frank Patty, that his wife had become addicted to their use.

Lawyer's Auto Crashes Into House; Driver Held

A new, expensive automobile was at rest in William Groft's parlor on the William Penn highway today. Last midnight it careened off another car, plunged off the highway two miles east of Wilkinsburg, down an embankment of 150 feet, over the porch, through the front room and into the kitchen wall.

The driver was Attorney David Blair, of Indiana, Pa., returning home from a lawyers' dinner in Pittsburgh. A charge of reckless driving was brought against him by Corp. James Blair, of the state highway patrol. Blair escaped injury.

Groft and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Ressler, were sleeping on the first floor.

The Blair car left the highway after striking an auto of the Firestone Rubber Company's Pittsburgh branch, driven by W. H. Morris.

Groft estimated the damage to his home at $4,000.

HOOVER EXPECTED HERE IN OCTOBER FOR OHIO RIVER FETE

HUGE MARINE PAGEANT IS PLANNED

President Will Inspect Dam and Lock Projects Now Nearing Completion

President Hoover has announced that he would attend the celebration marking the formal opening of the series of locks and dams on the Ohio River, between the headwaters and Cairo, next October, and the belief is expressed by local river interests that he will begin his inspection of the improvement in Pittsburgh.

James Francis Burke has been asked by local rivermen and manufacturers to extend Pittsburgh's invitation.

KNOWS VAST WORK

"President Hoover knows all about Pittsburgh's part in the development of the Ohio," said Mr. Burke, "and he naturally will desire to come here to the headwaters of the historic stream to felicitate the people who hold the key to this $100,000,000 improvement and whose work down through the years has been the inspiration of the great work which has at last been accomplished.

"At the proper time I shall be proud to renew Pittsburgh's invitation to Mr. Hoover and we have every reason to believe that he will accept. We have been waiting on the President's convenience in this matter. He has resolved to remain in Washington through the summer and has said that he would make only one extended trip into the country this year.

TO BE BIG SPECTACLE

A special meeting yesterday completed tentative plans for the Pittsburgh end of the celebration. Included in President Hoover's party are expected to be senators, representatives and other national officials, invitation already having been sent out. Definite plans are now being formulated and are expected to be announced shortly.

Making arrangements for what is expected to be the largest river spectacle ever staged here are Capt. J. Frank Tilley, secretary of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange; Alex W. Dann, president of that organization; Capt. Oscar Barrett, president, and W. C. Culkins, secretary of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

Mr. Barrett and Mr. Culkins are also representing the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce in the arrangements, while others aiding in the arrangements include William B. Rogers, president of the Rogers Sand Company, and Clem Gottschalk, assistant general traffic manager, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

MELLON GIVES DRY VIEWS

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS.)—President Hoover's law enforcement commission came back to work today.

The commission held a long secret session, discussing procedure, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was closeted with the member for some time. He was questioned, it was understood, about prohibition matters.

Holding its second meeting, the commission called a number of government officials to present their views on the task of pursuing the nation-wide investigation of law enforcement problems. The names of the other officials were not disclosed.

While the session was behind closed doors, Mr. Mellon was understood to have mainly presented his views on the enforcement of the prohibition and narcotic laws which come under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department.

The commission also considered the formulation of its policies for the investigation and a program which probably will call for public hearings in various large cities of the country on crime and law enforcement conditions.

FILM MAKERS, EQUITY BREAK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 6.—(INS.)—An open break between the Association of Motion Picture Producers, composed of all big film producing corporations and the Actors' Equity Association came today.

H. Fred Beetson, representing Will Hays, head of the association, made public a statement in reply to Equity demands that all actors working in talking pictures must do so only under a contract formulated by the Equity organization.

"We will continue to engage artists for our productions only under the fair and just form of contract, prepared and approved by representatives of both producers and motion picture actors," read the Beetson statement. "We decline to be restricted as to the source of our talent."

Frank Gilmore, president of the Equity Association, has laid down the ultimatum that speaking actors must work under Equity rules or thereafter be barred from returning to the stage. Equity was unable to enforce its demands until talking films became popular and producers began drawing on stage talent for actors and actresses.

LAVA ENGULFS VILLAGES

NAPLES, Italy, June 6.—Explosive activity in the eruptive cone of Mt. Vesuvius increased today with tremendous barrages of rocks and ashes bombarding the walls of the great crater. There was a slight subsiding in the flow of lava.

An official bulletin from the Vesuvius Observatory said further danger probably would be avoided, yet it concluded:

"But the life of volcanos is so mysterious that one cannot judge the outcome from the appearances of the moment."

PEOPLE IN PANIC

Villagers around the southern and eastern base of the volcano were panic-stricken as they deserted their homes, the ruins of Pompeii, destroyed 18 centuries before, always mute testimony of what Vesuvius could do.

Trudging behind their two-wheeled carts which carried effects and all their worldly possessions, they prayed they might be delivered from "the wrath of Vesuvius," and sang hymns of trust and faith in Providence.

The erstwhile busy little village of Terzigno appeared to be becoming encircled with a belt of lava from a flow which first started toward Campitello woods, but somehow changed its course and entered the village itself.

LAVA WRECKS HOUSES

The lava oozed around the dwellings, smoke poured from windows, and then the walls bulged like the skin of a baked potato. As the walls crumbled, the houses disappeared in the river of fiery liquid rock. Speed of the flow was asserted by observers to be at times as high as 1,500 feet an hour.

Because of the danger from flying rocks, authorities, as much as possible, have prevented sightseers from approaching the mountain. Automobiles have been turned back a long distance from the volcano in order to leave the roads clear for fleeing inhabitants. Railroad trains run only as far from here as Boscotrecase, a suburb.

The pillars of smoke from the cone have cast a pall over the entire area, giving it much the appearance of a dire prophetic twilight.

SAFECRACKERS GET $2,500

Safecrackers got $2,500 in the Western Auto Supply Company store at 909 Liberty avenue, it was discovered today. R. L. Nolan, manager of the store, found the combination lock chiselled off when he arrived at his office this morning.

The thieves ignored checks and money orders totaling several hundred dollars.

The safecrackers gained entrance by smashing a basement window, chopping down an inner wall of boards and forcing the lock of an inside door. They located the safe on a rear balcony, and after knocking it open forced the lock on the inside strong box.

4 MORE TRIED, FALSE BALLOT COUNT TOLD

Twenty-First Warders in Dock, Accused of Erasing, Remarking Vote Papers

Four Republican politicians of the Fourteenth District, Twenty-first Ward, went on trial in Criminal Court today charged with conspiring to cause a false count at the primary of September, 1927.

Joseph H. Klein, the judge of elections in the district, testified that the defendants were involved in erasing and remarking ballots.

TELLS OF MISCOUNT

The defendants are Harry Pattison, Republican district chairman; Edward Alston, Gus Shindel and George Dean. Their trial is the aftermath of the prosecution of the election board of the district.

Klein, who turned state's evidence when the board was tried, told of Alston counting the votes—of Pattison, Shindel and Dean erasing and remarking the ballots in Shindel's home.

WOMAN TESTIFIES

County Detective David Drexler testified that he had examined the ballots and that 80 per cent showed erasures.

Miss Clara A. Maines, an election-board inspector, identified eight tally sheets for the Republican judicial candidates. Visibly nervous, she testified that Klein had read off the votes and that she had carried them as he read the names. She said the final counting was made at 1 o'clock in the morning and that Klein still was at the polling place when she went home.

"No one besides members of the board were in the place during the count," she continued. "No one came in and told me the number of votes to mark for any candidate."

ATTORNEYS CLASH

At this point, Assistant District Attorney Clunk asked her if she had not been convicted at a previous trial. She answered in the affirmative.

Clunk's question brought Attorney A. M. Oliver, her counsel, to his feet.

"I demand that the question be withdrawn." Judge Reid refused the motion, saying, "this is a witness and not a defendant."

"Were you not asked at your trial about erasures on the ballots," Clunk shouted.

"I don't remember," Miss Maines countered.

She gave the same reply to some 50 of Clunk's questions which had been put to her at her trial.

Judge Reid ordered a recess and the locking up of the jury.

"TREASON"

Characterizing their acts as a "form of treason which strikes at the very foundation of the country and the home," Judge A. R. Chase, of Clearfield County, in Criminal Court yesterday sentenced five members of the Eighth District, Stowe Township election board, after they pleaded guilty of election frauds.

The five are: August Weiser, judge of election, who was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail; George Panno, overseer of the Stowe Township board, fined $75 and costs for his "stupidity," and Florence Crawford and Edna Craig, clerks, and Quintilla Recchione, minority inspector, each fined $50 and costs.

On the stand the five defendants denied irregularities as charged in the election of September 20, 1927. Later, following a conference of attorneys and the court, they changed their pleas and were sentenced.

BRITISH ENVOY'S NO-RUM RULE VOLUNTARY

Little Likelihood of Other Diplomats Joining Water Wagon Procession in U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS.)—Sir Esme Howard's action in placing the British embassy on the water wagon by the simple expedient of declining to sign any more requests for liquor shipments, was "entirely voluntary" and "entirely without pressure" from this government, it developed today.

Secretary of State Stimson said Sir Esme had informally advised him of his decision to discontinue importing liquor for embassy uses.

In reply, the Secretary of State informed the British ambassador, equally informally, that it was a matter for him to decide, but he assured Sir Esme at the same time that the State Department stood ready to protect the diplomats of Washington against any infringement upon their time-honored immunities and prerogatives.

Sir Esme's decision means that when present stocks are exhausted—which probably will be some time yet—the numerous members of the British embassy staff will have to rely on their foreign colleagues for those "spots of Scotch" or else patronize the bootleggers of their American friends.

DOESN'T SUIT SOME

The new rule, it was said, will be effective so long as Sir Esme remains at the Washington post. Some of the younger members of the staff are reported to be hopeful that the exigencies of Britain's interest in China, Lapland or somewhere beyond the borders of these United States might require Sir Esme's transfer.

Several weeks ago Sir Esme shocked the diplomatic corps here by writing a letter to James T. Carter, a Virginia prohibitionist, stating that he would gladly forego the right to bring in liquors should the American government request it. He expressed the belief other foreign diplomats would be glad to do likewise.

This was followed by deep and impenetrable silence by the American government, and private sounds of anguish from his colleagues. To put it mildly, they did not exactly fall over themselves to indorse any such sentiment.

NO FOLLOWERS LIKELY

There is scant likelihood of many—if any—of the other diplomats following Sir Esme's lead. The Latins, particularly, are not disposed to give up those wines which they have known since childhood.

Sir Esme is not a teetotaler himself, nor is he a prohibitionist. He has, however, keenly resented the continued attacks on the diplomats of Washington because of their immunity—an immunity that is bestowed upon them by international law, which is considerably older than the Volstead law.

"He is just 'fed up' on it," explained one of his friends. "He would rather give up the right to bring in what liquors the embassy uses than undergo the abuse periodically shouted in Congress."

NOT THIN-SKINNED

It is understood, however, that some members of the embassy staff are not so thin-skinned as Sir Esme. They regard more lightly the frequent criticisms of Senators Blease (Dem.), of South Carolina, and Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama.

Under State Department procedure it takes the signature of the head of a mission to bring in liquor. Of course, it was pointed out today, should Sir Esme elect to go to England on a vacation, leaving a charge d'affaires in command at the embassy, the staff could lay in a supply sufficient to last a long time.

There have been frequent rumors of late that Sir Esme will retire from his post and the diplomatic service in the near future.

Stimson Takes Hand In Chinese Dispute

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(INS.)—Secretary of State Stimson has taken a hand in a dispute between the Chinese Nationalist government and Roy Chapman Andrews over the latter's desire to obtain advance permission to remove fossils and other antiquities from China if and when they are found. Andrews is now in China heading an Asiatic exploration expedition.

Acting on receipt of a dispatch from Minister MacMurray telling of Andrews' failure to reach an agreement with the Chinese, Stimson today took the matter up with C. C. Wu, the Chinese minister.

ness, I recommend that the Congress appoint a joint committee to make an immediate study of these matters and to formulate recommendations for consideration at the next regular session.

"I shall be glad to appoint a committee from the departments to co-operate with such a committee of the Congress. The national commission on law observance and enforcement will also co-operate through their studies of the departmental organization.

BUREAU SHIFTS

"The subject involves the transfer of parts of various bureaus and agencies from certain departments to others, and it includes as well the necessity for the unification and strengthening of our border patrols, both in connection with prohibition and illegal entry of aliens. As the question embraces numerous laws and regulations in federal bureaus, it will require extensive consideration which, if given jointly by such committees of the Congress and the departments prior to the regular session, will save many months of delay."

Although the President did not mention specifically the proposed transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Department of Justice, such a shift undoubtedly would be within the scope of the inquiry he proposed.

TRANSFER LIKELY

Until recently it had been understood that such a transfer was to be a policy of the new administration, and the expectation prevailed that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt would be placed at the head of it. Lately, however, there has arisen some doubt as to whether the adminsitration would go through with the transfer. Mrs. Willebrandt's retirement from government service increased this doubt.

The transfer has already met considerable opposition, not alone from those who contend the enforcement and prosecution of prohibition should not be in the same department, but also from the professional drys as well.

The border situation, particularly the Canadian border near Detroit, has long been a sore spot to the enforcement people.

Graft and corruption have been exposed from time to time in the Detroit sector and in Florida. Despite the frequently announced "clean ups" in the Detroit sector, an unceasing stream of rum has flowed across the river from the Canadian side. This was what the President had in mind when he mentioned the "strengthening" of the border patrols.

He wants the survey made this summer, so that the results can be translated into effective legislative action at the regular session of Congress in December.

NAVIES' SIZE STIRS ITALY, FRANCE

Strength of Mediterranean Fleets Causes Disputes Between Neighbor Nations

By KINGSBURY SMITH, International News Service.

LONDON, June 6.—France and Italy are engaged in a naval armaments race in the Mediterranean which has resulted in delaying the signing of the proposed Franco-Italian entente, according to word from Paris.

Negotiations for this pact of friendship have been in progress for many months, but something has always come in the way to prevent the conversations from reaching a successful conclusion.

This time, says the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle, it is directly due to naval rivalry.

ITALY BUILDING SHIPS

The bone of contention is said to be equality of naval strength. Italy has launched out in a warship building program that is almost openly admitted to be aimed at a total tonnage with France.

This is hotly resented by Paris naval experts who hold that France's Mediterranean fleet alone must be equal to Italy's whole armada, since Italy's interests are concentrated in the middle sea while France has a scattered world empire.

This view is also held by the French government and was clearly stated towards the end of last year by M. Lemery, the then secretary of the naval committee of the the French Senate, who told that body:

"On every possible occasion we are informed from the other side of the Alps that French and Italian naval tonnage must be equal.

EQUALITY "INEQUAL"

"Equality with Italy, total tonnage against total tonnage, would be the most flagrant of inequalities, for, while all Italy's interests are in the Mediterranean, and she can, therefore, keep her fleet there, we must maintain in the Atlantic a fleet equal to that which the treaty of Versailles allowed to Germany, and keep, practically all over the world, the units necessary for the protection of our colonies."

Lemery intimated that in view of this it was Italy's duty to drop the thought of equality.

Italy's answer to this was the announcement of her decision to build two 10,000-ton cruisers and two 5,200-ton destroyers.

FRENCH COUNT CAUGHT IN PLOT

liquor was due to arrive from Europe.

The raids promise to unfold the largest organized traffic in liquor smuggling recorded since prohibition, according to Calhoun.

The ring maintains its own selling and trucking force, as well as its own warehouses, according to Calhoun.

It possesses its own "business offices" in various New York skyscrapers and in a dozen towns all over the country.

NATION-WIDE SCHEME

The organization has been operating on a national and international scale, according to Calhoun, for months, if not years. Comte de Polignac made periodic visits to Europe from where he shipped the liquor to this country, Calhoun alleges, labeling it crockery, glassware and other materials.

The raids on the various branches of the ring are scheduled to continue throughout the day and at least 37 persons are expected to be arrested. The total may reach 100 prisoners.

Among the first places raided today was the alleged headquarters of the ring in the Fifth Avenue Building. Those arrested at the headquarters were booked as William Bartels, Philip D. Gowan, George Heath and William B. Flynn. In Brooklyn, agents swooped down on the home of Robert Nelson and arrested Nelson.

RAID WAREHOUSE

A Brooklyn warehouse was raided next and J. M. Dooley, his brother William, and William's sons, John and James, were arrested. Enough liquor "to fill two five-ton trucks," was confiscated.

Next came the trucking company alleged to have furnished trucks for exclusive Park avenue deliveries. Chrisopher Inteman was arrested. At another warehouse, John Hobby was arrested and Samuel B. Horn was taken into custody in an office in West 42nd street marked "Dealer in Furs."

Wilbur Names Davidson For Education Survey

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—An advisory committee on education, including W. M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh public schools, appointed yesterday by Secretary Wilbur, is to meet here tomorrow to inaugurate a study of the relations of the national government to education.

The committee, which is composed of 46 representatives of educational institutions and of organizations interested in education from every section of the country, has been divided by the interior secretary into three sections. Federal activities in education will be studied by the first, Federal grants to colleges by the second, and Federal grants to schools of less than college grade by the third.

Secretary Wilbur named Charles R. Mann, director of the American Council of Education, as general chairman of the entire committee. J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association, will serve as general secretary.

Evidence pertaining to the three phases of the inquiry will be presented to the committee at the opening session, after which the respective groups will meet, each to tackle its phase. As defined by Secretary Wilbur, the aim is to return recommendations as to a future educational program by the Federal government.

"We will attempt to define the problem Friday," Chairman Mann said, "after which the three groups will each be assigned a definite task. We will then adjourn until September, at which time some conclusions are expected to have been reached for Secretary Wilbur's consideration."

Torch Slayer, Ill, May Escape Trial

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 6.—(INS.)—Henry Colin Campbell, New Jersey's 60-year-old "torch slayer," may never be brought to trial for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Mowry, of Greenville, Pa., whom he is alleged to have slain on February 23 last. Campbell was reported today to be suffering from an incurable ailment in the local jail.

Pipe Leaking, Reservoir Closed to North Side

Cabbage Hill reservoir with its 155,000,000 gallons of water, was just a big pond to residents of the North Side today.

A break in a five-foot main leading from the reservoir to the North Side necessitated shutting off the supply from the immense basin while a corps of workmen from the city water bureau sought the break at Lincoln and Bennett streets, Millvale.

Iron rust in water noted by hundreds of users in the downtown and North Side districts this afternoon was due to the extra velocity of the stream in the main from Highland Park loosening particles of corrosion in the main, Lanpher explained.

"The main is carrying the supply for both downtown and North Side" and the amount of water flowing is nearly double the normal rate. "The iron won't hurt anybody, although it doesn't look so good," he said.

MAIN DRAINED

Two miles of main between the break and the reservoir was drained of 2,000,000 gallons of water which was diverted into Girty's Run.

Meanwhile the North Side was supplied through an emergency main from reservoir No. 2 in Highland Park under the Allegheny River to the North Side distribution system.

PRESSURE DOWN LITTLE

There was no shortage and pressure declined only slightly, according to E. E. Lanpher, managing engineer, bureau of water.

The Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall and other consumers north of Cabbage Hill, continued to be supplied from that reservoir.

NEW FARM BILL TO REACH WHITE HOUSE WEDNESDAY

DEBENTURE PLAN LOST IN SENATE

House to Rush Ratification Of Relief Measure as Poll Reveals Hoover Majority

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The new farm bill, providing $500,000,000 relief for American agriculture but stripped of the export debenture plan, will be sent to the White House for President Hoover's approval by next Wednesday, under a program adopted today by administration leaders.

The compromise measure will be ratified by the House this afternoon or tomorrow and then rushed to the Senate where a fight is pending over elimination of the debenture. Administration leaders, however, announced that a careful poll showed the Senate would abandon the debenture, which it once added to the bill over presidential opposition.

FOUR SWITCH VOTE

Fifty-two Senators were reported ready to vote against the debenture on its second appearance in the Senate. The plan was adopted by a vote of 47 to 44, but eight other Senators were equally divided for and against through pairs. The new poll by administration leaders indicated that four Senators, who voted for the debenture, were now ready to switch.

The debenture fight may require several days of debate in the Senate, but administration leaders were anxious to keep it brief for two reasons.

TARIFF HEARINGS SET

First, the all-summer vacation of Congress cannot begin until the farm bill is sent to the White House, and second, the administration wants its relief machinery in action to handle the huge wheat crop which has just started toward market, but which will grow in volume through the early days of July.

Tariff hearings meanwhile will start before the Senate Finance Committee next Wednesday, when witnesses will be heard on valuations.

VETS OF SOUTH LAUD HOOVER

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 6.—(AP.)—Election of officers and selection of the 1930 reunion city today held the attention of the United Confederate Veterans, holding their thirty-ninth reunion here. Sneed, Oklahoma state treasurer, has been mentioned.

The veterans were to hold their memorial services for the Confederate dead at noon. The grand ball will be held tonight.

A resolution expressing appreciation to President Hoover for his invitation to Gen. A. T. Goodwyn, commander-in-chief, to take part in the inauguration ceremonies was passed by acclamation.

Butcher Boy Slayer, Doomed, Files Plea

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(INS.)—Reversal of the death sentence imposed on Leo P. Kelley, "butcher boy Romeo," for the murder of Mrs. Frank Mellus, wife of a wealthy sportsman, was asked in an appeal to the State Supreme Court today.

Defense lawyers argued that no motive was proved and that the trial court unduly limited evidence tending to indicate the woman may have died of natural causes. Kelley, on friendly terms with Mrs. Mellus for more than a year, was convicted of killing her while they were drinking during a tryst.

RUM KILLING UP TO JURY TODAY

ABINGDON, Va., June 6.—(AP.)—The case of J. W. Crowe, Washington County deputy sheriff, on trial here charged with the murder of J. W. Kendrick, 16, Emory and Henry College student, will be in the hands of the jury this afternoon. All testimony was completed yesterday.

The defendant related the events of the night of May 6, when young Kendrick was killed, and his part in the firing on an automobile on the highway. The commonwealth charged that shots fired by Crowe, W. D. Worley, another deputy, and James McReynolds, a policeman, caused the death of Kendrick, said to have been riding with Paul Phelps and Sterling Dutton. All three officers were indicted for murder.

Crowe testified that although he had had two opportunities to see the occupants of the car the officers were pursuing in search of whisky, he did not see Kendrick in the machine.

The defendant admitted that he fired twice at the tires of the fleeing car after it had refused to halt and had almost run over McReynolds, standing in the road in uniform and waving a flashlight. Crowe said that either McReynolds or Worley fired one shot. Phelps and Dutton have testified they were not ordered to halt, that the officers were not in the road and that they saw no one waving them down.

MILK WORKER STONED

Violence in the strike of drivers of the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation broke out anew early today, less than 12 hours after Judge Richard W. Martin had freed five men accused of violating a court injunction restraining them from interfering with the company's deliveries.

They were arrested after an attack on a wagon in the West End a week ago, in which one of the attacking party was killed.

WORKER STONED

The latest outbreak occurred when a gang of six men in an automobile held up a wagon and stoned Walter Robinson, 19, of 35 Steuben street, West End, a helper, at Chartiers avenue and Allendale street, Sheraden. At South Side Hospital it was necessary to take three stitches in his left ear, torn by a stone thrown by one of the crowd.

Robinson told West End police that his wagon was surrounded and made the target of a barage of missiles, after which the men jumped in their automobile and disappeared. James Moore, driver, was uninjured, and after taking his helper to the hospital continued making his deliveries.

DEFENDANTS WARNED

In dismissing the five men in court yesterday, Judge Martin admonished them not to again interfere with the operation of the company. In his opinion, Judge Martin explained that the defendants had not been notified of the injunction, which had been granted against interference with the dairy corporation's activities.

Today marks the twenty-seventh day of the strike. Thus far all efforts of Federal and state labor mediators and leaders of the International Brotherhood of Chauffeurs, Teamsters, Stablemen and Helpers of America, who have been in almost daily conferences since the walkout was called, have failed.

TAPS SOUND FOR MAYFLOWER

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(AP.)—The former presidential yacht Mayflower was officially decommissioned at the Navy Yard yesterday. The historic craft has been tied up here since April 3, being brought here at the direction of President Hoover, who let it be known that dispensing with the Mayflower and her crew would save the government approximately $300,000 a year.

Yesterday, in the presence of many naval officers, a band marched to the quarter deck and took fantail formation, while the crew gathered aft.

Lieut. Commander Leo Heflett Theabaud, former executive officer, who succeeded Capt. Wilson Brown when the latter relinquished command, received Capt. J. C. Townsend, of the Navy Yard.

Capt. Townsend read an order from the commandant, Admiral Julian L. Latimer, providing for the decommissioning.

First the commission pennant floated slowly from its pinnacle. Then they hauled down the Union Jack and finally the colors as the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." As the national emblem came down a solitary bugler blew "taps."

The Mayflower was commissioned for the use of the president on July 25, 1905, and in the succeeding years presidents, their wives, kings, queens, princes and plenipotentiaries of foreign powers idled about her decks or lounged in her beautiful staterooms.

Some of the Mayflower's machinery, fittings and furnishings have been removed and stored, but the work is not completed.

2 Killed, 8 Hurt In Gas Well Blast

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6.—(AP.)—Workmen were battling today to subdue a 75-foot pillar of flame roaring from a gas well which exploded last night on a farm near East Aurora, killing two men and injuring eight others. The employes of the Iroquois Gas Corporation, owners of the well, today were preparing to play steam into the blazing pit, and it was feared that the flames, fed by 15,000,000 cubic feet of gas pressure, according to geologists' estimates, may have to be checked by wrecking the casing of the well with nitroglycerin.

WORDY AIR ADS HIT BY RADIO EXPERTS

Newspaper Publicity Still Best Medium to Exploit Wares, Conventioners Told

By DARRELL MARTIN,
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Excess verbiage in the presentation of sponsored radio programs was frowned upon here by four of the most influential organizations in the radio industry.

The National Broadcasting Company, the Radio Manufacturers' Association, the National Association of Broadcasters and the Radio Music Industries Association voted to curb flowery adjectives and superfluous commercial credits, dubbed "obnoxious advertising" by listeners. Otherwise fans turn the dials to another station when they hear the beginning of an oration on the merits of certain brands of soap, hair nets and what not, it was disclosed.

NEED NEWSPAPER AID

Radio advertising, co-ordinated with newspaper advertising, is a very valuable means of presenting a product to the public, but radio advertising alone will not bring overwhelming results, G. F. McClelland, general manager of the National Broadcasting Company, said.

"Surveys, records and mail received by the NBC all indicate that over-commercialization of broadcast programs works directly against the sponsor of the program instead of creating for him the good will he is willing to pay for," said McClelland.

MATTER OF EDUCATION

"The matter is one of education. It is, of course, difficult to tell a man who is spending a quarter of a million dollars on broadcast advertising that he must not say nice things about his product, but we believe we can convince him that his program, if capably presented and advertised in newspapers, will say more nice things for the product it represents than all the glowing adjectives that ever found their way into the dictionary."

John W. Van Alten, legal counsel of the RMA, issued an extra word of caution in his address before radio dealers and distributors gathered at the sixth annual radio convention. He said:

WANTS BEST PROGRAMS

"Radio, with newspapers, will continue to be the means of public information regarding worthy merchandise of reliable companies, but, while the public will read advertisements, it will not tolerate spoken sales words on the air, and the companies which sponsor outstanding programs of merit secure the greatest listening audience, for the mere quality of programs will hold the public, if accompanied only by simple statement of products sold without elaboration. With such introduction, radio will be a great vehicle of good will and increased sales, and abuse of it a money loss. Heed well, therefore, the advice of broadcasting operators whose daily mail charts the course of radio program values."

On top of these resolutions, WENR announced its intention to discontinue sponsored programs entirely.

Many delegates and dealers to the convention departed for their homes last night following the annual banquet in the Stevens Hotel. Several prominent radio stars entertained.

MYSTERY VEILS FATE OF SHIP

LONDON, June 6.—(INS.)—Mystery surrounds the fate of the Japanese steamship Wugo Maru, which yesterday was reported to have been destroyed by fire with a loss of more than 700 lives off the eastern coast of Kamchatka.

In the face of newspaper reports and official casualty advices detailing the tragedy, an Exchange Telegraph message from Tokio today stated that the steamer had arrived safely at Kamchatka.

This message is without detail, except that it throws an additional angle of mystery into the affair by stating that Japanese authorities have launched a strenuous investigation to ascertain the origin of reports that the ship had been destroyed and its passengers and crew lost.

The Japanese authorities, apparently, believe that original dissemination of the report was either a hoax or malicious propaganda spread for some unknown reason.

Official advices to shipping circles here as yet do not confirm th Wugo Maru's arrival at Kamchatka. The vessel, owned by Japan but chartered by the Chinese government, left Vladivostok on May 28, for Kamchatka. On the same day, according to yesterday's reports, fire broke out in a load of benzine in the hold, and the entire ship was speedily ignited, none of those aboard, which included 380 women, having a chance to escape.

The ship is believed to have been on a fishing expedition for the Soviet government. Shipping circles here expressed the belief when the disaster was first reported that Vladivostok authorities had suppressed the news, fearing the tragedy might scare off recruits for the Soviet fishing fleet.

Arson Death Trial Urged for Capitalist

REED CITY, Mich., June 6.—(AP.)—A recommendation that Stanley J. Sanford, Reed City capitalist, be tried on a charge of instigating an act of arson in which he knew a woman probably would be burned to death was made here yesterday by Judge Charles B. Collingwood in Circuit Court, reading the findings of a one-man grand jury investigation which he conducted into the case.

Judge Collingwood at the same time denied Sanford a new trial on the arson charge and sentenced him to eight to 10 years in the state prison.

The fire destroyed a large business building. Mrs. E. W. Mason, who lived on the second floor, was burned to death.

Two youths said Sanford employed them to set fire to the building and ordered them to lock all doors.

LABOR PLANS BRITISH COAL OPERATION

MacDonald May Delay Issue, But Eventually Will Move Rail-Mine Nationalization

LONDON, June 6.—(AP.)—Stanley Baldwin, retiring prime minister, and the ministers of cabinet probably will surrender the seals of their offices to King George tomorrow.

Ramsay MacDonald and his Labor cabinet will in such case receive them in a similar ceremony Saturday, the function of intermediary in the transfer being one which only His Majesty can fill.

Speculation continued as to likely cabinet selections, one report being the Premier himself would take over the foreign office portfolio, considering it the keystone of his administration. Another was that Sir John Sankey, lord justice of the Appeal Court, would be named lord high chancellor in the new government.

SOCIALIST MOVES LIKELY

Sir John called upon Mr. MacDonald at Hampstead yesterday. In 1919 he headed a royal commission to investigate the coal mining industry. There was general feeling here his appointment would indicate Mr. MacDonald's intention to take strong measures in line with the Labor party's avowed policies of nationalization of the coal and railroad industries.

FOR STATE OWNERSHIP

Sir John has taken little part in politics heretofore and his economic views were first made known in 1919 when he accepted leadership of the coal commission. He recommended then:

"Parliament should be invited immediately to pass legislation acquiring the coal royalties for the state, paying a fair and just compensation to the owners."

He said his principal reason for the recommendation was that "coal is our principal national asset and as it is a wasting asset it is in the interest of the state it should be won and used to the best advantage."

GERMAN JAILED IN SWINDLES

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—A distinguished-looking man was arrested last night charged with maintaining himself in feudal splendor in a castle on the Rhine by swindling American investors of thousands of dollars.

Detectives who arrested Edward Wilhelme, 56, said that working under 13 aliases, he had mulcted his victims of enough money to maintain two castles and another residence in Germany, together with an imposing racing stable and a library of rare merit.

His method, they said, was to advertise for partners in the formation of a tobacco importing concern, get the partner's contribution to the capital into his own hands, and flee to Germany.

He was charged with grand larceny on the specific complaint of Jack Musicana, of New York, who said that he lost $35,000 in one of Wilhelme's alleged swindles.

Movie Firm Liable In Film Explosion

BOSTON, June 6.—(AP.)—The Massachusetts Supreme Court yesterday found the Famous Players Lasky Corporation liable for the injuries suffered by scores of passengers in a street car here January 8, 1925, when a bag of scrap film exploded. The film was similar to the nitro-cellulose film which was responsible for the yellow gas which took many lives in the recent Cleveland clinic fire.

Ebensburg Lawyer Heads Cambria Bar

EBENSBURG, Pa., June 6.—Attorney M. D. Kittell, of Ebensburg, was elected president of the Cambria County Bar Association at the annual meeting in the courthouse here. He succeeds the late Judge A. V. Barker, who was head of the bar members for many years.

Federal Study of Reform School Effects Slated

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—Convinced that reformatories often make bad youngsters worse and good ones weak, Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, is planning a nation-wide study of the "before and after" effects of institutions for delinquent boys.

She has found that information gathered second-hand indicates that boys are less likely to succeed in business and other aspects of living after they have been "reformed," and that she would supervise a first-hand investigation next fall to check up on results obtained by the best established institutions.

The reformatory investigation, she says, will be conducted chiefly by her assistants.

"We shall study the organization set-ups also," she explains, "so that we may find out where the weak points are—if they exist—and compare results from different administration arrangements."

Opportunity to apply her theories in her own home has come to Miss Abbott through the death, some years ago, of a sister. A five-year-old daughter was left, and she has lived with Miss Abbott since.

The stepping stones to her present position have been university and graduate training in law, teaching school, directing work for immigrant children and writing a book about them, serving in Chicago's Hull House in association with Jane Addams, and serving as executive secretary of two state immigration commissions. She is a native of Grand Island, Neb.

MacDonald Girl to Rule, No Hostess War Seen

LONDON, June 6.—(AP.)—The problem of having an official hostess is not one of the present-day worries in official circles, even though the new prime minister has no wife. Ishbel MacDonald, 26-year-old daughter of the new premier, who was her father's hostess at 10 Downing street in 1924, is placidly making plans for re-occupancy of the official residence.

Miss MacDonald is faced with moving her intimate possessions from a cozy little white house in Hampstead to the solid stone structure of formal dimensions that is in the shadow of the Houses of Parliament. She probably will take several of her family servants to supplement the Downing street staff. Her father's books, a few pictures and some odd pieces of furniture will go to Downing street.

One of the most cherished possessions of the new prime minister is a picture of the garden seat in Lincoln's Inn Fields which is a memorial to his wife who died several years ago.

Miss MacDonald will be forced to suspend her work for a university degree while she runs her father's official household. She hopes, however, to resume her studies eventually.

Much sympathy is being expressed for Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, wife of the retiring prime minister. Since the Baldwins have no London house, they will be forced to go to a hotel or to their country home in Worcestershire until their plans are settled. Mrs. Baldwin and Miss MacDonald have been close friends from the day, five years back, when the young woman first replaced the matron as mistress of the Downing street residence.

CHARTER RALLY AT EDGEWOOD

Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, and Charles A. Lewis, borough solicitor of Clairton, were the speakers last night at a largely attended metropolitan charter rally in the Edgewood High School.

"The charter to be voted on June 25 is a tremendous advance over the antiquated ways of doing business and offers to this community means of success never even dreamed of," Mr. Miller said. "The charter removes for all time the threat of annexation. No municipality in the county can, without the consent of a majority of its electors, be annexed to any other municipality. That, the charter provides for. Adoption of the charter does not mean the removal of a single borough or township officer. Local powers, local taxes and local ordinances continue. In fact, under the charter where there is any conflict between a municipal ordinance and a federated city ordinance, the municipal ordinance prevails. Members of volunteer fire departments have nothing to fear through the adoption of this charter. There is nothing in it which can affect these organizations, remove their officers or touch their equipment."

The Building Owners' and Managers' Association at a luncheon meeting at McCreery's gave its indorsement of the charter and urged its acceptance by the people of the county on June 25.

Food Expert Gets Award

Among the many new jobs which are being created in this scientific day and age is that of a food expert. In recent years, every large hotel, club and restaurant has found it advisable to employ a man or woman to supervise its menu.

JOHN STALL

So when John Stall, 1409 Hillsdale street, a food controller in a large Pittsburgh athletic club, was awarded $2, it became apparent that the Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Railways Company have reached almost every class of person in Pittsburgh.

Laborers, school boys and girls, clerks, stenographers, telephone girls, mechanics, salesmen, "trouble shooters," policemen, housewives, business men, photographers, moving picture operators, storekeepers and now a food controller have benefited by this street car pass campaign.

Continuing with the awards offered daily in the campaign, the following passes entitle their owners to passes good all next week:

00,315	11,249	57,434	76,353	87,111	19,138	38,665
64,286	84,127	12,506	27,783	53,686	75,026	66,771

Holders of the following passes are eligible for $2 awards:

00,114	09,260	15,114	29,288	42,672

These passes have been awarded $5:

42,672	48,215	00,629	03,437	11,819

These numbers are all those of passes good only this week. They are green colored, of series No. 23.

Employes of the Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Railways Company are not eligible in this campaign.

Watch this column for the names of the recipients of the grand weekly awards. In yesterday's Sun-Telegraph the grand weekly award of $100 was granted to the holder of pass No. 13,643, and the second grand weekly award to pass No. 80,615. Who were the holders of these valuable passes?

Car in Crash Yields Liquor; Driver Flees

An automobile abandoned after it had collided with a parked car yielded eight five-gallon cans filled with moonshine liquor at Taylor avenue and Monterey street, North Side, early today. The automobile, said by police to be owned by Josephine Ciesla, 301 Adams street, Canonsburg, was deserted by an unknown driver, who ran after the car had crashed into a parked automobile owned by Robert Totten, 1213 Beuna Vista street. North Side police confiscated the liquor and the automobile. Both were to be turned over to county detectives.

Mother of 5 Gets Year in Rum Case

SOMERSET, Pa., June 6.—No leniency was shown by Judge John A. Berkey in the county court here when Mrs. Stella Zawacka, of Windber, mother of five small children, pleaded guilty to violating the liquor laws. She was sentenced to pay the costs, $500 fine and serve one year in the county jail. Her four youngest children were placed in the Children's Home here. She took the blame when police officers raided her home and seized two stills and moonshine whisky.

Haught as dean of West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buckhannon after 20 years of service, and the appointment of Dr. Oscar D. Lambert, of Parsons, as his successor. Dr. Lambert has just completed post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins. Dr. Haught will continue with the faculty as an instructor in science, physics and geology.

CANADA'S RUM SYSTEM TO BE DESCRIBED

First Article by Experts After Survey to Appear In Sun-Telegraph Sunday

The Hearst newspapers will publish in three installments, beginning next Sunday, the report of a commission sent by William Randolph Hearst to Canada to make a study and survey of the conditions there under the various provincial liquor control boards.

In the course of the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest it became increasingly evident that thousands of contestants were familiar with, and approved of, Canadian control methods as a means towards temperance.

Final analysis has shown that 75 per cent of the 71,248 entrants approved or favored government control in one form or another. Thirty to 40 per cent made reference directly or by inference to the various Canadian systems.

EXPERTS MAKE SURVEY

With this in mind, Mr. Hearst invited the Venerable Archdeacon Joseph H. Dodshon, president of the Church Temperance Society, an adjunct of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, and Dr. H. H. Sheldon, head of the department of physics of New York University, and a well-known scientist, to make the survey.

Dr. Dodshon is thoroughly familiar with the subject and has studied temperance and prohibition from many angles over a period of 10 years. Dr. Sheldon is conversant with the chemical and pathological effects of alcohol on the human body, and approached the study from the viewpoint of a trained scientific investigator.

The commission's only instructions were to ascertain facts, and they were subject to no restrictions of any nature.

AID TO TEMPERANCE

The commission's report offers encouragement to all believers in temperance. It furnishes ample substantiation of the often expressed opinion, to the effect that government control results in gains for moderation, temperance, increased consumption of light wines and beers and the definite decline of the use of narcotics. The commission visited Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and other cities and interviewed many officials and other persons who were in a position to give accurate information.

Systems vary in the several provinces they visited. All may have minor defects, but in the main they have been surprisingly successful as a means toward temperance. Conditions generally in Canada, the commission found, offered a pleasing contrast to the situation in the United States under prohibition.

Optometrists Favor Downtown Hall Site

A downtown location for the proposed Town Hall was recommended in a resolutoin passed at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Optometric Association in the William Penn Hotel. In construction of the building it also was recommended that consideration be given to the possibility of dividing its largest auditorium in such a manner as would enable the Hall to be used for a number of smaller assemblages, which would increase possibilities along musical, dramatic, educational and other cultural and beneficial lines.

Ousted Faculty Sues Shields for Salary

DES MOINES, Ia., June 6.—(AP.)—Twenty-nine ousted Des Moines University instructors yesterday filed suits against the school for alleged unpaid salaries aggregating $21,872.51. Dr. T. T. Shields, chairman of the board of trustees, who is in charge of the university since dismissal of its entire faculty, was named defendant.

Dr. Harry C. Wayman, deposed president, seeks to collect $2,646.66, the largest amount. Dr. Shields has not indicated whether the board will take any action regarding diplomas which the faculty gave to 60 seniors Monday.

SHARON, Pa., June 6.—A bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Clancy, and a friend, George Trumbull, narrowly escaped being killed when the small automobile in which they were riding was hit by an Erie train at the Budd street crossing here. Mrs. Clancy was the most seriously hurt, suffering with injuries to her back and left knee. They had been married in Akron, O., four hours previous to the accident and had planned on keeping the marriage a secret.

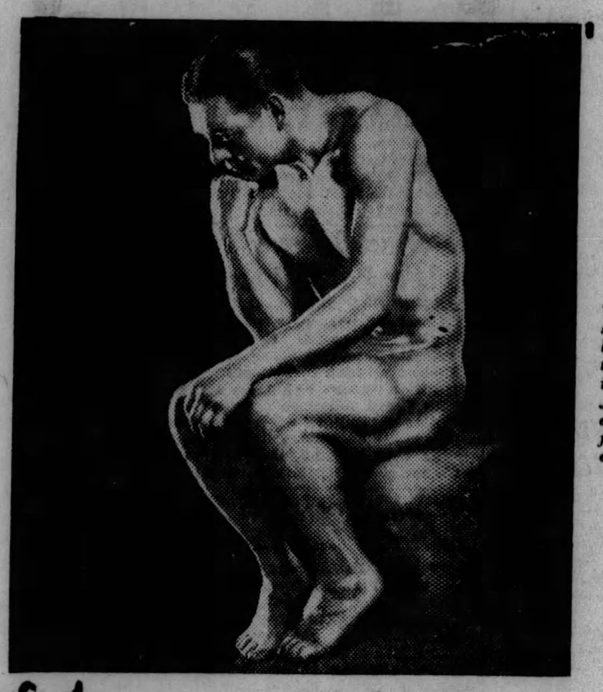
Now
a wonderful new way to get healthful benefits from THIS DELICIOUS DRINK

Diets of over-refined foods, lacking Vitamin B and Mineral Salts, can now be counteracted. Research chemists discover way to include Vitamin B and Mineral Salts in Hires, making it a delightful assistant to a balanced diet. New Hires now on sale at all soda fountains and from Hires Barrels.



That ever fascinating statue, "THE THINKER" by Rodin in the Parthenon in Paris. Here is a modern youth, JacksonHinton, posed as "The Thinker," a fine example of modern health and vigor.

The average meals, food experts agree, are unbalanced. The standard meal of meat, white bread, potatoes, frequently brings on malnutrition.

One gets tired too easily, nervousness increases, food is unappetizing, indigestion and constipation reduce one's resistance to illness—people wonder why.

The answer is "not sufficient Vitamin B." Another answer is "not enough Calcium."

Now both can be obtained in a delicious, inexpensive way. Costly research has found a way to include Vitamin B and Calcium with the 16 plant juices of Hires.

Now the fifty-year favorite is not only a delicious drink, plus a tonic, but also offers a third plusage—nutrition.

Such a delightful way to health! For Hires has been acknowledged as healthful for over 50 years. It is widely recommended by doctors and food experts. Yet it is far from a medicine. It is free from drugs.

Make this test: Drink 3 glasses of Hires daily for a month. Then note your health. See if you note new vitality, new physical resistance.

Hires a non-acid beverage—The modern, refined diet is too acid, most authorities agree, creating today's great tendency towards acidosis. Hires is classified as non-acid, and is comparable with raisins, apples, oranges, almonds, beans, muskmelons, etc. Hence Hires balances and neutralizes the overeating of acid foods, such as white bread, meat, eggs, coffee, spinach, tomatoes, etc.

NOTABLES LAUD WINNING PLANS

Interest in the prize winning plans produced by the Hearst $25,000 temperance contest continues unabated. Many of the views expressed by civic leaders are nearly as widely divergent as the localities which they represent. The consensus, however, is that the prize-winning plans possess great practical value. Comments telegraphed yesterday follow:

JOSEPH R. HAMLEN, Boston, chairman, Harvard fund council and president of Harvard Alumni Bulletin:

"Mr. Hearst is to be commended for the great service he has rendered the whole country. While I am opposed on principle to retaining the Eighteenth Amendment in the Constitution and believe eventually it will be repealed, I am in favor of supporting a plan such as Capt. Therkildsen has suggested.

"In my opinion the principle of prohibition is unnatural and unchristian."

JUDGE ALFRED H. BATTLE, president Seattle Bar Association:

"Gen. Dalton has presented a very good outline plan for handling the entire proposition but when he attempts to wholly exclude distilled beverages he would not meet the thought of a great many of the American people. The problem is not one of differentiation between intoxicating beverages but the recognition of the personal liberty of the people regulated by proper and reasonable laws. Nevertheless the Dalton plan is pleasing and workable, considerably more so than the Hoyt plan. The chief difficulty with the Hoyt plan is that he assumes a fermented beverage is not intoxicating liquor, which is a matter of legislative determination."

JOSEPH C. WILSON, Mayor of Rochester, N. Y.:

"The discussion and thought William Randolph Hearst has aroused by his contest will undoubtedly be a great factor in finding a logical solution of the prohibition question.

"In regard to Gen. Dalton's plan I think that he has attacked the problem in the right way, that of trying to draw up a plan that could be administered under the Eighteenth Amendment."

MAX W. NOHL, attorney and president of the Milwaukee Bar Association:

"Fair, logical and concise, Justice Hoyt's plan to achieve temperance in the United States propounds a feasible, practical and workable solution of a political problem that has not heretofore been solved.

"Justice Hoyt's proposal is a compromise and it is apparent that there must be compromise in the end, permitting the Federal government to stamp out liquor traffic and the individual states to regulate traffic in fermented beverages."

JEROME G. KERWIN, professor of political science, University of Chicago:

"The main value of the Hearst temperance plan contest is that it brings to the people the fact that there are other ways to bring about temperance than by the Volstead law."

RABBI SAMUEL HIRSHBERG, Temple Emanu-el B'ne Jeshrun, Milwaukee:

"I fully sympathize with the spirit of the movement to gain public expression on the prohibition questoon, but I am truly disappointed with the essay that has been chosen as the winner of the $25,000 prize. It offers no adequate solution to the grave problem of prohibition and comes far from my expectations as to the remedy that so great a move would uncover."

FRANK HULL, Seattle, Wash., Secretary, Republican State Central Committee:

"The Hearst temperance contest is the first shot to awaken the American people from a daze of hypocrisy and bring them face to face with facts and not theories. I regard both the Hoyt and Dalton plans as a step in the direction of solution. You cannot regulate the public taste for liquor by legislation."

HENRY M'PIKE, San Francisco, Cal., well-known lawyer and chairman of Democratic State Central Committee:

"The prize-winning thesis of Judge Hoyt is extremely interesting. On first reading one finds it attractive, apparently promising an escape from the very unsatisfactory existing conditions, and an advance toward that goal, real temperance, on which the eyes of all good citizens are fixed. The Hoyt plan is a distinguished contribution."

COL. JOHN PHILIP HILL, former United States district attorney for Baltimore, former member of the United States House of Representatives:

"The plan laid down by Judge Hoyt is precisely in accordance with my ideas. Three years ago I spoke for hours in the House of Representatives trying to show the difference between fermented beverages and distillates, or the hard liquor which is a product of distillation. It seems to be a national calamity whereby the American people are deprived of fermented beverages, such as beers and light wines."

E. CLEMENS HORST, San Francisco capitalist and agriculturist:

"The Hearst temperance prize contest has accomplished a splendid thing. It has offered a real solution of the problem of ending the flood of bootleg booze and making the country really temperant."

MAGISTRATE A. D. BRANDON, Morals Court, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

"Judge Hoyt's plan is a step in the right direction. William Randolph Hearst and his papers are to be congratulated upon their effort to lead the way to true temperance. No person acquainted with conditions will contend that the prohibition law is a success. It is up to the people with well-balanced minds, with patriotic aspirations, to find a solution."

"Diamond Lil" Gets New Detroit Chance

DETROIT, June 6.—(AP.)—After ordering police to close Mae West's play, "Diamond Lil," because it was "silly and stupid," Mayor John C. Lodge capitulated last night and announced that "the show will be given a chance to revise itself."

The mayor's about-face followed a conference with officials of the Shubert-Detroit Theater, where the play, with Miss West in the title role, is showing. Police inspectors again will view the show tonight, however, and the mayor said his decision to extend the Detroit life of the play was "purely tentative."

Men Caught in Salt Cave-in; One Killed

BALTIMORE, June 6.—(AP.)—One man was killed and another injured seriously yesterday when salt, which they were unloading from the hold of a ship here caved in and buried them. Fellow workers dug the two out of the piled up salt, and rushed them to a hospital, where James Fiskak, 36, died, and John Vitkowick was said to be in a critical condition.

Slayer of Mother Of 7th Wife Doomed

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 6.—(AP.)—A jury verdict of guilty of first degree murder, carrying a penalty of death in the electric chair, was returned against Joseph B. Locke, slayer of his mother-in-law, in Common Pleas Court here last night.

Locke had pleaded temporary insanity, saying he remembered nothing that transpired when he went to the home of Mrs. Mary Galloway at City View, near here, to effect a reconciliation with his 17-year-old wife, Lucy. The girl wife testified he wounded her and killed her mother, Mrs. Galloway. The girl was Locke's seventh wife. Testimony revealed he had been convicted of shooting his second wife at Jefferson, Mo., in 1900.

The trigger of the gun caught on the emergency brake.

50,000 TREATED FOR TEETH AT PITT CLINIC

Dean Lauds Sun-Telegraph For Stressing Importance Of Vital Guard to Health

During the year which ended with commencement exercises today more than 115,000 dental operations were performed on more than 50,000 patients in the clinic of the University of Pittsburgh school of dentistry.

EDITORIAL COMMENDED

The information was given out by Dean H. E. Friesell in an interview based on the Sun-Telegraph's editorial of last Monday on "Teeth and Disease." He commended the editorial, called attention to what the university was doing to meet the need that the editorial pointed out, and suggested other things that could be done. Dr. Friesell declared:

"For the promotion of health there is no more important requirement than that children be given dental care, beginning before they go to school, because tooth decay begins at about 2 years of age. No greater need for health service exists.

"A well equipped, substantially endowed dental clinic for children would do more to promote health in Pittsburgh than half a dozen general hospitals. Wealthy men are overlooking a wonderful opportunity for service in now endowing such a clinic.

EARLY ACTION NEEDED

"Thousands of children are never taken to dentists until they are suffering unendurable pain, and by that time their mouths may be wrecked and the seeds of disease planted that will do them a vast amount of harm later in life.

"The university has a clinic with 225 operating chairs, making it the largest in the world. It is open to everybody. The work is done under the supervision of graduate dentists, and the charge made for it is the actual cost of the operation to the university. This outstanding social service has been quietly given by the university to the people of the Pittsburgh districts for 25 years. We treat from 50,000 to 75,000 patients a year."

Customs Head Quits, Rum Running Cited

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—Carey D. Ferguson has resigned as collector of customs at Detroit. The resignation was announced today by Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury.

Ferguson, who has served since 1923, was in charge of the office at the time 21 of the border patrol were indicted for conspiring with bootleggers to permit liquor to be smuggled into this country.

It had been said that Ferguson apparently was unable to stop the illegal entry of rum across the Detroit River. The border patrol was taken from Ferguson's control in April, since which time the Treasury officials said the work of the patrol has improved.

STREET PLAN LOST AGAIN

With five of the nine members present Council by a 3 to 2 vote returned a negative recommendation on ordinances widening Strawberry way to 60 feet and relocating Ninth street as a connecting artery.

The widening proposal was supported by W. Y. English and John S. Herron and opposed by Harry A. Little, P. J. McArdle and President James F. Malone. R. J. Alderdice, Charles Anderson, Robert Garland and Daniel Winters had left the meeting yesterday before the ordinances came up for consideration.

The realignment of Strawberry way and Ninth street was sponsored by the Better Traffic Committee and was designed to divert traffic from existing arteries in the downtown triangle.

The project was opposed by the Citizens Committee on City Plan which submitted a letter weeks ago stating that the suggested improvement would conflict with the cross-town thoroughfare included in the major street plan.

Councilmen opposed to the widening declared that the project would cost an indeterminate amount placed variously between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Those favoring the ordinances pointed out that the present legislation was merely a locating measure and if it were passed would enable promoters of two large building construction projects to design their structures according to the increased width of the thoroughfare.

TAXPAYER SAFE UNDER CHARTER

In view of the interest in the forthcoming referendum election for the approval of the Pittsburgh metropolitan charter, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will publish daily brief statements by Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the commission. In this series the provisions of the charter will be set forth in plain language shorn of its legal verbiage.

By JOSEPH T. MILLER, Chairman Metropolitan Plan Commission.

Important are these facts about the special tax districts:

1. They can be created only with the consent of the people.

2. They have the effect of reducing the general tax levy.

Take this example. The consolidated city commissioners propose to construct a through-traffic street in a certain section of the metropolitan area.

In order to pay for the improvement, they propose to create a special tax district and assess all the property, both abutting and non-abutting, materially benefitted by the improvement.

PUBLIC GETS VOICE

Can the commissioners go ahead with the work by merely passing the ordinance?

No. First they must set a public hearing on the proposal, and notify the property owners affected by stating in general terms the location and character of the proposed improvement and its estimated cost.

Then, if 60 per cent of the property owners sign a petition objecting to the proposal, the petition shall serve as a veto on the power of the board of commissioners to proceed with the work.

Of course, this veto shall not limit the right of the commissioners to reinitiate the proposal in its original form after the lapse of one year, or in modified form at any time.

DISTRICT PAYS

If, on the other hand, the property owners agree to the proposed improvement, the commissioners shall set up the special tax district.

That district itself would pay for the improvement by which it alone benefitted.

The remainder of the metropolitan area, having received no advantages from the improvement, the general tax fund would not pay the cost.

The whole point of the plan is this: Special tax for special benefits to special districts; the general tax for the general benefit.

(To Be Continued.)

Voters are invited to propound any proper question regarding the charter and these will be answered promptly if addressed to Chairman Joseph T. Miller, 519 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Some answers to inquiries of pertinent interest will be published in the Sun-Telegraph.

PHILA. COMPANY AIDS TAX DRIVE

Executives and employes of the Philadelphia Company, representing 100 per cent of the personnel of the department heads and office force of the organization, have joined the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of the Tax on Earned Incomes.

Petitions bearing thousands of signatures from the Duquesne Light Company, the Equitable Gas Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and other subsidiaries of the Philadelphia Company have been added to the great volume of names of men in Pittsburgh industries who have joined in urging Congress to reduce the tax on incomes of professional people and wage earners.

PHILLIPS PUSHES DRIVE

Frank R. Phillips, senior vice-president of the Philadelphia Company, was the leading spirit in the indorsement of the Sun-Telegraph's campaign in this public utilities corporation. He pointed out some weeks ago that the prosperity of the community as well as the country at large depends upon the buying power of the people, and he expressed the theory that the best means of increasing the country's buying power would be to lift the tax burden from the shoulders of the best buyers—professional men and women, salaried people and wage earners.

"The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph campaign has made amazing progress," said Mr. Phillips. "The eagerness of the people to sign the petitions indicates that they have resolved to use every effort to unburden themselves of this tax on their earnings. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is to be commended along with the other Hearst newspapers in championing this cause."

BEAVER COUNTY BUSY

In Beaver County several large industries joined in the campaign today. In Monaca, bankers and merchants throughout the town assisted the canvass. In Freedom, Fallston and other Beaver Valley towns the citizens are assisting the movement.

In every city, borough and township in Washington County the people are giving 100 per cent assistance in the circulation of petitions and the proportionate number of signers is equal to that of any district in the state.

Charleston Teacher Ousted from Job

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 6.—The Richland Township Board of Education today had employed Mrs. Leona Higgenbotham, mother of a 1929 high school graduate, to teach the White Oak School in the district in which she resides.

Miss Ruth Timmons is said to have failed to obtain renewal of her certificate because of a deficiency in arithmetic at a recent state examination. The board, which had stood by Miss Timmons last winter when she was charged by parents of some of the pupils with teaching them to Charleston, was therefore forced to select someone to take her place.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A PRETTY SUMMER FROCK

Printed chiffon, and crepe are here combined, with a finish of velvet bands and bows. Crepe de chine is also suggested with lace and ribbon for trimming. A yoke cut in a deep point trims the front of the bloused waist. The skirt has three flounces posed on a two piece foundation. The sleeve may be attractively short, in cap style, or in wrist length. A crush girdle topped by a ribbon band and finished with loops and ends of ribbon at the center front, completes this charming effect.

The pattern for this model is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the dress for a 12 year size as pictured in the large view will require 3⅞ yards of material 29 inches wide. If made with long sleeves it will require 4¼ yards. For the yoke and girdle of contrasting material ½ yard is required 39 inches wide and cut crosswise. For trimming on yoke and girdle of velvet ribbon or banding 3 yards will be required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

FLAG CONTEST PARTY IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Thirty-six young Americans, 18 boys and 18 girls, stood on the plain of West Point yesterday and gazed reverently for a moment at Old Glory flying over the United States Military Academy and the corps of cadets, the finest young men in the land.

For that moment they experienced the greatest thrill they have had since they gathered last Sunday in Philadelphia and began a patriotic pilgrimage to the historic shrines of America.

The youngsters are the regional champions of the first annual flag contest of the United States Flag Association, sponsored by the Hearst newspapers. Since their start Sunday they have been visiting the historic spots with which New England abounds—Boston, Plymouth, Concord and Lexington.

But it remained for West Point with its cadets, its battlements and buildings and its traditions to provide the climax for the first part of the trip.

From West Point the tourists went by bus to Newburgh to visit the famous Hasbrouck house, where, from March of 1782 to August of 1783 Gen. George Washington made his headquarters. The house is now a museum for revolutionary and colonial relics.

From Newburgh the party made the historic trip down the Hudson River on the steamer Robert Fulton, debarking late in the afternoon at West Forty-second street and going to the McAlpin Hotel, which will be their headquarters during their three-day visit to New York.

Last night, after dinner, the youngsters divided into small groups, under chaperones, and went to the theaters or toured the city.

Today the youthful tourists were to be officially welcomed to New York by Mayor Walker.

Coady learned of the whereabouts of his brother and immediately corresponded with him, resulting in the reunion.

SUIT AGAINST 'GENE O'NEILL REVIVES MEMORIES OF ROSTAND'S "CYRANO"

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

SINCE Ida Vera Simonton, the Pittsburgh girl who wrote "Hell's Playground," got something like $500,000 by a court decision on the ground that the play of "White Cargo" was taken from her book, the acquisitive instinct in the unsuccessful playwright has been developed considerably. There isn't a big success gets across that doesn't start the legion of the unproduced to looking over their scripts to see whether their ideas have not been appropriated.

Eugene O'Neill is the latest dramatist to face this annoyance. A lady who is described as an author and poet has sued him and his publishers and producers for the trifle of $1,250,000 because she says that the basic idea of "Strange Interlude" was taken from her novel, "The Temple of Pallas Athena." Her bill of complaint says there are 34 points of similarity between her novel and the play.

George Seibel

If points of similarity suffice to decide a case of this sort, it wouldn't be safe to make a hit on the stage. There are only 36 dramatic situations, according to Polti and Gozzi, and the lady who is suing O'Neill must have overlooked two of them.

The queer thing about it is that Eugene O'Neill should be suspected of appropriating anybody's ideas. The man has too many of his own.

Case of Rostand

But the case brings to mind the fact that Edmond Rostand, the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac," is not the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac" by an American court decision. What is more, the decision of the court was correct—and the court could not have decided otherwise.

A Chicago gentleman had written a piece he called "The Merchant Prince of Cornville," or something like that. He entered suit against Edmond Rostand and Richard Mansfield. The suit was regarded by everybody as more or less of a joke. But the court decided in favor of the plaintiff—and the court couldn't have done otherwise.

Richard Mansfield was having trouble with Edmond Rostand over royalties. If Rostand could enforce his claim, Mansfield would have been out many thousands of dollars. The suit for plagiarism was very convenient. Mansfield made no defense, and the Chicago gentleman won his case by default.

And Mansfield, having a court decision that Rostand was not the author, couldn't be expected to pay out large sums to a stranger in Paris.

What's a Playwright?

The cynical definition of "plagiarist" used to be: "One who writes plays." Just about correct! Shakespeare was the greatest plagiarist the drama has ever known. He never bothered about inventing a plot as long as Boccaccio, Plutarch or Holinshed had them ready-made.

But nowadays the playwright must be more careful. Property rights are becoming more sacred as ideas are becoming scarcer. We have seen a long and costly litigation by the author of "Able's Irish Rose" against the author of "The Cohens and the Kellys." All kinds of experts were called in and the paper book of the case must be a young library of dramatic history.

Just the same the betting should favor Eugene O'Neill. If somebody told me that John D. Rockefeller had stolen a dime, I'd be inclined to doubt the story, because I know that John D. is always supplied with dimes. Gene O'Neill has never run short of ideas.

Anyway, the idea which is fundamental in "Strange Interlude," was used in a one-act play printed in a popular American magazine years before O'Neill or the lady plaintiff wrote plays.

I'll not give the title, author, or name of the magazine. That would be barretry, and I'm not barretor.

Charlie Melson has signed a contract to remain indefinitely as master of ceremonies in the Stanley and will celebrate next week with his new show, "Here to Stay."

JOE BROWN NARRATES STORY AND HOLLYWOOD ATTENDS MAYFAIR DANCE

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 6.

JOE E. BROWN—The "E" I discovered, stands for Evan and is a good old Welsh moniker belonging in the family—has a swell new story. At least, it's new if you haven't heard it before. 'Tis a little long, but we aren't in any particular hurry, are we?

Saith Joe, between scenes for "The Song of the West," a Warner special, in which he is making histrionic whoopee,

A small troupe of "tank" players went bust in a little Nebraska town. Every one except the comedian had enough coin to depart. He, however, had only 15 cents to his name. So with calamity staring him in the eyes, he donned his lovely shepherd plaid suit, pearl grey derby, spats and cane and went forth to Main street. He sauntered into the corner saloon and ordered a glass of beer. Exit his first nickel.

Joe E. Brown.

A mutt dog had followed him in and sat gazing at him with doleful eyes. "How are you?" the bartender asked his customer. "I'm all right," turning his back and throwing his voice. The bartender thought it was the dog talking. He leaped three feet. "Was that your dog talkin'?" The comedian took it big. "Sure." He departed. The dog followed. He went to the butcher shop. With his second nickel he purchased 5 cents worth of liver, giving a little to the dog and putting the rest in his hip pocket.

Back to the saloon. The pop-eyed bartender couldn't get over the talking dog. "I've saved three hundred dollars," he said. "I'll give you that and this ring for that dog." The comedian shook his head. "Nope, wouldn't part with him. Why, that little feller has been with me for 13 years. He's the only talking dog in the world."

"I'll give you this horse shoe pin, too," the bartender pleaded. The comedian appeared to be thinking deeply. "Well," reluctantly. "I've got to leave town and I can't take him with me. All right." Squaring his shoulders at the sacrifice, "I'll sell him."

He pocketed the money, ring, and pin, and started for the door, the dog following. "Go back," he ordered sternly. "There's your new master." The dog just sat but he sat in disgusted manner. "Very well," the comedian threw his voice to the dog again, "If that's my new master I won't ever talk again!" And bless you, he didn't.

Many Attend Mayfair Fete

THE Mayfair chucked its last dance of the season 'tother eve at ye Biltmore with flicker merry-makers appearing in bedecked garb or something of the sort. There was an informality about the party that pleased every one.

James Hall

The William De Milles entertained a host of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rathbun, Jetta Goudal and Ivan Lebedeff. La Goudal created quite a stir in a costime smacking of the bizarre.

James Hall and Merna Kennedy set Mayfair precedent by arriving and sitting tete-a-tete. Yes, they danced every dance together.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Edwards entertained Mr. and Mrs. Crane Wilbur, Mervyn Leroy and Edna Murphy, Estelle Taylor and Grant Withers, Arthur Lake and Mary Brian, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles King. Mr. Withers, by the way, is the current sheik of the colony. He's a nice looking lad and rather young. Some one said he was only 23. But he's precocious.

At the Fred Niblos table were the returned travelers: Corrine Griffith and Walter Morosco, Antonio Moreno and his wife, the four just back from a prolonged jaunt of ye continent.

Barbecue, Dancing At Montrose Hotel

The Montrose Hotel Barbecue is said to be proving popular with the campers along the Allegheny River and with motorists who use the highway from Aspinwall to Tarentum. Vincent Long has brought to Pittsburgh something new in barbecue using a new rotary method that has met with success on Coney Island. The entire lower floor of the dining room has been turned into a dance pavilion.

Boat Ride

Dolores Costello goes boat riding as heroine in "Noah's Ark," picture opening Saturday in the Grand.

STOCK PLAY, FILMS AND VARIETY

When "Fair and Warmer," farce comedy, which the George Sharp Players will present in the Pitt next week, was first produced, Madge Kennedy played the leading role. Pauline MacLean will have the star part in the Pitt production.

Dorothy Bush and the Del Monte Blue Dogs, a musical organization, top the vaudeville bill which opens today in the Harris. "The Jazz Age," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is the screen attraction.

Campus Colleagues, featuring Rudolf Friml, Jr., heads the current bill on the Sheridan Square vaudeville stage. "The Jazz Age" is the film.

BARRYMORE PICTURE

John Barrymore's new picture, "Eternal Love," will open on the Penn screen Monday. "Castle of Dreams," with Wesley Eddy, will be on the stage.

"Noah's Ark," with sound and some talk, opens Saturday as the screen feature in the Grand. Dolores Costello and George O'Brien are featured.

State Approves Bond Issues of $1,266,000

HARRISBURG, June 6.—(AP.)—Bond issues totaling $1,266,000 were approved yesterday by the State Department if Internal Affairs. The largest one, $550,000, was for the city of Chester for improving its sewage system.

One of $400,000 was approved for Hazleton for municipal improvements. Another of $300,000 was for Blair County for funding floating indebtedness for highway improvements.

The borough of New Salem, York County, school district had an issue of $6,000 for a new school approved, and the borough of York Springs, Adams County, school district one of $10,000 for building a high school.

Sightseeing Tour By Bus and Air Planned Here

A bus air sightseeing tour is planned here, it was revcealed today with the application of the Pittsburgh Motor Bus Company to the Public Service commission for a permit to operate a bus line from Fifth and Liberty avenues to Bettis Field. The service would operate on Sundays and holidays. The company has been approached by several plane interests to combine a flight price with the bus fare but no definite decision has been reached, officials state.

Betting at Ohio Dog Race Track Banned

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 6.—Betting at the Rush Run, O., dog track will be prohibited this summer, Sheriff William Yost announced today. He notified owners of the track that if they open on June 15, as scheduled and permit gambling, they will be placed under arrest and prosecuted.

The sheriff said his action was the result of a recent order by Gov. Cooper that officials of every county of Ohio enforce the gambling laws at race tracks. He also said that the Rush Run mutuels had been protested by delegations of citizens. The track operated for two years without being molested.

HUMPHREY AIDS METRO PLAN

A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, today indorsed the Consolidated City plan as a means of bringing more industry and more employment to the Pittsburgh district. He said:

The Metropolitan plan means growth—business growth and civic growth. It means expansion and prosperity. It means added achievement and added glory for the Workshop of the World.

As a civic matter, it has my indorsement as an individual citizen believing in its multiple benefits to the community as a whole. As an industrial matter, it has my indorsement as president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, believing in the great industrial future of the Pittsburgh district.

The Westinghouse Air Brake Company is not the only manufacturing concern strong in its faith in the prosperity possibilities of the Metropolitan plan. I do not know of a single large corporation unfavorable to the plan.

As far as taxation is concerned, adoption of the Metropolitan charter will not increase the levies by one cent. Neither business nor private citizens need be afraid of that. The procedure is plain and easily understood.

With this plan, any report that manufacturing plants will move from the Pittsburgh district if the Metropolitan plan passes at the election June 25 must be false. I can speak for the Union Switch and Signal Company, of Swissvale, and can say that it has never considered transferring its plants through opposition to the Consolidated City proposal. That company, on the contrary, is favorable to the Metropolitan plan.

What is more, by making Allegheny County the fourth largest city in the United States, the Metropolitan plan will increase the prestige of the entire district. It will attract more industries here instead of driving them away. It will mean better business and increased employment and payrolls.

That is the sole aim of the plan—the prosperity and the welfare of all the people of Allegheny County.

East Carson Street Reopened to Traffic

The Automobile Club of Pittsburgh announced last night that East Carson street, from Becks Run to the Hays Borough line, a distance of two miles, had been thrown open for traffic, after being closed since April. A half-mile of the street was reconstructed with slag penetration pavement, while the remainder was patched in places where the roadway had been worn out. The final surfacing process is yet to be completed, but this can be done while the street is in use.

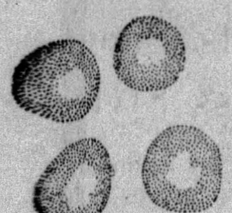
The Blood in Health and Disease

35,000,000 People in the U. S. A. Estimated to Be Suffering From Anemia!

Thirty years have been added to man's life span in the last three centuries, which represents the experiments upon life and the best thinking of many of the world's greatest minds and noblest spirits. Every one of these great new insights into nature, the new solutions of the world's most pressing problems pour from the laboratory. Above all, when you witness daily the marvelous benefits in comfort, health and longevity which science has brought to you, it would seem that you would seek earnestly to adopt the method by which all of these blessings have been achieved. If you do not gather this new spirit and take advantage of science's latest and quickest method of eliminating disease, then our progress will only be a biological joy ride with misery and suffering still at every turn.

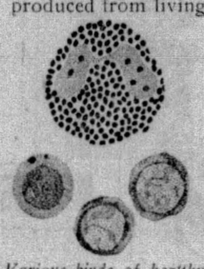


Normal red blood cells

Red cells in severe anemia

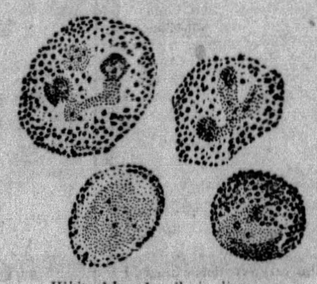
Pasteur, who saved more lives than Napoleon destroyed, said: "To always worship the spirit of skepticism, for if reduced to itself, is only a stimulant to greater achievements." Pasteur's name is an epoch in the annals of biology.

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS were perfected after many years of research work. They are produced from living matter (Ferment). In the year of 1909 the first BLOOD CELL SERUM was given in the United States and the world. Their therapeutic value has been proven beyond doubt. Two hundred and eighty thousand physicians are devoted to this intravenous therapy which has proven that diseases of faulty metabolism are curable with the correct Protein Serum.



Various kinds of healthy white blood cells

"Imitation is the sincerest flattery." Many inferior solutions have come and gone but the great PROTEIN ENZYME SERUMS have proven their great value in hundreds of cases which have formerly resisted all treatment. These Serums have the endorsement of the scientists as well as the laymen and are truly Nature's endowment. Over 35,000 have taken BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS (Copyright 1909 and 1929) and corroborate all claims of the discoverer. They are administered in Pittsburgh only at this Laboratory. The masses have no use for the untried. Facts are what are wanted. These Serums stir every cell into activity and contain the nourishment which will impart new energy to every part of the body. People all over Pittsburgh are telling their own story of how they were rescued from Anemia, High Blood Pressure, Faulty Metabolism, Bright's Disease, Rheumatism, Hardening of the Arteries, Diabetes, Neuritis and supposedly incurable diseases, all of which sound like magic, yet these astonishing benefits have been clearly demonstrated.



White blood cells in disease

All Healing Is Done Through the Blood

A patient does one of two things after a disease process has invaded his system. Either he recovers or else succumbs to the disease!

There is no form of treatment that can have a healing effect until it reaches the blood. To strengthen the power of it—to make it nearly perfect as possible—must be the basis of all treatment. No matter how radical may be the advocates of any particular science or mode of healing, there is the one great common premise which every system of treatment must acknowledge and that basic element is THE BLOOD.

By administering BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS directly into the blood stream, their healing virtues are not lost. A great truth comes into view, and that is, intravenous therapy is fast becoming one of the prime autocrats of medicine. A method that is scientific while the results are more certain.

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS affect not only one organ but have a corrective influence on every part of the body. One serum frequently gives relief. Chronic and obstinate diseases often readily yield to the action of BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS.

We invite you to call for a free consultation, no matter what your ailment is. No doctor charges. Patients pay for the serum only. We are successfully treating Anemia, Asthma, Rheumatism, Kidney and Stomach Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Catarrh of Ears, Nose and Throat. Laboratory Examination, Blood or Secretions, Free. Come and talk to the patients. Results are what you want.

Where a woman is as flapperish at forty as at twenty and a man is as "collegiate" at forty-seven as at seventeen.

Where there is always a rosy "tomorrow" but there are no yesterdays. Where a man can always "come back," but can never "turn back."

Where lovers can cross Fifth Avenue with their arms around each other, and highwaymen can hold up a shop in broad daylight, and nobody turns around to look.

Where a man may lose his teeth, his job, his wife or his fortune—but never loses his optimism, his jauntiness, his enthusiasm or his POSE.

Where a woman's hair may turn white or yellow or red with the fashions, but her eye never loses its glint, her cheek its brightness, or her figure its fashionable slenderness.

Where every man hides his heartaches under a debonair smile, his poverty under a well-tailored coat, his rheumatism under a swagger—and pitches his skeletons down the elevator shaft.

Where sin is so expensive and virtue so easy that the native New Yorker would never know the addresses of the night clubs if his friends from Main Street did not come to town occasionally and drag him out for big whoopee.

Where a man will cheerfully admit his family scandals, but will never tell you his troubles or his failures.

Where a man may live beautifully or sordidly, cheaply or expensively, wisely or foolishly—but he must KEEP STEP with the procession or drop out of the parade.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Marvelous Filters of the Blood Stream

YOU cannot imagine that a stream flowing a long distance through field and forest could do otherwise than pick up leaves and twigs, bits of plants, and all sorts of rubbish. More than this, it dissolves from the soil tiny particles of this mineral and that. It picks up traces of every soluble substance.

DR. COPELAND

The blood stream does the same thing. As it flows through the body it dissolves this and that material. It takes up many elements, really waste substances, no longer of value to the tissues. Some of these are chemical agents and they may combine in the blood to form new substances.

It is not well to have the blood charged with agents which are not useful and which, indeed, may become harmful. To get rid of all such material, nature planned the kidneys.

These organs, two in number, have an important, a vital function to perform. It is their duty to filter out of the blood this waste material.

In reality the kidney is a wonderful filter, or rather a bundle of microscopic filters. They are tiny tubes, each about an inch long. It is amazing how many of these little tubes there are—about 4,000,000, equally divided between the kidneys. It is said that if they were straightened out and placed end to end, they would make a pipe line fully 75 miles long!

Perhaps it is impossible even to approximate the quantity of solid material taken out of the body by these filters. It is estimated at an ounce a day, or nearly a ton in a long lifetime.

Not all the material we take with our food is actually used by the body. Some of it is unsuitable and is rejected as fecal matter. More of it is made use of, and, becoming worthless, is thrown into the blood stream.

You can see that the blood serves a double purpose—it carries nourishment to the body and also disposes of the wastes. A river may carry coal barges to supply a great factory with fuel. Likewise, it carries scows. The arrangement is not quite so simple as this, but there is no occasion to go into a lot of detail.

The blood must be kept pure. It must be cleansed of the waste in order that it may be free to convey to the eager cells the food required for their nourishment and the energy-producing substances to carry on their work.

The most important of the waste substances is known as urea. This is carried away with the urine unless something interferes with the kidney function. In that event the urea accumulates in the blood, producing the condition known as "uremia." There may be convulsions and other serious symptoms, the effects of general poisoning caused by the retained urea.

You can see how important it really is to have the kidneys work normally. So long as they do, there is no trouble about having the poisons due to tissue changes properly expelled from the body.

"When I was a young single girl I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because my mother did and she gave it to me. After I married I took it before my children were born and afterwards, and I have eight living children. THE COQUETTE

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

"Or light or dark, or short or tall,
She sets a spring to snare them all.
All's one to her—above her fan
She'd make sweet eyes at Caliban."
Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

THE coquette plays no favorites, says the poet. Her domain is man, and she wields a mighty sceptre over tall and short, fair and dark, young and old. It matters not to her who he is, where he comes from, whither he is bound. Once she has set a pair of sparkling eyes upon him, the mischief begins.

And who is poor, defenseless man to cry her nay? Even if he would, one glance at her alluring tresses and fathomless eyes casts an irrevocable spell. With entrancing smiles she beckons, with frightened glances withdraws. Her victims, encouraged by the smiles, advance, holding out eager arms. Yet all unsuspecting, they are suddenly repelled. The raised fan hides the siren's enraptured countenance from their view, and she retraces her steps mincingly but firmly.

There is in every woman a bit of coquette. The quality that draws men like a magnet, then holds them at arms' length. Ever-alluring, never accessible, woman plays the game of love with smiles and tears and sighs. She is at once transparent as the sunlight, enigmatic as the moon. She plays a winning game!

Sweet Potato Custard

Sweet potato custard is a dish to be served hot, as a vegetable with the dinner, and not as a dessert. However, this same recipe is also delicious used as a filling for pie. Mash well three cooked sweet potatoes of medium size. Add two eggs, well beaten, one-third teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, half cupful of brown sugar and three cupfuls of milk. Mix thoroughly, pour into a buttered baking dish, and bake in a slow oven until firm. Cover with meringue or marshmallows, if desired. When using this recipe as a pie filling, add two teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar.

Madge Realizes Now That Sam Intended to Defraud Lillian

KATIE stood waiting for my answer to her query concerning the time of lunch, and with a jerk I brought myself back from the realm of speculation concerning her reason for asking the question.

"We're going to have it very early today, Katie," I told her. "In fact, as soon as you can get it ready. The Brixtons are packing now, and I believe they wish to get started by noon."

"Dot very goot," she said, her face lighting up. Then she plucked at her apron irresolutely.

"Miss's Graham," she said, and stopped.

"Yes, Katie," encouragingly.

"You remember dot funeral I vent by last week?"

"Oh, yes!" My interest was mounting rapidly now.

"Vell!" Katie rushed on rapidly, but with eyes roving over the kitchen in patent embarrassment, "dey have meetings for dot vomans today—vot you call—me-mori-al meetings by her church, und I belong by her society, und I like to go eef I get loonch dishes all done oop first, so mudder-in-law no keeck."

With a little reminiscent shiver I called to mind the scene to which Mother Graham had treated me because I had changed the hour of luncheon to permit Katie to go to the "funeral" which I was now convinced was as mythical as the "memorial service."

"Mother Graham can have no possible objection today," I told her gravely. "She did not like it before because I changed the hour solely on your account. But today it is necessary to have luncheon early on account of our guests. When your work is done you are free to go anywhere you choose—as you always are upon any afternoon when there is nothing special on hand."

"I know dot, so I go after loonch," Katie returned. "Now vot you vant me gif dem for eats?"

I outlined the luncheon menu, and heard with one part of my brain the familiar and cheery "I feex" with which Katie jotted down the items. The other part was engaged in fantastic speculation in which Katie, Mary, Prince Georges and the mysterious "Janet Rawdon" mingled.

So absorbed was I in my theories that I did not realize I had come to a halt just outside the kitchen door in a little recess of the hall totally hidden from the front part of the corridor. From the staircase, just around the corner, I heard Samuel Brixton's voice.

"She put the kibosh on it all right."

"Hush!" Charles Owen's voice whispered peremptorily, and as I waited motionless until they had gone up the stairs, I did not doubt that Mr. Brixton was referring to the way I had blocked his attempt to have Lillian sign a release, for herself and Marion, of all claims against him.

The words, the contemptuous resentful tone in which they were uttered, and Mr. Owen's warning banished the qualms which I had been experiencing since the interview in which I had balked Mr. Brixton's attempt to turn over $20,000 to Lillian for Marion in return for the "release" he had drawn up. It seemed so large a sum to turn down for the girl that I had wondered if perhaps I had been hasty in my stand, but the little colloquy bolstered my theory that some attempt to defraud Marion and Lillian lay behind this long belated offer of restitution.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Street Car Deportment

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When a young girl is being introduced to an older woman in the presence of gentlemen, should the girl stand as the gentlemen do?

2. If she being introduced to a young woman, but one who is older than herself, does she stand?

3. Will you please tell me whether a girl should precede her escort in getting off a street car or should she wait until he gets off to help her? BETTY R.

1. YES, in deference to an older woman.

2. Not unless the woman is appreciably older than she is.

3. The man goes first from the street car, so that he will be in a position to help her from the car.

Fish Bones

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When eating fish and any of the small bones get into the mouth with the fish, should they be removed with the fork or with the fingers? I have always removed fish bones from the mouth with the fingers because I find the fork most awkward for that purpose. I was told that the fork should be used for this purpose and not the fingers. If it is permissible to handle a chicken bone with the fingers, I should think it would be permissible to handle fish bones with the fingers. M. C.

YOU were right in your judgment as to the best, because most convenient and least attention-calling, method of removing a bone from the mouth. The fork should not be used. The bone should be removed, as unobtrusively as possible of course, with the thumb and first finger. (And, by the way, it is not permissible to "handle a chicken bone with the fingers." The knife and fork should be used, and not the fingers.)

Separate Invitations

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What would be the best way of addressing a wedding invitation to the corporation where I am employed? There are about 15 young ladies and men, and I do not care to send individual invitations, but would like to include them as a whole.

2. What do you think about the return address on the back of the envelope?

3. I am also sending invitations to homes where the parents and daughters are invited. How would you address these invitations—or should I send separate invitations? UNCERTAIN.

I STRONGLY urge you to send separate invitations to your co-workers. It isn't much of an honor to receive an invitation that is addressed to an entire organization. However, if you do not want to do this, the only way left is to address it to the members of the organization.

2. You may write it on, if you wish, but usually this is not done.

3. It would be better, because more of a compliment, to send separate invitations. But on all invitations that include other members of the family it is better to write the names on the envelope, in separate lines:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen.
Miss Mary Allen,
Mr. Joseph Allen.

EXPANSION SEEN IN PAYROLL

Development of a large number of Pittsburgh's smaller industries and the growing importance of this city as a distributing center, accounts for a 20 per cent increase in the Pittsburgh district payroll for May in the opinion of James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Rae said that every citizen of Pittsburgh should recognize that Metropolitan Pittsburgh is now a great city, in fact, will become an actuality on June 25, "by the vote of our county citizens." An increase of $6,000,000 in the May payroll to $39,000,000, in his opinion, is an indication of the remarkable expansion, improvements and developments going on for some time throughout the greater city. The district is beginning to reap the benefit of this activity.

Mr. Rae emphasized that there are more small industries in this territory than most persons realize and particularly within Allegheny County. He said that community expansion has been carried on an enormous scale, all of which in his judgment means that Pittsburgh is a community of metropolitan proportions.

Mr. Rae said he felt confident that this expansion means and all business statistics available show, that the city's business life is moving toward the most prosperous era in the history of this industrial community.

Quiz Into Stabbing Discloses Still

Salvatore Cirone, 29, produce dealer of 1715 Penn avenue, was held for court yesterday charged with violating the Snyder act, as the result of the finding of a still on the third floor of the building he occupies by police investigating the fatal stabbing last Saturday of Ignaccio Scaracco, 45, of 1768 Eckert street. Cirone and Scaracco were partners in the produce business. He denied knowledge of the still.

Kindergarten Pupils To Get Farm Outing

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Lewin will entertain kindergarten pupils of 18 schools on their farm in Wilkins Township next Wednesday, June 12. R. H. Henderson will be master of ceremonies.

You can't spade the garden with a Waterman's Fountain Pen but with it you can write the story of your horticultural achievements with ease and dispatch. In fact anything that can be written can be better written with a Waterman's than in any other way. And there are reasons.

Waterman's fountain pen is the best fountain pen ever offered to a discerning public.

The hard rubber holder is light, stainless and feels fine when you're writing.

Every holder is scientifically balanced. This makes easy writing a joy.

Waterman's holds a lot of ink and may be filled quickly.

Waterman's No. 7 is the newest and most appealing idea in fountain pens. There are seven different pen points to choose from—each identified by a different color band on the cap.

Ask any dealer to show you Waterman's No. 7 and select the point that best suits your style of writing.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Horse Show Attracts Society

THAT little rail-inclosed plot of ground that tops one of the hills of Sewickley Heights is the center of attraction for hundreds of local folks today. The wind may blow, the sun may blaze or the rain may fall, but no whim of the weather could keep a large majority of Sewickley Valleyites and a great many Pittsburghers from collecting at the Allegheny Country Club show ring to watch the horses put through their paces. I don't believe I am exaggerating in saying that the horse show is the most important event that June has to offer to our society group.

As you may be aware, though, June is also the wedding month, and horse show or no horse show, these ceremonies and the parties that precede them interest us more than a little. One of the June brides, you know, is Catherine Longenecker, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Longenecker, of St. James street, and quite a few parties are being held for her. Catherine's marriage to James Bennett Walker, son of the junior Hay Walkers, of Edgeworth, is set for a week from today.

On Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Jr., and John Milligan Fisher will give a dinner for the bridal party in the Longue Vue Country Club. Mrs. Fisher, who was Dorothy Babcock before she was married, is going to be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding, and her brother-in-law, John M. Fisher, is to be one of the ushers. The wedding breakfast on Thursday morning will be given in the Pittsburgh Golf Club, and the hostess will be Laura Catherine Suydam, who will be one of the bridesmaids. The guests, of course, will include members of the bridal party.

Preparing for Benefit Garden Party at Braun Home

Miss Trimble talking with two of the young pupils at the school for tubercular children, maintained for the association. The party will be a benefit for the school.

DID you know that the junior James B. Lyons and their family, of East Sixtieth street, New York, are spending a couple of weeks at the Hotel Kenmawr? Afterwards, I hear, they will go to Watch Hill where they will spend the summer. The John W. Lawrences have been listed among the travelers, too. They have been spending a few days in New York, stopping at the Barclay.

PLANS for the aviation garden party are maturing rapidly and from all I am hearing, if you go, you will have a most interesting afternoon. I already have told you a great deal about the arrangements—the dancing, the bridge, the aeronautical exhibit, the model airplane, the toy balloon race. Mrs. Philip Chess is chairman for the publicity and her vice chairman is Mrs. W. R. Oliver. And in charge of the music are Mrs. Oliver Smith, as chairman, and Mrs. Paul Griffith, as assistant chairman.

THE marriage of Miss Marion Leone Hepting, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hepting, of Garland street, Edgewood, and J. Fred Gipson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Gipson, of Oakview avenue, Edgewood, was solemnized last night at 6:30 o'clock in the Edgewood Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Alfred E. Fletcher, former pastor of the Knoxville Methodist Protestant Church. The ceremony was performed before an altar banked with palms, ferns and Calla lilies. The bride wore ivory satin made with a full skirt cut long in the back, and her tulle veil was secured with a band of duchess lace and orange blossoms. She carried Ward roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Alice H. Gish, of the East End, as maid of honor, appeared in pompadour print chiffon and rose orchid lace, and she carried premier roses tied with orchid tulle. George A. Kern, uncle of the bride, was best man. Miss Carrie Mayer sang, and Mrs. Bertha Gross King played the wedding music. A dinner for the immediate families followed the ceremony in the Penn Lincoln Hotel. Mrs. Hepting wore tan and brown chiffon with a horsehair braid hat to match, while Mrs. Gipson appeared in beige crepe with hat to correspond. Mr. and Mrs. Gipson have left for an eastern trip and after July 1 will be at home in Lloyd street, Edgewood.

THE marriage of Miss Minnie Louise Pakel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Ranier, of Coral Gables, Fla., and J. Miss Pakel is a graduate of the Indiana State Teachers' College. After an eastern motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will be at home on Coherlan Heights, Irwin, Pa.

COPELAND HITS SNOB ADVICE

ELKINS, W. Va., June 6.—(AP.)—Dr. Royal S. Copeland, United States senator from New York, yesterday advised members of the graduating class of Davis and Elkins college not to be "snobs."

"Don't try to marry the boss' daughter," he said. "God bless you if you are lucky enough to marry the stenographer of the boss."

Dr. Copeland's advice was given not as a part of his prepared address, but in commenting on an address made by an eastern educator recently.

"I care not what particular calling you may follow, you will not live up to your responsibilities as an American unless you have part in all those things having to do with the common welfare," the senator said. "There is nothing nobler than to be a citizen of this republic."

Forty-three students were graduated from the college.

Frantic Campaigns . . . .

to substitute other cigarettes for Lucky Strike fail largely because Luckies' superiority so quickly demonstrates itself. Lucky Strike represents a milestone in the progress of cigarette manufacture. The toasting process makes Lucky Strike the brand of distinction, and, in the opinion of 20,679* physicians, is the reason Luckies are less irritating. No other cigarette enjoys this secret heat treatment which removes impurities and irritants, produces a flavor beyond comparison and assures the smoker the maximum of delightful smoking pleasure and comfort.

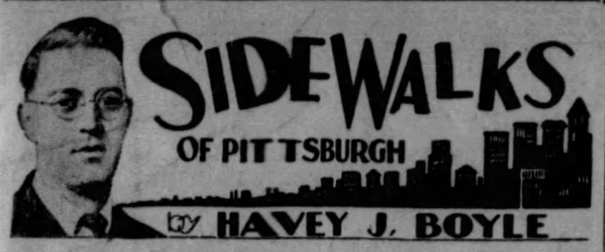
METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

BELLEVUE LAUNCHES PAVING PROGRAM



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

VILLAGE GOSSIP: Molly Picon, what the praise agents would call a gay bit of feminity, has many of the boys and girls discussing her work here recently with a Jewish cast of stars. . . . Molly is an institution to the East Side folk of New York and her fame has spread to all corners where Jewish people congregate. . . . She has had large offers from Broadway producers, but barring road trips with her company she sticks to a relatively insignificant theater on the East Side of New York. . . . She is a song and dance girl and you can start a great chatter by mentioning the name of Molly Picon. . . . One of her dances is known as the (readers will fill in this space) roll. . . . Speaking of dancing, the Kirmess season is upon us, with the grateful boys and girls of the dancing schools doing their stuff in their annual shows. . . . The town is well supplied with schools where Terpsichore, to delve into high-priced terms, is celebrated in no mean fashion. . . . Pupils as young as two are taken on—or in—and there are women with suspiciously gray locks over their ears who take up the dance to reduce or to acquire grace. . . . While you may imagine there is a strong note of amateurism about such exhibitions, and you won't be entirely wrong, you will be surprised nevertheless, at the professional airs attained by some of the young pupils. . . . In a recent show there was a sister act that would serve any big-time theater with credit to the theater. . . . The young dancing studes take up tap, acrobatic and ballet and become surprisingly proficient. . . . The tap dancers can do a Pat Rooney waltz clog with considerable skill. . . . The dancing master in such schools easily could qualify for a post at the Court of St. James as their diplomacy in handling the fond mothers of the young hopefuls is nothing short of marvelous. . . . If one child seems to be getting too much of the spotlight, a young army of mothers descends upon the master with charges that little Mirello is not getting a fair shake and after all there are other dancing schools. . . . To assuage wounded pride is the task of the teachers and they manage it well. . . . One striking thing about the exhibitions is that even some of the toe dancers are pretty, this being against all tradition. . . . The bald-headed row and addicts of the theater well know that when a baby seems to be unusually homely the parents content themselves with the consoling thought that little Artichoke can always turn into a toe dancer. . . . The elecrical display of the village is added to by the installation of the traffic lights, which seem to be working successfully, with the exception that people with Ohio licenses insist on starting when the yellow light flashes. . . . Pittsburghers are always curious about Ohio licenses, getting the notion, somehow, that a great many Ohio people must spend most of their time in Pennsylvania, judging from the frequency of the green plates seen on machines hereabouts. . . . A story that must have appeared suspicious or must have been overlooked by a press agent develops that when a noted producer was in town recently he visited a local burlesque house, there observed a likely looking chorine, and signed her up to a joyous contract. . . . Such things happen once in awhile outside the covers of story books as was proved just the other day when a boy who used to sell peanuts and usher at Forbes Field appeared as a big league catcher and was tendered a present by former pals of the usher guild. . . . Local theatrical men are doing nose dives for the talkies that sing, so to speak. . . . Of all the offerings coming this way since the advent of the speakies no brand goes over with the bang recorded by stories celebrating song and dance boys and girls. . . . Broadway Melody still has the customers talking and the music from that production will outlive any of the current offerings from Tympanum alley. . . . Amusement seekers are taking to the outdoors and the summer picnics are taking their annual toll of beets, bananas, hard-boiled eggs, speaking literally, and the seats of juvenile trousers. . . . Only 4,865 boys have been reported lost at Kennywood this season, all of them being found a few hours after their disappearance—eating a banana in the monkey house or being fished out of the water at the old mill stream.

SISTERS HURT AS AUTO HITS POLE

Crash Occurs as Driver Swerves Car to Avoid Crashing Another Auto

Two sisters were injured when their brother-in-law swerved his car to avoid hitting an automobile which was turning, and struck a telephone pole at Becks Run road and Carson street, yesterday.

Caroline Tapolcai, 18, and her sister, Catherine Tapolcai, 20, of 589 Irwin avenue, riding in the automobile driven by Frank Migliorino, 25, of 528 Mifflin street, Hays, were injured when their brother-in-law hit the pole when he swerved to avoid striking a machine driven by August Gloekner, of 300 Meredith street, who was driving on Becks Run road and was turning into Carson street.

The girls were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Gloekner's machine, where it was stated that Caroline is suffering abrasions of the left hand and body bruises, and Catherine suffering a probable fracture of the shoulder. The girls are detained at the hospital.

There were no arrests made as the accident was unavoidable, South Side police said.

BOND ISSUE PROVIDES FUNDS

Three Streets on Program As Arranged by Borough Council; Bids Are Opened

Bids for grading and paving of Means avenue, Bellevue, the first street improvement under the $100,000 people's bond issue, were opened at the monthly meeting of the Borough Council.

The cost of grading, paving and curbing the thoroughfare, which is in a rapidly developing residential district, will be borne by abutting property owners and the borough each paying one-third.

BIDS OPENED

Council also opened bids for paving Alley H, off Meade avenue between Lincoln and Monroe avenues. It is about 250 feet long and is used by business houses along the south side of Lincoln avenue. The entire cost will be borne by abutting property owners.

Contracts for the two improvements, estimated to cost a total of $19,000 will be awarded at a special meeting, June 18.

LIGHT APPROVED

Burgess W. J. Longmore notified council he had approved a resolution for installing a hanging stop light at Lincoln and Sprague avenues which also will serve to illuminate the street intersection.

The burgess stated he had granted permission to the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth to hold a tag day in Bellevue, September 14, and to Leonard Reisignale to hold a wedding reception in the borough hall next Wednesday.

WOOD ST. FIRE HALTS TRAFFIC

Hundreds of downtown workers on the way to their offices watched firemen extinguish a small blaze in the cellar of the closed J. G. Bennett Company store, 447 Wood street, today. Traffic was jammed for 20 minutes.

Smoke pouring from basement windows indicated a fire of substantial proportions, but firemen found more smoke than flames. It was believed a cigaret butt, dropped through a basement grating into a rubbish pile, might have caused the blaze.

The store, in the hands of receivers, has been closed for several months.

Improper Letters Sends Man to Jail

Charged with sending improper letter through the mails, Isadore Freidman, 24, a storekeeper of 141 Fulton street, was today sentenced by Judge F. P. This was his second offense, previously having served four months for altering and raising a Federal Reserve Bank note from $5 to $20 in August, 1927.

Violates Padlock; Will Be Sentenced

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today held William F. Bacley, proprietor of a dance hall and drinking room at 4719 Perrysville road, in contempt of court and cited June 10 for the date of sentence. MAY ABANDON SUNKEN BOAT

A board of inquiry, appointed by Col. Jarvis J. Bain, United States engineer in charge of the Pittsburgh district, today was investigating the sinking yesterday of the government towboat Kittanning at Dead Man's Island, below Stoop's Ferry in the Ohio River. The boat was swamped by the breaking of a cofferdam.

The craft is lying on its side, bottling up a lock that is being constructed at the dam. James Stauffer, a government diver from Lock No. 6, Beaver, today was continuing his investigation of the wreck under the water.

J. W. Arras, senior United States engineer, chief of the board, said it was possible the government might abandon the raising of the Kittanning. The boat is 15 years old and valued at $10,000. It was in need of repairs, it was said, and might be turned over to a salvaging concern.

A crew of 11 men and a woman, asleep on the boat at the time the dam gave way, had narrow escapes from being drowned when they were trapped in their staterooms.

Club Service Stressed by Mt. Lebanon Speaker

"What is a Service Club, and Why They were Organized" was the subject delivered by R. W. Eton, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon held in the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, Castle Shannon and Washington roads, yesterday.

"Service clubs are primarily to establish friendship and provide open-minded, aggressive leadership in communities," Mr. Eton said.

LAUDS WORK FOR BLIND

He showed that each club must have a definite objective and congratulated the Lions International in their objective for the caring of the blind. He told how it was necessaray to have organization and how every member must be a spoke in the wheel. He mentioned that the Mt. Lebanon Lions Club should be a booster for Mt. Lebanon and spread the gospel of how Mt. Lebanon is the best place in the city of Pittsburgh for people who come to live.

Mr. Eaton quoted a piece of verse as follows: "Where there is no vision, people perish." With this thought he closed a very interesting talk inasmuch as each point in his topic was brought clearer home by the telling of a joke. His closing sentence was "Visualize then realize through co-operation."

The dinner guests present were: "Bud" Marshal, Fred Haller and John Retaichak, of Mt. Lebanon.

I. Whitehead and E. W. Simmons were inducted new members.

DELEGATE ELECTED

Lion Rolf Grien was elected a delegate to the International convention, to be held in Louisville, Ky., June 18, 19, 20 and 21.

MOTHERS PICK IDEAL SON

What five qualities, each expressed in a single word, denote a mother's boy?

What single virtue, above all others, does the ideal mother believe her ideal boy should possess, and why?

Mothers of boys are invited to answer these questions which are inspired by a film "Mother's Boy," which opens June 10 at the Harris Theater. The contest opens with this announcement and all entries must be in by next Saturday midnight. The awards to be made to the winners follow:

FIRST PRIZE .....$25 in Cash
SECOND PRIZE .....$15 in Cash
THIRD PRIZE .....$10 in Cash
FOURTH PRIZE, theater box (12 seats) for "Mother's Boy," at the Harris Theater.

The rules of this contest are simple: On Question 1: What five qualities, each expressed in a single word, denote a mother's boy? it is necessary to write down only the five words. On the second question: What single virtue, above all others, does the ideal mother believe her ideal boy should possess, and why? it is only necessary to write the single word and THEN GIVE THE REASON IN ONE SENTENCE OF NOT MORE THAN 15 WORDS, telling WHY this virtue is selected. Your reason is very important for in the event the same virtue is selected, the best REASON will decide.

Write on one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to put your name and address on it. The decision of a committee of judges selected by the Sun-Telegraph is final, and in the event of a tie duplicate prizes will be paid winners. Address all letters to Mother's Boy Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

ST. CLAIR BABY GIVEN MOTHER

Mrs. Marie St. Clair, widow of Attorney J. M. Redden, won custody of her 18-months-old daughter, Patricia Rose St. Clair, without a hearing in court today.

The mother had instituted habeas corpus proceedings for the recovery of the child by her second marriage after the father, Raymond St. Clair, of Perrysville avenue, brought the little girl back from Hollywood, Cal., where Mrs. St. Clair had taken her on a visit. St. Clair's mother, Mrs. Florence St. Clair, who has been caring for the child, also was a defendant.

An agreement was reached by counsel and Judge James R. Macfarlane awarding Patricia Rose to her mother with the understanding the father would be allowed to see his daughter at intervals. The couple separated recently, the court was informed.

School Stages Play, Attracts Large Crowd

Several hundred persons last night witnessed "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" a comedy, presented by the class of '29 of the St. Mary's of the Mount in the St. Mary's auditorium, Grandview avenue and Bigham street. Jones Law Offender Sent Up 4 Months

Jacob Hankovitch, proprietor of a saloon at 3000 Carson street, South Side, today was sentenced to four months in the county jail on six counts of violating the national prohibition laws, several violations occurring since the Jones law was passed. Hankovitch was found guilty by a jury last week.

Baby Hippo Awaits Name, Judges Begin Task

The name for the baby hippopotamus at the Highland Park zoo has been proposed.

On one of the thousands of coupons from the Sun-Telegraph sent in by boys and girls of the public, private and parochial schools of Pittsburgh the lucky name has been written, and it only remains for the judges to make their selection.

The contest, one of the most popular ever held by a Pittsburgh newspaper, closed at 6 p. m. yesterday, and today the great hampers filled with the coupons of suggested names were turned over to Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang. Director Lang and Ernest Tretow, manager of the zoo, will act as the judges, and the Sun-Telegraph will give $25 to the girl or boy whose choice of a name is selected.

Both the public works director and the veteran zookeeper were amazed when they saw the volume of names they must consider. It means hours of work and a choice between a variety of names from snappy words of three letters to a string of words linked together with hyphens.

It's a big job, but both Director Lang and Director Tretow declared that it would be a pleasant task. They said they would soon announce the winners.

Uncle Roy Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 6.

England elects a Labor government.

Three hundred out of six hundred are in politics here but nobody has ever accused one of doing a tap of work.

When a man goes in for politics over here he has no time to labor, and any man that labors has no time to fool away with politics.

Over there politics is an obligation. Over here it's a business.

Yours, WILL.

P. S.—There is one thing about Lindbergh's escape, it's the only thing that happened this spring that hasn't been laid on to the Federal Reserve.

Drinking by Youth Cited as Blease Hits Changes

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—Speaking on what he described as the evil of amending the constitution, Senator Blease, (Dem.) of South Carolina, told the senate yesterday he had recently seen two boys and two girls drinking liquor in a restaurant.

One of the boys, Blease said, drew a flask from his hip pocket and passed it to the waiter, who soon returned with four cocktails. The performance was repeated, he said, and after the four, who came from "respectable families, finished dinner, they staggered from the restaurant."

"I never saw that before the constitution was amended," he declared.

As digestible as milk itself

Never, in all our years of providing better and more healthful foods, have we offered the housewife a more delectable product than Velveeta.

Velveeta is a new idea in cheese making. It contains more of those precious food elements, Vitamins, Lactose (milk sugar), Calcium and other milk minerals than it was possible to include by old methods. All of which give Velveeta a greater food value; and a delicious new flavor.

Use Velveeta wherever you would use any cheese. It spreads like butter or will slice when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends so readily with other foods that for cooking purposes there is no comparison. It is as digestible as milk itself. Velveeta is a wonderful food for growing children. Show the children how to like vegetables

The appetizing wonder of a dash of sugar added to the water while cooking

A NEW way has been discovered by four famous cooking authorities to help children like the healthful vegetables. "Children as a rule," say these experts, "do not like vegetables. Especially carrots and spinach, so rich in vitamins and so healthful. A dash of granulated sugar added to the water in which these vegetables are cooked, makes an entirely different and more appealing thing of them."

These experts point out that the addition of sugar in correct amounts, and the use of only a little water in cooking, enhances and develops the piquant vegetable flavors. Sugar adds a freshness of flavor both to vegetables that are slightly wilted and to canned vegetables, and it increases the food value of the vegetables. Just try these two new recipes and notice what a difference in flavor the sugar makes.

BUTTERED CARROTS—Cook five or six medium-size carrots tender in boiling water to which a dash of sugar has been added. Slice and reheat in a pan with 2 teaspoons of butter, 1 level tablespoon sugar, pepper and salt. Let the carrots simmer 10 minutes in this butter dressing.

The wonderful thing about sugar as a flavorer is that it makes food so tasteful and delicious that children and adults will eat enough. Use a dash of sugar in cooking most vegetables, fruits and meats. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Don Tells His Wife That He Hates Her as She Arrives in Hawaii

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. On landing in the island he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he meets Eugenie, Nahuli's white wife. Then in wandering about Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. Eugenie invites him to her cottage on Tantalus Hill. She tells him he has been delivering opium and warns him. Among revelations is that Nahuli forced her to marry him to save her father from prison. Don Carlos spends his time working on a play from which he expects success. He and Eugenie fall in love. On Ruth's wedding day Big Tim goes on a vacation—disgusted. Then David learns of the affair between his wife and Don Carlos. At a gay party Don Carlos thinks he hears a movement in the bushes and goes to investigate. Nahuli threatens him again. But before he can bring about revenge he meets his death. Then, as Don Carlos and Eugenie are happy together, Eve arrives from the States.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE shadow of a woman swaggered into the dim beam of light which came from his study lamp through the open door.

"What about the wife you already have, Don Carlos? Better get rid of her, if you can, before you annex another." Like a whip across a bare back came the words—words with a hidden menace. "Better get rid of her—if you can!" Don Carlos rose.

"Eve!" he breathed.

"Herself! Permit me to congratulate you on your technique in love-making, Don Carlos. It has improved decidedly. I've often heard that the Hawaiian moon is responsible for many things, such as stolen love. Still, one could hardly blame you. I heard she was pretty—in a dark sort of way."

Eve had been coolly appraising Eugenie, who sat as though turned to stone in the huge peacock chair.

Don Carlos' wife had always been a myth to Eugenie Nahuli. He had told her once of the bitterness born of that marriage, and there the matter had been dropped.

And now she stood before them. Eve, his wife, who had the legal right to share that bungalow with him. Just the moment before he had been telling Eugenie of his love; that he wanted her to be his wife. Strange, this life, which gave rights to some that belonged to others.

She arose quietly and turned to Don Carlos.

"If you will call a cab for me, I'll be going."

Don Carlos looked at her, appealing for her sympathy and understanding. There was nothing he could say, and in an instant he turned to the house to call the cab.

"I shall see you tomorrow, Eugenie," he suggested when he returned.

"Yes," Eugenie assured him.

Her cool fingers touched his for a moment when she stepped into the cab.

Eve seated herself in the chair Eugenie had vacated, insolently watching their leave taking.

"Freak dresser, that woman," she commented when Don Carlos returned to her. "Is that a new island style, that long white rag she has on her? Good thing I brought a trunkful of my own clothes."

The thought ran through Don Carlos' mind that the Eves of this world never could appreciate the pure classic grace of women like Eugenie.

"Why have you come, Eve?" he asked, quietly. He wondered how he could keep his tones so low when every nerve in him was shrieking.

"A cool sort of a welcome, I call it. After I have traveled a couple of thousand miles just for the pleasure of calling on you. And paid my own fare down, too." Eve did not add, however, that George Phillips had advanced her the fare.

"Why have you come?" he repeated in a dead tone.

"To cause you trouble," Eve frankly told him. "I know you don't want me. But that doesn't matter. I'm still your wife, you know. And my place is here by your side, now that you are able to take care of a wife. I should be slaving at a typewriter in old Pollock's office while you are down here getting your name in electric lights and the money rolling in. No, sir-ee. I've come down to live off the fatted calf for a while myself."

Eve extracted a cigaret from her vanity bag and lit it, puffing away at it hungrily. She lolled in the peacock chair.

"Never!" Don Carlos spat the one word vehemently.

"What's that?" Eve was stirred to action: she sat on the edge of her chair. "What do you mean, never? Huh?"

"I mean that you'll never live with me again."

"Oh—is that so?" Her voice was insolent.

Each hot-tempered young nature glared. The old primal hatred.

"Yes, that's so. Why couldn't you have stayed on the mainland, Eve? You had George Phillips there—my worthy successor. Well, why didn't you stay with him? I've sent you money since I've been making it. I paid my obligation to you. I owe you nothing save finances. I'll pay that debt, but by the gods, I tell you, Eve, that it stops there. I'm through with you—with your way of living. Fight! Fight! Fight! That's your idea of a home—to keep it in a constant state of eruption. Why did you have to come back into my life right now—just when I had found happiness?"

"Oh—so that's the angle! The poor wife is thrown out in the street because a newer face has taken her place in her husband's heart—and home?"

"I can't run you out of the islands, although I would do even that if I could—that's how much I hate you," he threatened. "If you don't get a divorce, I'll sue for one. You'll never have another chance to ruin my life."

The words had been pouring from Don Carlos' mouth like molten lava from the throat of a volcano. It seemed he had said everything there was to be said.

"That is all. Where are you stopping, Eve?"

Even natures like Eve's know when they have met their match. There was no use trying to talk to him tonight. Why bother about him? Wasn't Col. Drinkwater her devoted slave?

"At the Moana," she surrendered.

"I'll call a cab for you. If you want to get in touch with me again, you know where to find me."

"And I'll get in touch with you again, Don Carlos Whiting—don't forget that."

Brothers of the Sage

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

Daily Short Story

MONTY SMITH and Bill Ogilvie didn't call themselves that. Not by a long shot. On the contrary, they were wont to address each other in epithets altogether unbecoming to print. Yet the terms covered a deep affection.

For years Monty and Bill had teamed together, punching for the same outfits, riding at the same Fourth of July rodeo, bunking in the same bunkhouse and getting their chow out of the same chuck wagon at the same round-up.

And now a girl had come between them. A slip of a girl with eyes like the wild blue gentian and hair the color of the tawny range itself. Maisie was her name and she was the daughter of the foreman of the V Bar X.

Monty had flirted with her casually in the very beginning, as was his custom with a pretty girl, and no one had been more surprised than Monty himself when he realized he had fallen in love. This surprise, however, had been surpassed by a still greater astonishment when Maisie shyly confessed that he was not her only suitor. That Bill had already asked her to marry him. Hard-boiled, woman-hating old Bill!

Swinging his long legs on the corral fence and chewing a piece of straw, Monty thought the situation through. A red sun appeared to be resting on the level horizon when he heaved a mighty sigh and climbed down.

Bill, being the unsusceptible chap he was, must have fallen for Maisie for all he was worth. It would be the act of a pal and a friend to clear out. As far as he was concerned, there would doubtless be other girls, and, heck, he wasn't sure anyhow he was ready to put his head in a halter.

Yet, an hour later, as he rode off into the sweet-scented night, two things tormented him. A vision of pretty Maisie whom he was leaving behind and of a comradeship gone to smash. For, with Bill married to the girl they loved, nothing could ever be the same again.

He was headed for Gulchville where there were diversions of one sort or another that could make a man forget, but Gulchville was many miles away.

After a time he dismounted, rolled himself in a blanket, and sought sleep and forgetfulness. The spot was one where he and Bill had frequently bivouacked for the night. Many an hour they had lain on their backs listening to the snarl of a distant coyote and watching the majestic procession of the stars.

Day was breaking above the Big Horns when that mysterious sense of a presence near him roused Monty suddenly. His hand on his holster he sat up with a start.

Then a grin spread over his features. The presence was Bill, who sat on his pony looking down at Monty with a puzzled expression on his countenance.

Monty pretended a wrath he did not feel. "So you trailed me!" he growled.

Bill drew out his pouch of tobacco and refiled his pipe before making any reply. Then, "trailed you nothing! When I found you had fallen for Maisie same as I had I lit out to give you a clear field. Trying to avoid you for reasons good and plenty of my own I didn't even know you had went until I found you here!"

Monty stood up and stretched his arms slowly above his head. "It appears like the same darn idea had hit the both of us at once. Well, let's have breakfast!"

Throughout the simple meal of coffee without milk and beans without bread, Monty was singularly quiet.

"It strikes me," he said at last, "that, what with you trying to do right by me and me trying to do right by you, we've sort of gummed the situation for Maisie. Seems as if now we both ought to go back and let her pick which one she thinks she'd be happiest with."

"Well, maybe you're right," agreed Bill, after a few moments of silence. "It sure is a bum deal to hand a girl, come to think of it."

So presently they were on their way back and, as they drew nearer and nearer to the ranch, thoughts of Maisie were mingled with speculation as to her father's attitude when he learned that two of his punchers had taken French leave. The old man held a reputation for unbridled temper second to none.

Both gave a mighty sigh that seemed born in the very soles of their high boots as the group of cottonwoods sheltering the low ranch buildings came into sight and the miles that had to be traversed before they reached it were made in silence.

Circling towards the corral and bunkhouse, they sought as inconspicuous a return as possible. But invisibility on the range is as difficult to secure as a dollar bill west of Twin Cities.

Maisie and Maisie's father were waiting for them when they arrived.

"It's a fine pair you are!" stormed the foreman. "Sneaking out after dark with never a word and coming in at this time of day. Been to Gulchville, I suppose, painting the town up. Well, you're through here. This ain't no moving picture outfit. I've hired a couple of punchers by phone to take your place and one of 'em will stick because he's the fellow my girl's going to marry."

When he had turned on his heel and stalked away, Monty and Bill turned to Maisie.

"Is what your Pa says true?" demanded Monty.

Maisie dug the toe of her shoe shyly in the dirt. "I—I tried to be nice to both of you because I don't like either of you as well as Texas Jack, who was here last year. But I'll be a sister to you."

"Aw, forget it, Maisie," said Bill. "Monty and me, begging your pardon, don't want no sisters."

Presently loping off towards an indefinite destination, Bill threw a glance at Monty and Monty threw a glance at Bill.

"There's a chance we might get a job at the Circle M," said Bill.

"I heard the old man at the Pine Dude Ranch was short of ranglers," contributed Monty.

They seemed as they rode on across the stage not so much two men who had recently been disappointed in love and fired from a job as a couple of youngsters from whose shoulders a great load had suddenly lifted.

Everybody avoided Bill until he overcame "B.O." (Body Odor)

BILL was no mindreader. But he could see that Joan wasn't enjoying this trip into town.

Why is she edging away? he wondered. Then he saw the newspaper headline—"Hotter weather here—look out for 'B. O.'"

Body odor—was that his trouble? Read Bill's own answer.

"Tricky 'B. O.' It fooled me all right.

"Yes, I perspired. But in a healthy normal way. I didn't notice any unpleasantness.

"Now I realize that we become insensitive to ever-present odors; that pores constantly give off odor-causing waste—as much as a quart a day; and the hotter the weather—the more we offend.

Keeps perspiration odorless

"So it's Lifebuoy for me always—and no 'B.O.' worries. Its purifying lather keeps the body fresher. Even removes cigarette odors from the fingers.

"We all think Lifebuoy's a fine skin soap, too—and a real safeguard against disease germs. Lifebuoy's pleasant, extra-clean scent that vanishes as you rinse, tells you it purifies."

FOR BRILLIANT TEETH AND CORAL GUMS

NATURALLY you want to preserve sound teeth and healthy gums. Then you must guard The Danger Line. For it is in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line, where teeth and gums meet, that the acids are formed which cause the most dangerous forms of tooth decay and gum irritations.

Squibb's Dental Cream, because it contains more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, neutralizes the acids in those crevices which no toothbrush can reach. It brings the protection you need. And it is particularly suited to keeping teeth white and lustrous. Millions have found that it solves for good the problem of proper mouth hygiene. 40c for a large tube—everywhere.

SURPLUS IN TAX RESTS ON JUNE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—With but 24 days remaining of the 1929 fiscal year, Treasury experts who have predicted there would be a surplus of at least $100,000,000 in the government revenues this year, are looking to the June income tax payments to double that figure.

For the fiscal year to date there is a deficit of $158,766,958, as total expenditures have amounted to $3,440,983,135 while receipts have aggregated $3,282,216,176, but if the June income tax payments approximate those of March, when the total was $86,000,000 above that for March of 1928, the deficit will be more than wiped out.

Income tax payments in June last year totaled $458,102,000, a decrease of $57,000,000 over March of the previous year. Treasury experts expect that the decrease will be smaller this year due to the greater individual prosperity in 1928, but point out that even with the same decrease the payments would total $544,000,000, which would leave a surplus of $185,000,000.

Income tax payments last March reached a new high record of $601,000,000. While it was conceded that many of the taxpayers in the lower brackets paid their entire tax in March, experts say that the total of such payments would amount only to a few million dollars.

Despite the rosy prospects for a much larger surplus than was indicated earlier in the year when President Coolidge warned departments to cut down their expenditures, appropriations yet to be made by Congress that may have to be paid this month and the retroactive mail rate increases, may operate to curtail appreciably the indicated surplus. Treasury officials expect that the mail rate increases totaling about $50,000,000, approved by the Supreme Court, will be paid before the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

BRIDE, 14, TALKS TO SAVE MATE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 6.—(AP.)—Her hair hanging in a mass that reached below her waist, Violet Willmot, 14, bride of Walter E. Willmot, testified in Kanawha County Court yesterday in defense of her husband charged with murder.

She told of the honeymoon trip which began in Elizabeth, N. J., and ended near Charleston with the slaying of Frank Bowen, proprietor of a mountain-top filling station. Their automobile, she said, needed repairs and Millard Morrison, their companion and owner of the machine, said he was going "to get a car." Her husband, she testified, declared he "would not drive such a car."

Despite Willmot's objections, she told the jury, an automobile was halted near Charleston and Morrison and her husband, who had acted as chauffeur on their trip, entered it, leaving her in their disabled car. They returned a few moments later, she said, and transferred their baggage into the new automobile. While driving away from their abandoned car, she said Morrison told her, "We will drive along the river where it is deep because it will take the body three days to come up." The body, carried in the automobile under an overcoat, was that of Frank Bowen, owner of the car. Morrison has been convicted and sentenced to be hanged on September 13 for the slaying.

Arguments to the jury were started late yesterday.

500 More Register For Charter Vote

Registration day yesterday in the third class cities of Allegheny County—McKeesport, Clairton and Duquesne—added approximately 500 new voters who will be entitled to pass on the metropolitan charter at the special election on June 25, preliminary reports to the Board of Registration Commissioners indicated today. Those who voted in the presidential election were not required to register.

Pimples and Blackheads Affected Face. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble began with pimples and blackheads that affected my face. The pimples were in blotches and very red. They itched and burned and nothing seemed to relieve them. The trouble lasted about eight weeks.

"I tried other remedies but they did not help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after three applications the pimples started to dry up and disappear. I continued using them and in about three or four weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Jessie Donmoyer, 203 N. 5th St., Allentown, Pa., Aug. 22, 1928.

Mystery Blasts Rock Buildings Downtown

The source of three explosions, which early today, caused downtown buildings to vibrate, was a mystery to police and firemen, although it was believed they were dynamite blasts at some construction project.

The three explosions occurred between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. A check of operations at the Monument Hill, which is being razed, and at the old Clinton mill in Carson street, where foundations are being removed, revealed that no blasting was being done at either place this morning.

The Vast Expanse of the Lakes Your Holiday Ground

THREE giant liners S.S. "Noronic", "Hamonic" and "Huronic", put out to sea every week from Detroit and cruise to distant Duluth and back. These vessels were built upon the lakes and are far too large to ever sail out of them, although they just manage to pass through the great locks at Sault Ste. Marie.

These "Soo" locks are one of the sights of the trip. There you land for awhile and also at Sarnia and Canada's famous twin cities, Port Arthur and Fort William and, of course, at Duluth. There is pleasure ashore—picnics, drives or golf—and pleasant companions eager to enjoy things with you.

Life on shipboard is one long round of pleasure, entertainment and novelty. There is dancing every evening to a splendid orchestra, tea served in the afternoon in the luxurious lounge, wonderful meals and tramps around long decks with a sea breeze in your face to give you an appetite. A real cruise on a real ship — and you'll count each day left for enjoyment before steaming at last to the home dock.

Seven days on the inland seas, Huron and Superior, is the finest tonic in the world. Come along this season and be one of a happy ship's company.

Sailings from Brush Street Dock, Detroit, 11 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

SHRINER, LOST IN HILLS, SAFE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 6.—(INS.)—R. A. House, a Shriner from Toledo, today was safe in Los Angeles after wandering for hours in the mountains near here. He became lost when he attempted to walk from Mt. Lowe to the summit of San Gabriel Peak.

The Shriners will select their convention city for 1930 today, with Atlantic City and Toronto contesting for the honor.

Leo Youngsworth, of Los Angeles, was elected imperial potentate of the organization yesterday. Others elected by the imperial council included Walter Sugden, Sistersville, Va., outer guard, and James H. Price, Richmond, Va., re-elected imperial reporter.

With the exception of Frank Jones, of Houston, who retires after a year as imperial potentate, all of the other Shrine officers, in accordance with the customs of the order, moved up an office.

Individual donations of $165,000 toward the Shrine hospitals for crippled children were announced by the board of trustees. A recommendation to the Imperial Council that $800,000 additional appropriations for the extension of hospital facilities be added to the $1,250,000 annual appropriation was made by the trustees.

BOOS, CHEERS IN DRY DEBATE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—In the presence of an audience which gave vent to its feelings with hissing, booing, jeering and cheering, Clarence Darrow, attorney, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, have told Washington what they think about prohibition.

They debated last night the question: "Resolved, That prohibition is right in principle, a success in practice, and should be enforced." Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, presiding, said Senator Fess, of Ohio, who was to have spoken in the affirmative, had "become suddenly ill."

Dr. Wilson was interrupted a number of times during his appeal for prohibition with expressions of disagreement from the audience.

Mr. Darrow's argument was greeted with prolonged applause.

McKirdy was chairman and W. Heber Dithrich, toastmaster. James Francis Burke delivered the principal address and presented Mr. Lyon a portrait in oils. It was a picture of Mr. Lyon himself.

Seated at the speakers' table, all of whom spoke eulogistically of Mr. Lyon, were S. B. Robison, M. G. Leslie, Joseph G. Armstrong, Judge J. A. Evans, E. V. Babcock, Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County; Mayor Charles H. Kline, Judge James B. Drew, ex-Judge J. Norman Martin, of Lawrence County, and Samuel McClay.

Firemen Aid Fight To Save Nurse's Life

WHEELING, W. Va., June 6.—(AP.)—Efforts to save the life of Miss Bessie Smith, a nurse, ill with pneumonia, were made today with firemen administering oxygen. When the local fire department's oxygen supply neared depletion, three tanks were borrowed from the Steubenville, O., department. Firemen joined physicians in battling for the life of the young woman.

Southern Democrats Balk At 'Harmony' Dinner

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—Calling of a dinner for Democrats here next week in honor of Jouett Shouse, newly named assistant of Chairman John J. Raskob, of the national committee, has developed some signs of discontent in the party ranks in the Southland.

Several Democratic senators from the South have said they have "other engagements" on the night of the dinner.

Mr. Raskob will be one of the speakers at the affair, which has been organized by the Jefferson Democratic Association of Washington.

Few of the senators who will be absent have given any reason for their absence. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, who resigned as Democratic national committeeman for his state after Raskob was named chairman, did describe the dinner, however, as "very inopportune, and instead of bringing about the desired harmony is likely to have the contrary effect."

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, whose state was in the Democratic column again in the presidential election, said he was not going to the dinner and did not care to make a statement about it, "in the interests of party harmony."

Senators Swanson and Glass, of Virginia, have made other arrangements for the night on which the dinner will be held. The same is true of Senator Harris, of Georgia.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader and the running mate of Alfred E. Smith, is not in the city and it is not known whether he will be here for the dinner.

Other Democratic leaders are making no comment.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure covers the Ohio valley and the Atlantic Coast states this morning and the skies are mostly clear throughout that area. The western low pressure area covers the Plateau and Rocky Mountain states, with centers over New Mexico and Idaho. Pressure is relatively low also over Minnesota and northward over Western Ontario. Cloudy weather prevails over the Plains states and showers and thunderstorms occurred nearly everywhere from South Dakota to Texas. The rainfall was light. The temperature continues below the seasonal normal.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.5 feet; Dam No. 2, 7.9; Dam No. 6, 8.4; Dam No. 9, 9.0, and Dam No. 12, 5.3. The dams are up.

MILK, ICE FUND AGAIN OPEN

Once again the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is opening its columns in behalf of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Milk and Ice Association. It is scarcely necessary to recall the magnificent piece of civic work which this organization, now more than a quarter of a century old, has done for Pittsburgh. By furnishing certified milk for babies whose parents cannot afford it, by keeping rigid and accurate record of the infants' progress and by assisting in the medical and hygienic care of the little ones, the health standard of the city has been notably raised.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph maintains, through the summer, as did the Sun and the Chronicle-Telegraph before it, a fund that is supported largely by children of the city and suburbs. The many and varied benefits which these boys and girls plan and carry out afford a safe vent for youthful energy and furnish lessons in the most practical kind of philanthropy.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund is ready to accept your contribution for the babies.

Immigrant Girl Studies Law, Degree at 63

CHICAGO, June 6.—(AP.)—It is never too late to learn for Mrs. Minna Schmidt, once a penniless immigrant girl from Germany, who tonight, at the age of 63, will receive her master's degree in law.

For eight years Mrs. Schmidt has been attending night classes at the Kent College of Law—five nights a week most of the time. It wasn't as though she had to, for from her beginning in poverty she has risen to the head of a $1,000,000 costume business and an Evanston estate.

Edison Lamp Stamp Buyers Swamp Tiny Postoffice

MENLO PARK, N. J., June 6.—(AP.)—The postoffice in the cottage of Postmaster James Shepard in this small borough yesterday did more business than it would normally do in 30 years.

The natives of this community, which consists of not more than 35 houses, stood around in wonderment as thousands of persons from all over the United States swarmed in and around the postoffice to purchase some of the new Edison electric light fiftieth anniversary memorial stamps.

During the first half-hour of the public sale more than $1,000 worth of stamps were sold.

BABY MAILS FIRST

May Ann Peins, 2-year-old daughter of Rudolph Peins, one of Edison's pioneers, mailed the first three stamps to Thomas A. Edison, President Hoover and Henry Ford. The first package mailed with the new stamps was sent to Mr. Edison at Fort Myers, Fla., and contained the master die of the stamp.

One of the first purchasers of stamps was William Bogan, of Metuchen, 70 years old, who was one of the original Edison men of 50 years ago. Bogan was a glass blower and exhaled the air for the third lamp made which proved successful.

Yesterday a celebration took place on the little park in which stands the monument erected last year to mark the site of the Edison workshops of 1879 and the house in which the inventor lived while conducting his experiments.

SING NEW SONG

The inventor was not present, but his son, Charles, was kept busy throughout the day autographing post cards.

School children of Raritan Township sang a song written for the occasion by George M. Cohan. Later they laid a huge wreath of peonies in the shape of a bulb on the Edison monument.

The celebration was one of the events in the golden jubilee of light which will last until October 21, the actual date of the perfection of the incandescent bulb.

Pullman Porters' Wages Increased

CHICAGO, June 6.—(INS.)—George the porter's "Yassuh" seemed heartier today; he exposed a few extra teeth when he smiled. Announcement by the Pullman Company of a $5 a month wage increase was the reason. Twelve thousand porters and maids are affected by the boost, effective as of June 1.

Question Mark's Engine Goes To Museum

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—One of the "Whirlwind" engines used by the Army monoplane, Question Mark, on its recent refueling endurance flight, was donated today by Secretary Good to the Smithsonian Institution for exhibition in the National Museum.

The engines, which were used on the Question Mark's 150¼-hour flight at San Diego, Cal., now are at Wright Field, Dayton, O., and the one given to the institution will be immediately shipped to the Smithsonian.

SEA-IMPERILED PLANES TESTED

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., June 6.—(INS.)—Mechanics of the Green Flash and the Yellow Bird were to examine both monoplanes this morning to determine whether the trans-Atlantic planes were damaged by the waves which threatened to engulf them last night on the sands of Old Orchard Beach. The undercarriages of both planes were partly submerged by an unusually high tide, which came up without warning.

The Old Orchard fire alarm was sounded when the danger was discovered and public spirited citizens, donning rubber boots, rushed to the hangar and pulled the planes from their precarious position.

Even if the planes were undamaged, the start of the flights to Paris and Rome cannot be made before tomorrow morning. The weather was still unfavorable today.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey planned to make another test flight today.

JOB FOR COTTON IN DOUBT

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—A quick Senate confirmation of Joseph P. Cotton, New York attorney, to be under secretary of state, yesterday provoked a demand later for reconsideration and the nomination was returned to the Senate calendar.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, asked reconsideration almost five hours after it had been put through without debate or roll call and in open session. The Montanan said he wanted time to consider some questions which had been raised in connection with Cotton's record.

Chairman Borah, of the Foreign Relations Committee, reported the nomination of Mr. Cotton to the Senate at the outset of the session and within a few minutes afterward committee approval had been accorded.

Preparations for Cotton's induction into office had been begun at the State Department with word of his having been confirmed.

The nomination probably will be brought up again today.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Why not try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today?

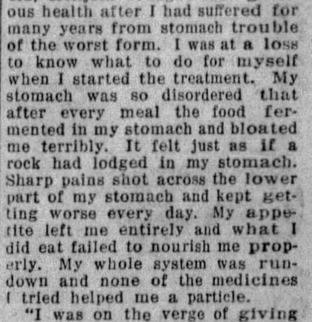
MAN, 80, ILL FOR FIVE YEARS; THEN KONJOLA SCORED

Used Famous Medicine Five Days and Was Improved—Short Treatment Made Him Well Again

One of the interesting—and certainly valuable properties of Konjola, the new and different medicine, is the way it performs when pitted against the obstinate cases of long standing; ills that held on and on, with bulldog tenacity, as all other medicines tried brought failure.



MR. J. W. SIMPSON

How Konjola does such things—how its victories are reported day by day are possible—is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. His mission is not primarily to sell Konjola, but, as man to man, as friend to friend, to tell just how this amazing medicine works, its seeming wonders to perform. First, he will explain how Konjola's 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—go after the cause of the ailment. Then he will tell how poisons and impurities are swept from the body; how organs are cleansed and stimulated; how room is made for the return of health. Learn from him of the happiness that this master compound has brought into a suffering world. Then decide what you will do about Konjola. Is not the experience of Mr. J. W. Simpson, R. D. No. 2, Gibsonia, Pa., a short distance from Pittsburgh, encouraging to all who suffer? Read what he said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"Although I am eighty years old, Konjola brought back glorious health after I had suffered for many years from stomach trouble of the worst form. I was at a loss to know what to do for myself when I started the treatment. My stomach was so disordered that after every meal the food fermented in my stomach and bloated me terribly. It felt just as if a rock had lodged in my stomach. Sharp pains shot across the lower part of my stomach and kept getting worse every day. My appetite left me entirely and what I did eat failed to nourish me properly. My whole system was rundown and none of the medicines I tried helped me a particle.

"I was on the verge of giving up and resigning myself to a lifetime of suffering, when Konjola was recommended. How happy I am that I took this advice, for Konjola put an end to the misery, even at my age. Why, within five days I improved—the relief was most remarkable. Just as I was told it would do, this new medicine attacked my troubles at their source. Quickly the indigestion vanished, and as the poisons were swept away I felt better all over. The gas bloating has disappeared and I never have any more pains. I feel stronger and more energetic and know the relief is lasting. It is a well and happy man that pays this tribute to Konjola."

So it goes, wherever Konjola is given a chance to prove its worth. It means much for sufferers to know that three carloads of Konjola were sold in three weeks in one city. A medicine has to be a real medicine to make a record like that.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

PIRATES DETERMINED TO HOLD LEAD

The Nice Boys and That Bad Little Boy, Io-way — By McGurk

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Record for Slab Wins. Grimes Needs Ten More. Klaus Is Rated Fourth. | Harris Picks Pirates. Slide Ball New Pitch. De Mar Refuses to Quit.

FOUR-CORNERED FLAG FIGHT LOOMS

BESIDES celebrating the Pirates' recapture of first place in the National League pennant race through the defeat suffered by the Cardinals yesterday while the Bushmen were loafing, local fans have begun to speculate as to how long Burleigh Grimes will be able to keep up his winning streak, which the spitball star has now extended to nine games.

Rube Marquard.

Several queries have been received as to how many more victories Grimes will be required to hang up to equal the major league record. Burleigh needs 10 additional triumphs to equal the best standing mark. That record is 19 in a row, held jointly by Tim Keefe, of the old-time Giants, and Rube Marquard, who pitched for the same club in later years. Keefe established the mark in 1888, and it stood for 24 years before Marquard equaled it in 1912. Keefe did it in little more than half the time consumed by Marquard. Tim's streak extended from June 23 to August 10, or 49 days, while Marquard's ran from April 11 to July 3, or 84 days.

SEVERAL other notable winning streaks have been put over by major league pitchers. Al Spalding had a string of 24 and another of 22 for Boston in the National Association in 1875, but these are not accepted as comparing with shorter runs under the changed conditions of later seasons.

Charley Radbourne won 18 in a row for Providence in 1884; Mickey Welch turned in 17 in a row for the Giants in 1886; Jack Luby won 17 for the Chicago Nationals in 1890, and Jim McCormick, later a member of the Pittsburgh club, won 16, for the Chicago Nationals in 1886.

IN 1912, Marquard's big year, both Walter Johnson, of the Washington Americans, and Smoky Joe Wood, of the Boston Americans, captured 16 in succession, Wood's string including six shutouts and two extra-inning games. Jack Chesbro, one-time Pirate, won 14 for the New York Americans in 1904, and Ed Reulbach equaled that total for the Chicago Nationals in 1909.

The record for consecutive games lost in a season is 19, charged against John Nabors of the Philadelphia Americans in 1916. The closest approach to this was 14, lost by Fred Bates of the Cleveland Nationals in 1899.

Georges Carpentier.

FRANK KLAUS, native of the Pittsburgh district and former middleweight champion of the world, who was recognized as the title-holder until George Chip knocked him out in the sixth round of a bout here on October 11, 1913, Chip repeating the trick in five rounds in another local bout on December 23 of the same year, is rated by Georges Carpentier as the fourth greatest fighter the Frenchman ever met. Klaus won on a foul over Carpentier in the nineteenth round of a battle in Dieppe, France, on June 24, 1912. Frank also defeated Marcel Moreau and M. Boine in French rings later, and on March 5, 1913, cinched his right to the title by winning from Billy Papke on a foul in 15 rounds in Paris. Carpentier says his battle with Klaus was one of the toughest he ever fought.

LOOKING back over his fistic career, Georges tried to figure out how many times he had appeared in the ring, starting as a flyweight at the age of 14 and going through the various divisions until he got a shot at the heavyweight championship against Jack Dempsey in Jersey City on July 2, 1921. Dempsey knocked him out in the fourth round.

The Frenchman estimated that he had engaged in more than 200 fights. Ranking the fighters he had fought he placed them in the following order: Dempsey, Joe Jeannette, Billy Papke, Klaus, Willie Lewis, Harry Lewis, Gene Tunney, Mike Gibbons, Battling Levinsky and Tommy Loughran. "Tunney couldn't punch," said Carpentier.

FIRST AWARDS MADE BY JUDGES

Entries from the Hartwood Farms, Glenshaw, Pa., owned by John W. Lawrence, annexed three awards in the first six events of the annual Allegheny Country Club horse show, which opened this morning on the club's grounds in Sewickley Heights.

Pridita, Hartwood Farms entry, and Miss Jane, entered by George H. Calvert, were horses to win awards in two different competitions.

The show, which is to continue until Saturday evening, with morning and afternoon programs arranged for each day, attracted a big crowd of fanciers of equine aristocracy, and indications are that it will be one of the most successful in the history of the event.

Approximately 250 entries, representing nine states and Canada, are on the grounds. Prize winners in six classes were announced at the conclusion of the morning program, as follows:

Breeding class, 2-year-olds and under, suitable to become hunters—Won by Pridita, Hartwood Farm; William, Red Gate Farm, second; Welbeck Lad, Miss Gretchen V. Schoonmaker, third; Charlemode, Hartwood Farm, fourth.

Breeding class, 3-year-olds and under, suitable to become saddle horses—Won by Mountain Squirrel, Dr. S. B. Smith; Not Named, C. G. Wilderson, second; Miss Jane, George H. Calvert, third; Hot Shot, Mrs. James McKay, fourth.

Breeding class, 3-year-olds and under, suitable to become hunters—Won by Melton, Rolling Rock Farms; Dermott, David L. McCahill, second; Pridita, Hartwood Farm, third; Ginger Belle, Hartwood Farm, fourth.

Breeding class, yearlings—Won by Miss Jane, George H. Calvert; Blue Moon, T. McKee Graham, second; Allanbrook, R. T. M. McCready, third.

Model saddle horses—Won by Belle Royal, Dixiana Farm; Romany Acres, Alexander Acres, second; Whispering Willow, Miss Jane Fiers, third; Margery Dare, Alex Robinson, fourth.

Model hunters, lightweight—Won by Holy River, Rolling Rock Farms; Long Prince, Parkwood Stables, second; Red Roberts, Rolling Rock Farms, third; Burman, Albert J. Davis, fourth.

BUTLER BEATEN BY GUNNERS

Those amazing Canonsburg Gunners added another victim to their impressive list in the Inter-County League last night, walloping Butler at Butler by a 9 to 5 score. They hopped on Ripper for four runs in the first inning and were never headed.

The J. J. Boyles won a close 6 to 5 victory over the Mt. Washington C. M. C. team in the Central League last night, a two-run rally in the seventh inning turning the trick. In the Crafton Church League, Hawthorne defeated Ingram 9 to 6.

In the Gimbel Minor League, the Whittaker Juniors won from the St. Joachim Club, 7 to 2, and in the Central Pittsburgh League, the Iroquois downed the F. W. Scott nine, 4 to 3, and the Doelfels won a fast 3 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Typos.

Kokinos Cards trimmed the Sheridan M. E. outfit 16 to 0 in the Ohio Valley League. The Hemsley sluggers walloped the Johnsons 10 to 4 in a Wagner Junior League fracas.

St. Vincent's College bowed to the Homestead Grays in an abbreviated contest at Beatty, Pa., 7 to 2, in five innings. The Y. M. H. A. continued its winning streak, downing the Furuckers 11 to 5. The Cosletts won from the J. A. Lineys, 8 to 6.

Jimmy Cronin To Join Macks

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(AP.)—Jimmy Cronin, infielder now with the Portland Club of the Pacific Coast League, will join the Philadelphia Athletics probably late next week. He comes here in a trade whereby Joe Hassler, of the Athletics, goes to Portland. It is understood that Portland also receives some cash.

Sweet Verbena Wins Feature at Belmont

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—Sweet Verbena, the Lone Star Stable's 3-year-old filly, yesterday won the Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park. Mrs. F. A. Clark's Aquastella, was second and W. L. Hernstadt's Golden Anger, third.

Victory in the mile and three-eighths race for 3-year-old fillies was worth $16,625 to the Lone Star Stable in addition to the $200 cup.

SCHOOL TITLE MEET TODAY

Junior and senior high school athletes will vie today on the Schenley High School Field for the city's track and field championships. Twelve schools, the best four in each of the three districts, will compete. Events will get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

The program includes 20 events, final tests following last week's qualifying meets throughout the city. The junior division also will include several grade school events, with the seniors' events open.

RECORDS MAY FALL

Pittsburgh scholastic track and field records are expected to be given a real test this afternoon when the cream of the city's athletes go at it hammer and tongs for the coveted titular honors.

It appears that Cooper of Westinghouse has a fine chance of upsetting the present high jump mark. In the W. P. I. A. L. championships he jumped six feet three inches and followed it up by adding the National scholastic title to his laurels by recording a leap of six feet two inches at Chicago last Saturday.

CARTER IN CENTURY

Carter and Parham, of Schenley; Milligan and Eberts, of Peabody, and Shaltenbrand, Westinghouse, and Hamill, of Oliver, figure to make a great race out of the 100-yard dash. Fleming, Westinghouse; Medick, Peabody, and Jackson, Schenley, are favorites in the 220.

The school boy stars qualified for today's meet at the sectional carnivals staged May 22, 23 and 24.

U. S. Cup Players Sail for Europe

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—The main body of the United States Davis cup team, composed of John Hennessey of Indianapolis; John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, of Fort Worth, Tex., the playing members, and Fitz-Eugene Dixon, of Philadelphia, the non-playing captain, sailed for England on the Berengaria early today.

They are due to reach Southampton early next week. The players will compete in the all-England championships at Wimbledon and in a match against a Spanish team in Barcelona before the inter-zone final of the Davis cup competition.

Fight Results

At Philadelphia—Kid Chocolate defeated Vidal Gregorio, 10 rounds; George Courtney defeated Jack McVey, 10 rounds; Billy Wallace defeated Bruce Flowers, 10 rounds; Baby Joe Gans defeated Pinkey Kaufman, 10 rounds.

At Mitchel Field, N. Y.—Harry (K. O.) Ferry defeated Walter Peters, 10 rounds.

YERX ELECTED LEAGUE HEAD

By TOM BIRKS.

Harry Yerx, well known Bellevue baseball man, was elected president of the City League at a regular meeting of the loop held last night. Yerx succeeds the writer, who resigned the post. The managers gave the retiring president a vote of thanks. A special meeting will be held next Wednesday when President Yerx will be in the chair.

The J. L. Thomas Club, of Bloomfield, will endeavor to regain its stride this evening at the expense of Bill Bright's Verona club. The game will be played at Dean Field. Anderson or Bahr will do the twirling for the Zappa aggregation, while Bloomfield fans are hoping to see Powley, the Verona ace, in action.

On Saturday the Thomas club will invade the Reinecker stronghold, meeting Collette's City Leaguers, while on Sunday the J. J. Boyles will be played. The management is booking games for at home and abroad. Write A. Zappa, 224 Edmond street, or call Schenley 9721.

FANS MARVEL AT RABBIT

Everybody who saw Walter Maranville yesterday marvelled at his condition. The veteran of many a campaign acutally looks younger than he did five years ago and his own mates insist that he is playing the best ball of his career. Rab's extensive experience gives him a big edge and this coupled with his unusual intuition makes it possible for him to figure out things that would be far beyond the average infielder. Top this off with one of his best years at the plate and you have a fair-to-middlin' ball-player.

GIANTS IN STRIDE

The Giants, with four victories in five battles on hostile Western soil, seem to be on the warpath in full paint. Not so long ago the New Yorkers were taking lickings with regularity. At that time it was felt that if they could not subdue the comparatively weak East they would not get very far in the West. Yet they have been battling with flag contenders since they left New York and the credit side of their ledger shows a big balance.

The return to the bench of Manager McGraw probably bolstered up a weakening club. On paper the Giants stand out as one of the league's best clubs and during the Spring training period they had a lot of class. Now that the race has settled down to a long grind you doubtless will be hearing a lot from the Men of McGraw.

TRADE WINDS BLOW

The trade winds appear to be blowing in the National League. The close proximity of June 15 makes many a player anxious. It was Earl Smith, colorful catcher who once described the situation, aright.

"A lot of the boys will sit up until midnight on the fifteenth to make sure they have not been swapped," said Earl.

To more than one Pirate, Smith's observation has significance. The local team tried to make a deal with Boston for Eddie Farrell, but something developed that upset the negotiation. There are 10 days left, however, and a lot of things can happen in that time.

Bob Krape, Kerston Draw Suspensions

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(AP.)—Suspension of a number of boxers was announced last night by the State Athletic Commission. They included the following:

Bob Krape, Pittsburgh, suspended indefinitely for unsatisfactory service at Washington, Pa., on May 27; Albert Musilli, Benwood, W. Va., suspended until he produces a birth certificate; George Kerston, McKeesport, Pa., suspended indefinitely for failing to honor his contract with McKeesport club, on May 28.

Billy Bevan, Scranton, suspended indefinitely for failure to get into condition for his recent bouts. Jerry Eello, Newark, N. J., suspended indefinitely and his purse of $35 forfeited for "stalling" in a bout at Dunmore, Pa., May 27. Michael Suppy (Mickey Chapin), Scranton, suspended for 60 days for fouling his opponent at Dunmore, May 27.

Foxx Wallops Lone Hit for Big Six

With Babe Ruth still ill and Paul Waner checked by rain, the Bix Six operated with just half of its members yesterday. Jimmy Foxx delivered the lone blow, a double, but his average shed four points to .410. Hornsby dropped eight points to .331, while Gehrig plunged seven to .319 and fell to sixth place behind Ruth.

The standing:

INITIAL ENTRIES IN FOR JUNIOR TOURNEY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The entries for the second annual Western Pennsylvania junior amateur golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, to be held under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on the Schenley Park municipal links, Thursday, July 11, have started rolling in.

John Slocum.

The first entry to reach the Golf Tournament Editor was that of John Slocum, 16, 6351 Douglas avenue, who captured third prize in the junior division last year. Slocum tied for the place with a 70, and then captured the playoff with an 81.

"I took third place last year," writes John, "but this year, it's first or bust!"

That's the right spirit. The entries are rolling in heavily, and indications are that the field will exceed the total entry of last year.

MUST BE UNDER 18

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's tournament is being conducted for all amateur golfers 18 years of age and under, not attending classes above high school grades. Caddies who will not attain their sixteenth birthday on or before July 11 are eligible to participate, but they must take note of the fact that a preliminary qualifying round is to

BUSH TO USE KREMER ON HILL TODAY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Now that they are out in front again in the great National League sweepstakes, the Pirates today could see no valid reason for not holding to the honor post for an indefinite period. The Braves may furnish stiff opposition through the next two afternoons, yet the Oakland outfit is in rare shape for battle, so they should be able to make some appreciable gains at the expense of the Braves, not to mention what they should do to the Dodgers, who follow the Tribe into town.

Although they were idle yesterday on account of rain, the Buccos vaulted into first place, thanks to the valiant Men of McGraw, who came from behind to defeat the Cardinals. True, the first-place advantage of the Pirates is small, but it is there, nevertheless.

KREMER STILL CHOICE

Manager Bush of the Buccos announced this morning that his slab selection for yesterday would stand. Remy Kremer, then, will get a chance to throw back the Evers-Maranville-Gowdy combination which will be making its first appearance of the season in the Oakland Orchard.

Acting Manager Evers, in charge of the Braves, is likely to rely upon one of his southpaw pitchers. He has Percy Jones and Eddie Brandt in prime condition for a diamond quarrel.

Now that Paul Waner has reached his normal stride at the plate, and with Adam Comorosky going along in a sensational clip, there is not much wrong with the Pittsburgh club offensive. The Polish Flier is the leading hitter among the regulars of the club and he is one of the best base runners in the league.

BUCS IMPRESSIVE

At the present time the Pirates look just about as impressive as any club in the game, yet there is room for improvement, and with this idea in view the home management is looking for a chance to put over a deal ere June 15 arrives. That date is the time limit for deals, exclusive of waiver transactions. Naturally there are a few players apprehensive over their immediate future in the game.

It is probable that the Pittsburgh club is trying to do business with the Boston management. Other teams, too, are said to be showing activity, in fact, the trade winds may blow up quite a few things in the next 10 days.

SALO GAINS GROUND

MESA, Ariz., June 6.—(AP.)—Johnny Salo, the fleet-footed cop of Passaic, N. J., increased his lead in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby by almost an hour yesterday in the sixty-seventh lap, running the 51 miles from Superior, Ariz., to Mesa in 6:34:55. Salo beat Pete Gavuzzi, bewhiskered Italian of England, by 59 minutes 53 seconds.

ATLANTA SOLD

ATLANTA, June 6.—(AP.)—Sale of the Atlanta Baseball Club of the Southern Association to Clark C. Griffith, president of the Washington American League Baseball Club, was announced late last night by Rell J. Spiller, president of the Atlanta organization. The transfer will take place June 14.

HERRERA GIVEN WIDE BERTH BY STARS

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Tony Herrera, the Mexican lightweight puncher, of Chicago, who meets Phil Goldstein, of the Hill and New York, in the main bout in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night, is not the easiest boxer in the world for whom to secure opponents, according to Jules Beck, matchmaker of the bowl, who reveals the fact that he negotiated with the managers of King Tut, Tommy Grogan, Bruce Flowers, Luis Vicentini, Phil McGraw and others before he finally lined up Goldstein for the event. Tony weighs only around 130 pounds, but he bars no one up to 135, and boasts two knockout victories over Ray Newton and has stopped Herman Perlick and won over Armando Santiago, who knocked out Joey Sanger and Honey Boy Finnegan. Other victims include Frankie Ferro and Midget Kilburn. Herrera is a six footer and a swift-moving, tricky, two-fisted performer.

Tony Herrera.

A copy of a corking book containing the life story of Jack Dempsey, "the Idol of Fistiana," written by Nat Fleischer, former sports editor of New York newspapers and now editor and publisher of The Ring, the boxing publication, is at hand for review. It is lavishly illustrated with photographs and cartoons and includes round-by-round descriptions of all of the Manassa Mauler's important battles. It will make interesting reading for all boxing fans. The Ring Publishing Company, of 11 West Forty-second street, New York, is the publisher. The book sells for $2, plus mailing charges.

NEGRO BOXERS STAR

Negro boxers are coming back into their own as a class, judging from the consistency with which they are winning over white opponents. On Monday night, for instance, while Jack McVey was beating Osk Till and Harry Williams was winning over Stanley Simmons at the Meyers Bowl in Braddock, George Godfrey was stopping Jimmy Byrne at Philadelphia, Gorilla Jones was knocking out Al Mello in Boston and Leo Williams was stopping Harry Fay in New York.

This Harry Williams, by the way, is a rare prospect, if his work against Simmons may be taken as a criterion, and it probably was a fair sample of his stuff, for he also claims victories over Joe Anderson, of Cincinnati, Tut Jackson and Garfield Johnson among others. He is only 20 years old, and, with his natural boxing class and clean hitting with both hands, should go far.

The Willie Davies-Frisco Grande fight at the Auditorium in Johnstown tonight will mark the close of the indoor boxing season in the Flood City, future shows being billed at the Point Stadium, an outdoor arena. Ken Hargraves meets Lew Sanders in a preliminary tonight.

RAMIES TO BOX RUDY

Dick Ramies, of California, who recently boxed Jack Zivic at Canton and since then has won on a foul over Larry Brignolia, knocked out Al Wolgast and beaten Lefty Cooper, has been signed by Matchmaker Ray Foutts to box Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the main bout of the opening show in the dancing pavilion at Junction Park, New Brighton, next Thursday night. Freddie Edwards will box Eddie Anderson and Johnny Smackey will oppose Lou Sanders in the six-round preliminaries and Ted Yarocz, of Monaca, will turn pro against Jackie King and Nick Malone will box Young Jacobs in the two four-round events.

Al Singer boxes Leo (Kid) Roy, of Canada, and Al Ridgeway meets Pete Nebo in 10-round bouts at the New York Coliseum tonight. Ray Miller and Billy Petrolle clash in a return bout in Detroit, where Miller won an unpopular decision in their first clash.

BELMONT VS. MADGE

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, has been signed to box Larry Madge, of Cleveland, in the second bout of eight rounds in the Meyers Brothers Bowl next Monday night, with Jackie Rodgers meeting Eddie Burl in the first 10-rounder and Phil Goldstein and Tony Herrera on top. A six-round preliminary will round out the bill.

Four amateur bouts are listed at a smoker of the Knights of Columbus in Sharpsburg tonight as follows: Joe Sampson vs. Jim Bell at 112 pounds, Mose Butch vs. Louis Santucci at 118, Billy Zwick vs. Dick Graham at 135 and Cowboy DeLuca vs. Andy Andrucci at 147. Billy Linder will act as referee.

LETTER FOR CROUSE

A letter awaits Buck Crouse, the former boxer, at this office.

Long's Sport Comment

He couldn't hurt you." But Dempsey, he would hurt you and lame you all over."

IT HAS been remarked once or twice that a ball game is never over until the last man is out. The Cubs demonstrated that that still holds good by the manner in which they escaped defeat at the hands of the Robins yesterday.

Buzz McWeeny had held them scoreless and given them only three hits in eight innings, but with one out and a man on first base in the ninth the Bruins pulled a last-minute rally, featured by Gabby Hartnetts' pinch-single, that gave them four runs and victory.

THE Bruins have won their last two games and may be finding themselves again after losing eight of 10 straight contests prior to Tuesday. The Giants meanwhile continue to speed along. They have won four of the first five games on their Western trip, and have lost only two of their last 12 engagements. With the Pirates keeping up their rush, and the Cards likely to stick among the leaders, a great four-club race is in prospect.

Bucky Harris.

BUCKY HARRIS, manager of the Tigers, who keeps a close watch on the National League race as on the fight in his own loop, announces that he likes the chances of the Pittsburgh club in the Heydler flag chase.

"The Pirates have speed and batting power," said Bucky who had a chance to study the Bucs and Cubs in the spring training season, "and they are getting the same great pitching from Grimes that we are getting from Uhle. It's a great ball club."

IN MENTIONING Uhle, Harris says the Tiger ace, who has won nine games against one defeat, has added something new to his stuff this year. "Of course, Uhle has everything, control and lots of stuff," says the Detroit manager, but he has a new one this season. You can call it a slide ball.

"It's neither a curve nor a fadeaway, but is a fast one that slides away from a right-hand hitter as the ball nears the plate. Uhle perfected it this spring. Sammy Gray, of the Browns, has something like it, and several of our pitchers are getting the hang of it, but Uhle is the only one getting real results."

KNOCKING out a man who gave Kid Chocolate the toughest fight of his life and held him to draw is one thing, but defeating Chocolate himself is another thing again. Vidal Gregorio's victory over Joe Scalfaro, who for half the route had looked like a winner over Chocolate several months ago, made Gregorio shape up as a dangerous opponent for the Cuban Negro in their bout at Philadelphia last night, but in the 10 rounds of battling the Kid kept his record clean by winning the decision. Incidentally, Chocolate was down to 120 pounds for this fight, the lowest weight he has made in some time, indicating that if necessary he could still make the bantam limit of 118 pounds after all.

Clarence DeMar.

WHILE it is true that a man who has risen to stardom in any sport finds it hard to give it up, even when he realizes that he is fading, it would appear that marathon running should be about the easiest of the lot from which to retire.

But, evidently, even that tough game has its fascination in spite of the strain it involves, and when a man has reached a stage at which he is considered done. Clarence DeMar, past 40, and adjudged through for all time when he made a poor showing in the last Boston marathon, has entered for the marathon to be run in Los Angeles on June 15 and will start for the coast next Saturday. Seemingly they never get over it.

Lou Meyer Entered In Altoona Grind

ALTOONA, Pa., June 6.—Lou Meyer, boyish American automobile racing champion for 1928, who, as an unknown, won the 500-mile Indianapolis classic last year, will drive in the 200-mile international classic at the local speedway a week from next Saturday.

Meyer's rise in the auto racing game was meteoric, and, while he failed to repeat this year at the Hoosier track, he is hopeful of adding to his laurels by winning the local 200-mile event.

Meyer appeared at Indianapolis last year in search of a car to drive. But he was quite and reserved, and attracted but little attention. Unable to get a position as driver of a car already entered in the race, he cast about for one to purchase.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 6.—(AP.)—Mike Roman, outfielder, released yesterday by the local team of the New York-Pennsylvania League, was signed last night by Manager Tillman for his Harrisburg team and wil start with the Senators today in Scranton.

Roman this afternoon received an offer to join the York Roses as utility man, but announced he preferred to remain an outfielder with Harrisburg instead of trying to cover third base for the Roses.

be held for them prior to the tournament.

Each country club throughout the district will have a qualifying round for eligible caddies, under the direction of the caddie-master, and eight boys will win places on each team. The four low scorers will represent their club in the fight for a special team championship cup, which is to be held by their club, while individual golf medals will be presented the winning team.

The qualifying round for caddies will be advantageous in two respects. First, it will cut the field to such an extent that entrants will be able to reach the top of their game without being pressed from behind by an overwhelming field, and, second, taking in consideration club members, only a few caddies will be drawn away from each club, permitting golfers to secure a bag-carrier on the day of the tournament if they wish to play.

CADDIES ELIGIBLE

It is necessary for all eligible caddies to enter the tournament through the regular channel, however, and the Golf Tournament Editor will work in conjunction with the caddie-masters in qualifying each team.

There is no playing or entry fee, but all entrants must provide their own clubs and balls.

City Council has set aside July 11 at Schenley Park for the tournament.

CARNEGIE LADY WAS FRIGHTENED

Feared Health Troubles Would Prove Fatal; Ten Herbs Ended Ailments.

If you want to feel the thrill of perfect health—freedom from stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness, or general debility—go today and get a bottle of Ten Herbs

MRS. B. F. CUNNINGHAM

at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where this famous preparation with the ten wonderful herbal ingredients is being introduced. Ten Herbs is the medicine that for more than a year has been helping local sufferers back to health after they had tried many other medicines in vain—you should know this, if you have been reading local newspapers

"I want to tell you the wonderful good Ten Herbs has done me," said Mrs. Bernard F. Cunningham, 104 Railroad Avenue, Carnegie, Pa. (near Pittsburgh). "For a long time my system had been in a very weak, rundown condition. Stomach trouble and constipation seemed to be the cause of most of my trouble. After eating, I had a heaviness in my stomach. Gas would form and cause my heart to palpitate. I had high blood pressure, and this, together with gas, frightened me, for I feared it would surely bring fatal results. I would get terribly dizzy. I was compelled to get up many times during the night. Finally my nerves became affected, and I could not sleep properly.

"I had not taken Ten Herbs more than a week when I felt better. My bowels became regular, and my stomach improved so much that I could eat without having that heaviness, gas, or heart palpitation. Dizzy spells left me, and I no longer had to arise at night. My nerves were wonderfully benefited and then I could get sound and refreshing sleep. I felt better in every respect—was like a different person. Ten Herbs has been such a great help to me that I gladly endorse your medicine to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's drug stores.

CLUB MUST MOVE

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 6.—The Moundsville Country Club may be forced to move from its prominent location. A 10-year lease, which expires July 3, was not renewed at the time specified and Dr. M. F. Compton, owner of the land, has notified club officials that the lease must be vacated.

PENN BEATS ORANGE

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania went on a batting spree yesterday and defeated Syracuse, 18 to 5, in a closely played game. Both teams made many misplays, but those of the Orange were more costly. Slaughter, Masters and Prager hit home runs for the Red and Blue.

GIANTS, YANKS, CUBS SCORE VICTORIES

By LES CONKLIN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Only 3½ games separate the league-leading Pirates from the fourth-place Giants in the National League scramble today, providing a four-cornered race close enough to make the turnstiles click merrily for many weeks to come. The Giants, who are furnishing most of the fireworks at present, knocked the Cardinals out of the lead yesterday while Pittsburgh was idle.

The same old gang is setting the pace in the Heydler circuit and indications are fast growing that the American League campaign will be another two-horse race between Philadelphia and New York. The Yanks, off on another team against the western clubs, won their fifth straight yesterday and took second place from the Browns, who were unable to stop the Athletics. The latter have yet to lose two games in succession this year.

YANKS WIN AGAIN

The Yanks, with Ruth, Meusel, Koenig and Lary out of the regular lineup, have not made an error nor lost a game since the club was shakenup, and not a single pitcher has been knocked out. They nosed out Cleveland in the twelfth yesterday, 6 to 5.

With his mates piling up a comfortable lead off Crowder, Rube Walberg of the Mackian machine held the Browns to four hits and won, 5 to 2. Cochrane and Miller hit homers for the A's and Kress and Melillo dittoed for the Browns.

Master Melvin Ott's twelfth homer of the season, coming with two on base, featured New York's 6-to-4 win over the Cardinals. Chick Hafey starred for the Cards with three hits, including his thirteenth homer.

Buzz McWeeny, of Brooklyn, blanked the Cubs for eight innings, but blew up in the ninth when the veteran Bancroft messed up two chances for double plays. A pinch hit by Gabby Hartnett gave Chicago a 4-to-3 edge.

TAIL-ENDERS STEP OUT

Both tail-enders, the Reds and the Red Sox, stepped out of character to put on a batting carnival. Scoring nine runs in the sixth, Cincinnati overwhelmed the Phillies, 21 to 4. Klein, the Phils' fence buster, kept the lead in the home run derby by cracking out No. 14. Cincinnati's 21 runs set a new high scoring total for the year in the National League.

In Boston's 17-to-2 slaughter of the White Sox, the Red Sox collected 23 hits for 39 bases and made nine consecutive hits in the eighth after two were out, scoring eight runs. Each Boston player hit safely and the situation became so desperate in the eighth that Manager Lena Blackburne, a former infielder, went to the mound for Chicago.

Firpo Marberry, of Washington, who used to work for Bucky Harris, held Bucky's Tigers to five hits and beat them, 8 to 2.

COACH TELLS OF PURDUE OFFER

CHICAGO, June 6.—(AP.)—Iowa is no more guilty of proselyting athletes than a half-dozen other Big Ten universities, Everett Case, high school basketball coach at Frankfort, Ind., charged today pending his meeting with John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the conference.

Coach Case, who decided to tell Griffith all he knows of Big Ten activities in proselyting and subsidizing athletes, said basketball coaches from Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Purdue as well as Iowa attended the recent Indiana state basketball tournament at Indianapolis in search of cage talent for their schools.

Today's conference with Maj. Griffith, like all others since the Iowa affair first burst forth May 25, was secretive. Maj. Griffith said he would listen to Case's story and evidence and then present them to involved schools and the conference faculty committee, which banned Iowa, for action.

PLAYER BACKS COACH

DES MOINES, Ia., June 6.—(AP.)—The Des Moines Register in a copyrighted story today quoted Robert Spradling, Iowa basketball star, as saying he was offered all expenses by a "friend of Purdue" if he would enter that school and play basketball.

Spradling, whose home is in Frankfort, Ind., said he was willing to make a frank statement of his relations with both Iowa and Purdue should the Big Ten call upon him to do so, the newspaper said.

"Coach Ward Lambert, Purdue basketball coach, knew of the offer," the story added, "and urged Spradling to accept it. Instead he accepted a job waiting on table and tending a furnace for his board and room at an Iowa fraternity with the understanding he would join the fraternity."

Spradling's reported testimony supports the charge made by Everett Case, Frankfort, Ind., High School basketball coach, that Lambert went to Spradling's home to persuade him from matriculating at Iowa two hours before he was to leave.

Case was to reveal his charges that Purdue was guilty of proselyting and subsidizing athletes before John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, at Chicago today.

NOT PAID, STAR SAYS

OTTUMWA, Iowa, June 6.—(AP.)—Only by washing dishes four hours a day was Fred Geneva, javelin thrower at the University of Iowa, able to pay his university expenses, he declared in a statement appearing in the Ottumwa Courier today in refutation of a claim that he was one of the paid athletes at the University.

"I can truthfully say that I left Parsons College on my own initiative and was never influenced by university officials or alumni," Geneva said. "One cannot specialize in a small school and this was my purpose in going to Iowa."

REIGH COUNT WINS RACE AT EPSOM

EPSOM, England, June 6.—(AP.)—Reigh Count, American winner of last year's Kentucky Derby, finally won a race today in his invasion of England, romping off with the Coronation Cup.

The race was over the mile and half up-and-down-hill course of Epsom Downs—the same course over which the Derby was run yesterday. It was Reigh Count's fourth start on English turf and the first time he has finished in the money. On his three previous races he wound up in eleventh, ninth and twelfth places, respectively.

Running second to America's champion three-year-old of 1928, was Athford, owned by William Barnett, of Ireland, whose Trigo won the Epsom Derby yesterday. Athford had previously taken the measure of Mrs. John D. Hertz's great colt at Kempton. W. Singer's Plantagg was third in the field of nine.

With J. Childs astride the American colt instead of Chick Lang, who has had the mount since he won the 1928 Kentucky Derby, Reigh Count led Athford to the finish wire by a head. A length separated the second and third horses. Reigh Count was quoted at 10 to 1 to win, 9 to 4 to place and 5 to 1 to show.

Federal Trade Commission Rule Dead; What Next?

By B. C. FORBES

ATLANTIC CITY, June 6.

HERE is one of the most significant first fruits of the Hoover regime:

"I may say very definitely that the old clandestine rule of the Federal Trade Commission is dead."

THAT statement, made by Federal Trade Commissioner William E. Humphrey this week, has received little or no notice from the newspapers. Yet it is a momentous statement, an epochal statement, a statement as far-reaching as business itself, a statement possessing a direct interest for every business man big or little, for every wage earner, for every household.

It proclaims a new magna charta for American industry.

It pronounces official benediction on America's economic revolution now unfolding at a furious pace.

COMMISSIONER HUMPHREY added:

"As we look back it is rather difficult to see just what excuse there ever was for this rule which made it a crime for any group of manufacturers to get together and try to work out a solution of their own problems."

PRACTICALLY all our outstanding public utility leaders are here for the National Electric Light Association annual convention—except, notably, Owen B. Young, of General Electric, Radio Corporation and other far-flung enterprises, whose almost single-handed success at the Paris reparation conference is enthusiastically applauded; Thomas A. Edison, creator of the electric light industry who was to attend, but whose health and age have combined to keep him away; and Samuel Insull, former private secretary to Edison and now the utility king of Chicago and of a much wider territory, a king who has had this much in common with most other kings in recent years; plenty of troubles.

Our utility leaders impress one as not appreciating the importance of the Humphrey pronunciamento. Perhaps this is because their activities are regulated largely by state public utility commissions or other state regulatory bodies rather than by the Federal Trade Commission. Yet it is this body which Congress employed to probe the so-called "Power Trust," an operation which is still attracting public attention.

INDUSTRIAL leaders cannot fail to awaken to the vast significance of the announced reversal of the Trade Commission's fundamental policy.

The oil industry is peculiarly interested at this jucture seeing that it has encontered obstacle after obstacle in its efforts "to get together and try to work out a solution of their own problems."

The question which inevitably will arise in the public's mind is: Will America's Napoleons of business prove fit to be intrusted with this new freedom?

Freedom always carries with it responsibility. Responsibility usually begets conservatism—an effect conspicuously demonstrated the first time Ramsay MacDonald's Labor party captured the reins of the British government.

Some things have been happening which may well arouse suspicions as to the public spiritedness of some of our giants of affairs. Nor is the public convinced that all these colossal consolidations are in their interest—utility consolidations, industrial consolidations, banking consolidations, transportation consolidations, communication consolidations, merchandising consolidations, distributing consolidations, mining consolidations, even amusement consolidations.

It is to be hoped that greater freedom will breed a greater sense of public responsibility.

THERE is this other angle: Those of us who have been earnestly advocating national cooperation and co-ordination by industry to level the peaks and valleys of employment and to reduce unemployment—as well as check the wholesale dropping of middle-aged employes—have been met sometimes by the excuse that "the government wouldn't tolerate our getting together." Also, the claim has been repeatedly made that the anti-trust laws must first be modified.

Well, the Humphrey declaration apparently means that, like Barkus, the administration is willing. What's the next move?

P. S.—I understand the next NELA convention will be held in San Francisco.

RESERVE BILLS MUST WAIT

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Norbeck, chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee, made known today that his committee would be unable to take up either the King resolution or the Thomas resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the Federal Reserve Board before the regular session of Congress, which convenes in December.

The only possible legislation concerning stock market activities lies in the possibility of adoption of the proposed Glass amendment to the tariff bill to tax transactions of less than 60 days' duration, which, at this time, is doubted by members of the Senate.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

General Tone Strong.

Stocks maintained a consistently strong tone during the greater part of the session with rails, coppers, mail orders and farm equipments making substantial progress. Around mid-day the street was stirred by a report that President Hoover would have a message for Congress within the hour, but it proved to be a prohibition "dud" and the enthusiasm created by the earlier assumption that it would be a constructive agricultural document soon petered out. Generally, the news was favorable. Freight loadings were higher and it appeared further progress was being made in the oil conservation program. Retention of the prevailing rediscount rates by the reporting Federal Reserve centers and the Bank of England obliterated what little fear there was of a possible raise at New York. Predictions as to the loan figures scheduled for issuance after the close were few and far between, but the traders were prepared for an incrase. The extent of the loan expansion and its influence on the market will be determined to a large extent by the reserve system report which will show how far the reserve has gone in the relief measure of buying bills and government securities in the open market, through which policy it has been easing the situation of late.

Glidden in Demand.

Glidden Company stock, which has been moving quietly ahead in recent sessions, attracted considerable attention by developing pronounced activity at around the best levels of the year. Prosperity of the food products industry has brought important accumulation into Glidden, which is making rapid progress in this field. Glidden for many years has been a leading factor in the paint trade. Its gross in the latter line for 1929 is estimated at $23,500,000. In addition it is figured that the company's sales of food products will total $19,500,000, an aggregate of $43,000,000.

Thompson Products.

Thompson Products, Inc., reports for the four months ended April 30, net income of $520,611 after all charges and taxes, equal to $1.94 on 262,660 combined class "A" and "B" shares, against $321,403, or $1.28 on 242,960 combined shares in the 1928 period.

Coppers in Strong Hands.

The settlement of all questions in regard to German reparations is expected to exert a bullish force on the copper stocks generally. The anticipation of large export business in copper was fully realized yesterday, when about 5,000,000 pounds of the metal was taken for export, most of it for Germany. The copper situation is also expected to be benefitted by the curtailment of production at the Anaconda and other mines due to special labor conditions. Large amounts of stocks in the various copper producing companies have recently gone into extremely strong hands and few, if any, of those stocks are now even in moderate supply, although their price levels have been established at a materially higher range. Kennecott and Anaconda, however, have the largest following, and it is recalled that Anaconda was steadily bought up to 150, prior to making its high record by some of the strongest interests on the street, with copper metal selling at about the same price that prevails at the present time.

Copper fabricators report that domestic consumers are showing more interest than for several weeks past and they express the belief that placing of domestic orders for finished products is about to start on a better scale.

In making the report, G. A. Pivirotto, president, intimated that dividends on the common may be resumed shortly.

Mid-Year Settlements.

Although it is generally conceded that preparations for handling large mid-year settlements and taking up of new stock on subscription "rights" may bring something of a pinch in money around the end of the month, close students of the credit situation are looking for easier conditions in the money market. The increasing supply of time money being made available is accepted as holding a good deal of significance. As a matter of fact, the larger offering of funds for loan on fixed maturity is regarded as indicating that bankers can see easier conditions ahead and are more or less anxious to get a fair proportion of their available funds out on a time basis at good rates. Opinion, however, is quite sharply divided so far as the possibility of an early change in Federal Reserve policy is concerned.

On Wednesday it showed an appreciation of some $260,000,000 in the market value of its 43,500,000 common shares as compared with the low price of the movement. Heavy demand for the stock was ascribed to a well-timed squeeze of shorts, speculative selling of the stock for the decline having been quite heavy. The stock, incidentally, was tipped strongly for a sharp move.

Lone Star Gas Active On Local Exchange

Lone Star Gas was the active member of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange list in the early dealings today with a fairly large turnover at the high established in recent markets.

The buying of Lone Star was the only notable feature of the early dealings, although there was no definite news to account for the increased activity in the issue. Other fuels were steady, but there were no price changes of importance. Arkansas sold off fractionally at the opening after closing at a new high last night.

Miscellaneous manufacturing issues were handled at about the quotations prevailing at the previous close. Blaw Knox was traded in again at 38, the new low reached yesterday when moderate offerings found a thin market for the shares.

National Fireproofing common came into the market at the end of the first hour at 20⅝, a small fractional gain over night and a new high for the stock.

The active group in the unlisted department showed no noticeable changes, although there was a good sized turnover in the new Lone Star, representing the 2½-for-1 split of the old shares.

In the late market Witherow Steel slipped to 48½, a new low for the movement. Other issues held close to the levels established at the start of business.

ELECTRIC RAIL STUDY URGED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—June 6.—(INS.)—The electric light and power industry of the country was urged to make a thorough study of railway electrification for future use of the railroads in a discussion of the subject at the convention of the National Electric Light Association here.

The discussion was led by Britton I. Budd, of Chicago, president of the Public Service of Northern Illinois. He declared that although it is doubtful whether electrification of railroads will advance to any appreciable extent within the next decade, the possibilities offered by electrification justifies the electric light and power industry making a thorough study of the matter.

He declared that only three-fourths of 1 per cent of the steam railroad lines in the United States are now electrified, while the electrified mileage of all the countries of the world is 1⅔ per cent of the total route miles.

Continental to Be Made Brokers' Bank

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—With $13,500,000 in new money subscribed by New York Stock Exchange and Curb Market houses, the Continental Bank, of New York, will be established as a "brokers' bank," it has been announced. It is believed the bank in time will prove a stabilizing influence in the call loan and collateral loan markets.

The Continental, under the presidency of Frederick H. Hornby, has in recent years specialized in Wall Street business, and as vacancies have occurred, representatives of brokerage houses have been placed on its board. It has been comparatively small, however, with capital and surplus of only $2,500,000.

NEW LEADERS FAVORED IN STOCK RISE

Buying Continues Selective With Outside Public Still Inclined to Hold Back

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—Stock prices continued to move upward today with new leaders being brought forward in the food, railroad equipment and railroad groups. The buying continued to be rather selective in character, with the outside public still showing little inclination to re-enter the market on a large scale.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and appeared in fair supply at that figure. Wall street is still worried over the possibility of sharp flurries in call money rates later in the month. Several new pools, which have been organized recently, are understood to have suspended the beginning of operations until next month on the theory that a definite easing of credit prospects is likely at that time.

RAILS MORE UPWARD

Rails, which were heavy early in the week, again showed a decided upward tendency. Erie common and Chesapeake Corporation moved into new high ground, Pere Marquette was marked up 4 points, and Atchison 3, Union Pacific and New York Central advanced 3 points or more.

Industrial Rayon, which had not sold all week, jumped 17¼ points to 92¼. Commonwealth Power extended its gain to nearly 8 points by touching a new high at 218½. Baldwin Locomotive, Bayuk Cigars, Purity Baking and Frank G. Shattuck sold 6 to nearly 8 points higher.

Curtiss, Marlin Rockwell, Timken Roller Bearing, Air Reduction and Tidewater Associated first preferred were marked up 4 to 5 points.

STEELS RESTRICTED

The reported falling off in building construction last month had a tendency to restrict bullish operations in the steel shares, despite the excellent character of the May production reports.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 6.—Cotton opened steady today at unchanged prices to a decline of 10 points and sold about 5 to 11 points net lower during the early trading under liquidation and some local and commission house selling, promoted by favorable weather reports. Better crop advices from the central belt, relatively easy Liverpool cables and unfavorable trade reports from Manchester were contributing factors, but there seemed to be a fair demand at 18.50 for July, and the market was quiet at the decline. Cable advices from Liverpool reported liquidation and a poor offtake in the cotton futures market, and said the cloth turnover for India and China was disappointing, as the decline in silver was restricting business.

No Capitalistic Liquidation.

The broad wave of liquidation which carried the stock market to a new low for the year is attributed by the Trader, in Barron's Financial Weekly, to the break in wheat prices, which forced a selling movement in such stocks as Montgomery Ward and International Harvester, and to the rumored embarrassment of the best-known bull operator. Price declines in some cases have been very large, but there were no signs of powerful and confident bear operations or of capitalistic liquidation, a conclusion supported by persistent buoyancy in the utility and rail shares. A thorough chastening of pool managers and the elimination of the more audacious of the Wall street operators have done much to improve the technical position of the stock market. But "it does not follow necessarily that the market should immediately rebound. The terrific declines in many issues and the crippling of the resources of the bull leaders in industrial issues are potent factors, and it usually takes time to restore confidence." The Barron's financial expert concludes that "the safest approach to the market is to regard it not as a whole but as an aggregation of individual issues. From this standpoint it will have to be conceded that a tremendous readjustment in valuations has taken place this year. Those who figure that an old-fashioned bear market is in the making may later be as chagrined as those doughty souls who were defying the Federal Reserve Board two months ago. It is not a time to become stampeded, but a time for patience and a careful scrutiny of values, earnings and property trends."

National Bank Note Currency.

National bank note currency, once believed to have been doomed to extinction by the establishment of the Federal Reserve system, apparently got a new lease of life this year during the regime of high interest rates. Issue of such notes is a privilege held by banks owning blocks of old national bonds of the Civil War issues and a small amount of Spanish War and Panama Canal loans issued early this century. For many years, treasury reports have shown that redemption of such currency has been proceeding faster than re-issue, and in accepted monetary theory, Federal Reserve currency, issued on the basis of gold and commercial paper, has been expected to replace the whole national bank issue in about eight years. However, during the last 11 months, national bank notes in circulation have actually increased by more than $13,000,000. Banks owning the circulation bonds have found it increasingly profitable to take advantage of their privilege to issue new bills as collateral interest rates have soared, and the retirement of notes outstanding has been notably checked. Notwithstanding, treasury officials expect the condition to be but a temporary one, and look for the trend toward complete retirement of the issues to resume shortly.

Bucyrus-Erie Prospects.

Although Bucyrus-Erie does not publish a quarterly statement, and thus far in the current year no actual figures are available, it is stated in circles usually informed on the company's affairs that a decided improvement is being shown, and earnings are running at a rate upward of $3 a share annually on the common stock. This improvement is said to be the result of an economy program which brought a material reduction in expenses, while an additional and important factor reflecting upon earnings is disclosed in the fact that the company is not encountering price cutting this year. In 1928 the first full year of operations after the consolidation of the Bucyrus Company and the Erie Steam Shovel Company, net income totaled $2,687,177, or $2.63 a share on the 480,000 shares of common stock outstanding. At the time this report was published in March, W. W. Coleman, president, stated that the amount of business on its books at the close of 1928 was greater than at the beginning of that year, and prospects for the first half of this year were very promising. It is now officially stated that Bucyrus is booked nine months ahead, and the present outlook is excellent.

Political Angles Ignored.

For the moment at least the speculative community is not inclined to fret a great deal over the prominence which is being accorded speculative activity and Federal Reserve policies in Senate discussion. Threats of a tax on stock transactions covering less than a 60-day period or a move to eliminate the use of government bonds as collateral for 15-day loans, quite naturally were not to the liking of the stock market fraternity. Neither was the revelation that the discussion so far as it concerned the Federal Reserve was not in the nature of criticism of what that body has been doing, but rather criticism of its laxity in taking hold of the situation earlier and more firmly. The market, however, did not disclose any evidence of anxiety over the possibility of early disagreeable action.

Maytag Company Profits.

The Maytag Company reports for the three months ended March 31 net sales of $5,839,931, as compared with $4,815,964 for the corresponding three months of 1928. Net profit after taxes was $1,320,968, equivalent, after dividends on first preferred and cumulative preference stock, to 58 cents a share on 1,609,660 shares of common, as compared with $1,103,683, or 45 cents a share on the same number of shares for the first quarter of 1928.

Great American Indemnity.

The Great American Indemnity Company of New York, subsidiary of the Great American Insurance Company, has opened a Pittsburgh office on the fifth floor of the Commonwealth Building. The local office is in charge of Ross L. Milliman, who has been engaged in the insurance business in Pittsburgh for several years.

Central Alloy Improvements.

The Central Alloy Steel Corporation is equipping its entire Massillon sheet rolling mills works with modern pack furnaces. This improvement will increase the productive capacity of auto body sheets at the plant to 150,000 tons annually, or by nearly 40 per cent. The equipment will cost $250,000 and will be completed by the end of the year.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, June 6.—Sensitiveness to the stimulating influence of prospective farm relief measures hoisted wheat values sharply in the late dealings today, but disappointment followed later Washington developments. Brisk upturns in the price of wheat accompanied announcement that President Hoover would send an important message to Congress. Many wheat traders who jumped to a conclusion that he would discuss agricultural helps were eager buyers and later, when realizing that the inference was a mistake, became hurried sellers, causing the market to react.

Unexpected downturns which Liverpool wheat quotations showed today and which had a depressing effect much of the time on the wheat market here were attributed to reports of partial breaking of the drought in Argentina and to larger shipments of wheat from that country. Unwelcome rainy weather in domestic wheat territory led to buying on the downturns in Chicago prices as did Washington dispatches implying farm relief machinery would be pressed energetically for the time being, however, general buying demand was of less volume than of late.

It was not until after the Liverpool market today had closed that wheat prices went at any time above yesterday's final level. At this juncture, though, messages were received from Winnipeg saying that export interests there had made good-sized purchases today of July delivery of wheat. There were also advices indicating Argentine wheat acreage was expected to show a decrease inasmuch as recent prolonged dry weather had delayed seeding. Reports of renewed need of rain in Canada were likewise current.

STEEL SLUMP TO BE LIGHT

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE mid-summer slump in steel mill activity is expected to reach only half its normal proportions this year. Production in May virtually duplicated the record established in April. There is less pressure for delivery at present than existed a few weeks ago, but little change in activity is anticipated this month. It will be well into July before any very pronounced decline in operations can take place.

A few weeks ago an actual shortage of semi-finished steel existed. The production of many finishing mills was hampered to some extent by the fact that it was impossible to get a sufficient supply of open hearth steel. At present steel making capacity is able to keep pace with the demand of the finishing operations, although there has been no reduction in ingot production beyond that necessary for repairs.

IN CHICAGO the shortage of steel is still acute. This arises from the fact that Western railroads have been unusually large buyers of rails and the A. O. Smith Corporation has created an unprecedented demand for plates which it fabricates into pipe by welding.

The sheet mills are operating practically at capacity and for the first five months of this year had one of the best periods in their history. Every important sheet consuming industry is working at a high rate. The automobile producers have started to reduce their requirements, but other lines of activity are keeping the mills busy. The farm implement makers have been particularly important as big users of sheets.

TIN plate mills have curtailed their output to some extent, but this was to be expected after the continued rate of production at capacity from last fall until a short time ago.

Some consternation was felt by the can makers and the tin plate industry when reports from California stated that bad weather had damaged fruit to such an extent that only 75 per cent of the expected crop could be packed. Later observations have considerably revised this estimate. Recent crop reports indicate that less than one-third of the fruit crop was lost.

The reduction in the pack of California fruits will be offset to a great extent by increased packs of sardines and mackerel. A large share of these packs will be sent to Far Eastern markets.

BETTER conditions in the oil fields are materially improving the operations of pipe mills. This branch of the steel industry has been doing moderately well since the first of the year, but has tended to lag behind other types of steel products in production. It is considered probable that pipe production will compensate for some of the loss in demand which is expected in other products over the summer months.

Fulfillment of the predictions that second quarter earnings of steel companies will exceed those of the first quarter are now assured. Leading producers who have their own transportation facilities for carrying ore will show especially marked increases as a result of the earnings from these seasonal operations. Most of the smaller companies will also report gains as a result of both a higher rate of operations and slightly greater prices.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—Prices maintained a fairly steady course on the Curb market today, but the heavy volume of trading in the Morgan-Bonbright-Drexel interests, Commonwealth and Southern Corporation and other public utilities caused the ticker to lag at times a half hour behind the market.

Commonwealth and Southern, which made its first appearance on the Curb today, opened in a block of 15,000 shares at 29, up a point from yesterday's closing on the New York Produce Exchange. Sales were in blocks of 5,000 shares, and at midday the price dipped more than two points below the opening figure.

The American Superpower issues, holders of which are to receive rights to buy Commonwealth and Southern stock at $15 a share, held around yesterday's levels, but the volume of sales was heavy. Electric Bond and Share and Electric Investors were strong, the former getting up to a new high. New highs were touched by the United Gas Improvement old and new stocks, and St. Regis Paper advanced sharply.

The airplane group was under pressure most of the day, with Fokker and Western Air Express leading the decline. Oils sold around yesterday's closing levels.

Checker Cab rose smartly on President Markham's announcement of orders for 2,500 cars on hands with assurance of additional orders from Chicago Cab Company and Yellow Taxi Corporation of New York. Checker has advanced more than 13 points since last Saturday. Prior to that the stock had a steady decline on reports of a seasonal slump in business.

Aluminum Company was the strong spot of the high priced industrials and specialties, while Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea sold off in the face of a wealth of favorable chain store sales reports.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Oxford to Confer Degree on Dawes

OXFORD, England, June 6.—(AP.)—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, ambassador designate from the United States; Marquis Merry Del Val, the Spanish ambassador, and the Egyptian prime minister will receive the degree of doctor of civil law from Oxford University on June 26. The University Gazette, in making this announcement, said that the recipients of the honor would be guests of the chancellor, Viscount Grey, at luncheon.

It was stated that the same honor had been proposed for Frank B. Kellogg, author of the international pact for renunciation of war, but he was unable to attend this year.

Storm-Tossed U. S. Ship Reaches India

BOMBAY, June 6.—(INS.)—The United States Shipping Board freighter, West Loquassack, arrived at Calcutta today badly battered by a severe storm encountered in the Bay of Bengal during a voyage from Australia with a cargo of grain.

Lifeboats were torn from their davits and ventilators and deck fittings smashed. Several members of the crew were injured.

BOARD TAKES NO ACTION

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Federal Reserve Board members met yesterday with leading bankers from New York and elsewhere for the customary executive discussions of credit conditions, but nothing was produced after the session to change the atmosphere and prevailing expectations in Washington. Few informed observers expect rediscount rate increases to be resorted to unless market and money conditions change radically.

Board members indicated a good deal of distaste, however, for the circulation in Wall street of flat statements that their repressive policy toward the extension of collateral loans by member banks was being reversed, and that the central system would resume the purchase of bills of acceptance and other activities which generally increase circulating currency. It is intimated that there is no real change of front by the board, but that conditions themselves are operating to remove the need of severe action.

United Corporation Slices Big Melon

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP.)—Directors of United Corporation, the Morgan-Bonbright utility holding company, yesterday recommended to stockholders that the authorized capital be increased from 13,000,000 to 30,000,000 shares, and, subject to approval, voted to offer rights to purchase new common stock at $37.50 a share in the ratio of one new share for each five shares now held.

On the basis of the closing price of $64.67½ of the stock on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday the rights are worth approximately $4.50 a share. On the basis of 5,665,910 common shares outstanding May 4, and 3,994,757 option warrants, the offer is the equivalent to the cutting of a melon of more than $40,000,000. There are also outstanding 1,756,335 shares of $3 preferred stock.

A stock holders' meeting has been called for July 10 to consider the plan.

Grain Rate Raise Found Unjustifiable

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP.)—Proposed increases on through rates on grain and grain products from Oklahoma and Kansas to destinations in Texas and the Southeast, when milled or stored in transit, were found today by the Interstate Commerce Mommission to be unjustified.

The increased rates, proposed by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads, were protested principally by millers in Southern Kansas and Northern Oklahoma.

Bank of England.

LONDON, June 6.—(AP.)—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve decreased 889,000; circulation increased 1,470,000; bullion increased 581,000; other securities decreased 3,359,000; public deposits decreased 15,829,000; other deposits increased 14,675,000; notes reserve decreased 969,000; government securities increased 3,075,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 54,25, compared with 54.46 per cent last week. Rate of discount, 5½ per cent.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 6.—(AP.)—F. H. Olander, former yard boy of Kansas City, was the unanimous choice for president at the forty-first annual convention of the National Livestock Exchange, which closed its sessions here yesterday. He succeeds M. O. Bement, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Other officers elected were: Secretary, J. S. Boyd, Chicago, and treasurer, A. A. Dreis, St. Paul, Minn.

Denver, Col., was chosen as the city for the 1930 convention.

WHEAT FARMER LOSS SLIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 6.—According to a survey made public by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture, the majority of wheat farmers has been little affected by the decline of the last two months, and whether the market situation will become serious to them depends principally upon what happens to wheat prices in the next few months.

E. J. Working, of the division of statistical and historical research, stated in the survey that two factors were spreading "something of a wave of pessimism over a large section of the country." One, he said, is the backward, rainy weather which has persisted for two months, and the other is the low price of wheat.

"The surplus of wheat in exporting countries as of July 1," Mr. Working stated, "is roughly estimated as likely to be around 125,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, most of this increase being in the United States.

"However, the stocks are moving quite rapidly and for the season ahead it seems hardly probable that the world will see generally yields of wheat as large as they have been the last two years."

MAX, PAULINO TO SPAR WITH GEORGES

NEW YORK, June 6.—(INS.)—There will be some real expert opinion on the chances of Paulino Uzcudun and Max Schmeling right soon now. Instead of taking the word of the experts who peer at the fighters in training, the milk fund fans will be able to hear the low-down on each man's ability and chances from men who have worked out against them.

Georges Carpentier will go to Lakewood on Tuesday to box a round or so with Schmeling and later in the week will spar with Paulino. James J. Braddock, the Jersey City light heivyweight, also will box both men. When this pair give their opinions, picking a winner should be a lot easier task for the average fan.

POUNDS PARTNERS

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 6.—(INS.)—The battered countenance of Germany Heller, latest addition to Max Schmeling's staff of sparring partners, bore eloquent testimony today to the dynamite in Herr Maxie's fists. Making his first appearance at Schmeling's camp here yesterday, Heller caught a volley of rights and lefts to the head and body. He left the ring with a blood-smeared face.

The German Dempsey further warmed up for his bout with Paulino on June 27 by working out for four rounds with Johnny Urban, George Neron and Ray Neuman, the day's work consisting of six rounds in all.

PAULINO SET FOR GRIND

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., June 6.—(INS.)—Paulino Uzcudun was scheduled to buckle down to hard work today in preparation for his bout with Max Schmeling. The first workout was to consist of three rounds with Jack DeMave, the New Jersey heavyweight.

Tomorrow he will spar with De Mave and Benny Touchstone, the Florida battler, and later he hopes to have Napoleon Dorval on hand as well as Buddy Howard, the Connecticut boy who recently was deprived of the national amateur championship.

DERBY WINNERS PAY FORTUNES

LONDON, England, June 6.—(AP.)—The result of two minutes of wild dashing on Epsom Downs for the Derby stakes yesterday marked the turning point in the lives of scores of persons who never saw a horse race.

Victory of Trigo, the placing of Walter Gay and the showing of Brienz suddenly dropped golden fortune into many pockets, while failure of the favorites dashed high hopes of many others who seemed to be nominated for great wealth.

The Calcutta sweepstake, with three first prizes, each worth £135,000, or about $675,000; the London Stock Exchange, with two first prizes of £125,000, or about $625,000, each, and the Baltic sweep, wherein first money totaled nearly £100,000, or $500,000, were the pools into which millions tossed their spare change, and from which scores will draw out riches.

WINNER RANK OUTSIDER

So little was thought of Trigo that holders of his tickets were not heard of before the race and are slow in being discovered now that wealth has descended unexpectedly upon them.

Julian Cahn, Nottingham sportsman, who took the All-England cricket team to the West Indies last winter, will cash in on his faith in the Irish colt. He paid his aunt £500 pounds ($2,500) for a half share in a stock exchange ticket and will profit more than £62,000 sterling, or in excess of $300,000.

Two widows are happy beneficiaries of Trigo's speed and power. Mrs. Chapman, of Dournemouth,—aunt of Cahn—drew Trigo in the stock exchange sweep, but sold a half-interest to her nephew. Mrs. Kathleen McGrath, of Dublin, mother of four fatherless children, holds a Trigo ticket in the Baltic sweep, worth £25,000, or about $125,000. She was listening to the radio today when the good news smote her ears.

CLERK WINS FORTUNE

A clerk in Oudtshoorn, South Africa, is believed to have drawn Trigo's Calcutta ticket, but what he did with it nobody knows. Another South African, Sam Weil, of Johannesburg, drew Brienz in the Calcutta sweep.

But the other side of the story must not be neglected. James Sutters, of London, formed a pool, which spent £50,000 buying promising tickets from holders. His syndicate did not realize a penny from its investment. Yesterday morning Sutters purchased a ticket which drew Le Voleur, Trigo's stable companion, in the Calcutta. Sutters' group also had interest in Hunter's Moon in the Calcutta pool, but this sweepstake does not pay fourth prize.

Little Jimmie Greb, 7 years old, however, is sitting pretty despite the fact that his horse, Cragadour, was a derby fizzle. Jimmie held Cragadour in the stock exchange sweep, but his sagacious father sold three-fourths interest for £12,000 pounds, or $60,000.

Shultz Wins Medal In Philly Amateur

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(AP.)—Jackson Shultz, of Whitemaran, yesterday won the qualifying medal in the Philadelphia amateur golf championship at the North Hills Country Club, with a score of 149 for the 36 holes. He had cards of 73 and 76.

J. Winston Kindt, Old York Road, and George W. Hoffner, Bala, tied for second place with 151. J. Wood Platt, who has won the championship four times, announced that he would default his title in the tournament.

GRAYS SIGN STARS

The Homestead Grays will have some new players in their lineup when they appear at Pitcairn against the P. R. R. nine this evening. Manager Posey returned from a scouting expedition in the East yesterday and brought back the news that he had signed a new pitcher, an outfielder and an infielder. The new hurler, Miller, and Jackson, outfielder, formerly played with the American Giants and the new shortstop is Turner, who will probably be on hand today.

CUP TEAMS SPLIT

COPENHAGEN, June 6.—(AP.)—Denmark and Czechoslovakia broke even yesterday in the opening singles matches of their third round Davis Cup tie. Einar Ulrich of Denmark won a long hard struggle from Jan Kozeloh, first ranking Czech player by scores of 4-6, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. R. Menzel of Czechoslovakia evened the count by defeating Henriksen in straight sets, 9-7, 6-2, 6-3.

FERRY BEATS PETERS

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., June 6.—(AP.)—Harry Ferry, of McKeesport, Pa., won a 10-round decision last night over Walter Peters, of Germany. Ferry weighed 139 pounds and Peters 142.

KID CHOCOLATE WINS OVER GREGORIO

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(INS.)—Philadelphia ring fans had a new respect for the prowess of Kid Chocolate this morning when they learned that the sensational Cuban bantamweight had fought Vidal Gregorio, of Spain, at Shibe Park last night despite the handicap of two broken thumbs.

Chocolate, a 4-to-1 favorite, gained a comfortable lead on points in the early rounds, when the fighters stood toe to toe and slugged. But the Cuban apparently "coasted" during the last three rounds of the 10-round bout and Gregorio rallied so strongly that many of the 20,000 fans booed the decision awarding the verdict to Chocolate. It was not announced until several hours after the bout that "The Keed" had broken both thumbs in battering the hard head of the Spaniard early in the fray.

Chocolate had an edge in the infighting. Gregorio landed more blows, but did not hit as hard as his opponent. The judges voted for Chocolate and the referee, Tommy Reilly, for Gregorio.

In other 10-rounders, George Courtney, of Oklahoma, outpointed Jack McVey, New York Negro middleweight; Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, won the decision over Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle (N. Y.) Negro, and Baby Joe Gans, coast Negro welterweight, outpointed Pinky Kauffman, of Hartford, Conn.

TITLE SERIES DATES SET

The opening game of the series for the City League High School baseball championship between Schenley, Section I champs, and Langley, victor in Section II, will be played tomorrow afternoon at Malone Field, the home ground of the Bellefielders.

Schenley and Langley have been finalists in the city baseball race for the past three years. Forbes Field has been the scene of the title in the past, but the school fans failed to turn out well at the National League park, so it was decided to use the school fields this year.

The second game will be played at Crafton High School's park, which will be Langley's home grounds during the series next Tuesday.

Dawson Scores 78 In British Tourney

SANDWICH, England, June 6.—(AP.)—John Dawson, Chicago amateur golf star, scored 78 in the first round of the 36-hole medal competition for the Royal St. George's vase. Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, returned a score of 75.

Dawson had considerable difficulty with his tee shots. He took 38 strokes for the first nine, taking three putts at the short sixth. He took three putts also on the fifteenth green.

Joshua Crane, of Boston, took 84 and Mac Behr, San Francisco, 90. The Californian used up three strokes in a bunker at the fifteenth and had a score of eight for the hole.

Dawson, regarded as the leading American threat in the competition, was five strokes behind T. A. Torrance, whose 73 led the field in the day. Dawson's card:

BUGS BAER Says

NEIGHBOR, NEIGHBOR, HOW ART THEE?

JOHN D. has established a precedent that we would all like to trail.

He has bought a town to get rid of his neighbors.

"Bugs" Baer

John owns one of those mail-order wigwams up at Pocantico Hills. There is no use telling you the exact location because you will never get an invitation.

Looking out of his nursery window one day, John D. piped a yown and asked his athletic instructor the name of it. He was told that it was Eastview.

You have all heard those neighborly arguments in which Mr. La Gook shakes his fist at Mr. Lugg and yells:

"I can buy and sell you."

Mr. Lugg waggles a different fist at La Gook and answers:

"I don't have to sell you. I can buy and keep you."

Meaning that Lugg is the financial superior of La Gook. Which is always good for another and more exclusive argument.

For almost 40 years we have been listening to neighbors threatening to foreclose imaginary mortgages on one another.

We have never seen it happen. But it makes a splendid thesis for a backyard forum.

Now, we know that a philanthropist like John D. never battled with his neighbors.

But even a friendly neighbor at his best is ofttimes a mote in the syrup and a bean in the tooth.

So, John D. figures, "Every year I give away a hundred million for charity. Why not spend some of it on myself?"

Eastview is the town in which old Mrs. Prunk lived many years ago as the crow flies. She was the lady who had the little boys arrested for swimming in the buff.

While the trial was stepping along in the meshes of the law, the village judge discovered that the pond where the little boys swam was almost two miles away from the rural chalet of Mrs. Prunk.

"Why, Mrs. Prunk," said the judge, "even though these lads swam naked, I don't see how it can annoy you."

Mrs. Prunk snapped, "I got a spy glass."

Mrs. Prunk has been dead, lo, these many years, and she is in a place where the little angels do their flying two miles away.

But she is an example of the kind of neighbors you get rid of when you buy a whole town. We know that Los Angeles would like John D. to live in their town and buy San Francisco because an old lady in San Francisco has a spy glass.

The same is true of New York and Philadelphia, Dallas and Fort Worth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Buffalo and Rochester and thousands of cities which are paired off as neighbors.

Neighbors are the same the world over and the first thing we should teach the Boy Scouts is to never build a spite fence.

"DOWN WITH LEMON EXTRACT!" CRY REFORMERS

DO you realilze that the flavoring extracts used in ice cream sodas contain alcohol? It is a fact. And druggists complain of scenes like the above—when patrons come in, sip off the carbonated water through a straw, and then actually drink the intoxicating syrup. For shame! The Retail Druggists' Association has rightly demanded legislation making it unlawful to supply free straws. Hereafter a small charge will be made for straws, in accordance with the Jones law.

Our Harbor Is Suggested As Pittsburgh Airport

An interesting suggestion that Pittsburgh harbor is available as the most convenient airport for this vicinity is made by George F. Landgraf, of Crafton, student of aeronautic engineering in Carnegie Tech, who points out that only the erection of hangars on the banks of the rivers is necessary to give the district an easily accessible "field" for the landing of amphibian airplanes.

The fact that our nearest airport is a ride of 30 minutes from Downtown appears to young Mr. Landgraf to be as absurd as it would be to have the Pennsylvania Railroad Station on the outskirts of the city. Calculated on a flying time basis, he points out that Pittsburgh is 50 air miles from its nearest air station.

The thoughtful young student fortifies his views with the statement that Igar Sikorski, noted aeronautic engineer, recently here for the purpose of lecturing, stated that Pittsburgh could have no greater airport than that provided by its harbor, at no expense except that of erecting suitable buildings.

It is pointed out that, after landing, an amphibian can be "taxied" on water to the shore, where its wheels can be let down to permit it to go on land for loading and unloading. Amphibian planes are able to land on either water or land.

This is a matter that appears to be worthy of consideration.

The Power Trust's Ready Money and Mr. Gannett

Frank E. Gannett is publisher of the Brooklyn Eagle and a dozen or so small newspapers in New York and New England.

During the last year Mr. Gannett secretly borrowed nearly $3,000,000 from a leading member of the Power Trust to buy the Brooklyn Eagle, the Albany Knickerbocker Press and the Albany Evening News, and to acquire control of the Ithaca Journal-News.

Not one cent of his own money went into these purchases. He carefully concealed the source of his purchase money from the United States government, the readers of his newspapers, the staff of his newspapers and even the newspaper brokers who sold the properties to him.

When the Federal Trade Commission suddenly and sensationally disclosed that A. R. Graustein and his International Paper and Power Company were the financial backers of Gannett, the publisher suddenly and astonishingly succeeded in borrowing money from a New York bank and paid off his Power Trust friends.

Did Mr. Gannett look at Mr. Graustein and his Power Company as simply a banker or a partner? Read Mr. Gannett's letter to Mr. Graustein, asking for funds to buy the Albany papers, the letter dated October 5, 1928:

"I must act on the Albany matter either with you or individually. As I told you frankly, I should prefer to have you as my partner."

That is exactly what the Power Corporation became, a "partner," for it held a large block of stock in both the Albany papers and in the Brooklyn Eagle.

When the Albany papers temporarily made a bad showing, owing to a printers' strike, Gannett wrote HIS PARTNER:

"I hope you will appreciate the Albany situation, and will be patient until we can work it out. We are expecting great economies in many ways. You will hear more about them later. Trusting this report will be satisfactory, I am—"

However, it was very SECRET PARTNERSHIP. On November 12, 1928, Gannett's secretary wrote to M. C. Head, one of Graustein's vice presidents:

"Mr. Gannett would appreciate it if you would ask your secretary to mark all mail addressed to him 'PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL.'" Meanwhile, Gannett was looking around for bigger game. On September 22 he is writing Graustein about other papers to be purchased:

"Assuming that YOU AND I WILL GO AHEAD WITH OUR PLANS IN A VERY EXTENSIVE MANNER, I am wondering if you would not be willing to take bonds of a holding company."

The record then proceeds to give us information on some of the "extensive" plans.

At the end of October directors of the International Paper and Power Company appropriated $21,000,000 FOR PURCHASE OF THE CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER, a design which failed, owing to the integrity of the Cleveland Plain Dealer owners. A few days later, on November 2, Gannett got word of the windfall and wrote to Graustein that a broker had offered to "switch" the Cleveland Plain Dealer to Gannett instead of Thomason, a Chicago publisher, who was also out rounding up newspapers for Graustein. Referring to the price of $21,000,000, Gannett wrote:

"At this price, I don't think it is a good buy, but I'd like to know whether you are really interested in the deal, for if you are, I might be able to make my attitude fit the situation."

Graustein promptly wired back:

"It is true that we are interested in financing the situation."

Thompson and Gannett also crossed wires in dickering for the Philadelphia Inquirer, "worth around $20,000,000."

Gannett in February of this year wrote Graustein asking him to call Thomason off:

"I am getting this letter off to you so that we will not cross wires, and I hope you will leave the field open to me, for I believe I will be in a position to land it easier than anyone else."

All very interesting. It is particularly interesting in the light of Mr. Gannett's announcement to readers of the Brooklyn Eagle after he had bought it with the money of the Power Corporation and carefully concealed the fact in his April 1 statement to the United States government,. He told the Eagle readers:

"The Brooklyn Eagle is not considered a personal property, as an organ to serve personal ambition or propaganda, or as a tool for exploiting special interests. IT IS CONSIDERED AS THE READERS' PAPER."

The day after his unhappy experience before the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, Mr. Gannett spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Albany Advertising Club, and said:

"The attacks upon me are entirely unfounded. They are unfair. I never experienced the like before and it will make me realize what a responsibility controlling a newspaper is . . . The incident is a closed one with me. IT WILL BE OF BIG BENEFIT TO ME."

A gentleman who was about to be hanged was asked if he had anything to say. He replied, "All I can say is that this is going to be a great lesson to me."

Let us hope that the benefit to Mr. Gannett will be an enduring one.

The Perennial Triangle -:- By Jimmy Hatlo

Tales That Are Told

A Constant Reminder

MRS. DESPERATE told all her neighbors that she could not possibly live with her husband any longer, and promptly ran away.

She stayed at a hotel some few streets away for almost a week, but on the seventh day she returned to her husband.

The latter met her on the doorstep, and inquired the reason of her sudden and unexpected reappearance.

"Oh, Dennis dear," she replied, a break in her voice, "a sign on the hotel wall troubled my conscience every time I went in or out. It said in big type: 'Think! Have you left anything?'"

Bobby's Ambition

BOBBY was one of the few boys who said they didn't want to be an engine-driver, a pirate, a fireman, or a dirt-track rider.

"What are you going to be, then?" inquired his aunt.

"Won't tell," said Bobby.

"Oh, come on, Bobby. You're going to be a policeman."

"No, I am not."

"Well, will you tell me if I give you more pudding?"

Bobby gave in and announced that he was going to be an after-dinner speaker.

"Whatever for?"

Bobby grinned.

"Think of the dinners," he said.

Too Big to Be True

A LITTLE girl was riding in a street car with her mother, a woman of rather slender build.

Presently an extremely stout woman walked heavily into the car and sat down opposite the child.

Mollie contemplated the newcomer for some minutes, then, turning to her mother, inquired in a loud voice:

"Mamma, is that all one lady?"

Proof Positive

JOHNNY had been the guest of honor the day before at a party to which his little chum Tommy had not been invited. After hearing all about it, Tommy said to Johnny: "Have a good time, Johnny?"

"Did I?" answered Johnny. "Why, I'm not hungry yet!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

A FELLOW in Los Angeles had a smart dog. Donald was the dog's name. This fellow gave Donald a dime every morning to get his meat, and Donald would go over to the butcher shop and put down the dime and the butcher would give him a pound of dog meat.

One Thursday the dog trotted over to the shop and came back and buried his dime in the back yard. His master watched him and thought maybe he wasn't feeling just right. Next day Donald took his dime out and buried it beside the other one, without even going to the shop. The boss was worried.

"See here, Donald," he says, "what's got into you? Ain't you got sense enough to go and get your meat any more?"

The dog barked and started off for the shop without the dime, and his boss followed him. When they got outside the dog pointed his nose at a sign that said, "Next Saturday Special: Three Pounds of Dog Meat for a Quarter."

Oh yes, I forgot to say that this here dog was a Scotch collie.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I WAS waiting around in the sheriff's office when a bunch of girls came in to fill out applications for driving licenses.

They were lovely—all between 18 and 20—charming as flowers in their bright, sports clothes. Warm, eager, they were ready not only for licenses, but for love and life. Romance lay on them like pollen. In a year or two they would be wives and mothers.

The officer handed them their questionnaires. They bent over the long lists giggling, their young faces gradually sobering as they puzzled over the difficult questions. Automobile driving is tricky business. Even youth and beauty must qualify for that dangerous task.

These youngsters had qualified. They had worked for days learning how to handle shifts and brakes. They had read up on endless questions in order to prove to the state their fitness for driving.

BUT HOW ABOUT THAT INFINITELY MORE SERIOUS POSITION THEY WOULD SOON ASSUME — THE POSITION OF WIFEHOOD AND MOTHERHOOD? It had taken them weeks of work and study to get their motor licenses—BUT IT WOULD HARDLY TAKE FIVE MINUTES TO GET THEIR MARRIAGE LICENSES!

All sorts of questions about their ability to handle motors, but never a question about their fitness for founding homes or bearing babies!

"Is it lawful for license plates to be obscured?" ran the questionaire.

But no one would say a word, when they came to marry, about the ignorance which might be obscured.

They would, after marriage, have the nation's most sacred treasures in their keeping—its homes and its children. But not an hour's preparations for that task would ever be required of them. They would not need to know a thing about domestic science and hygiene, nursing or baby tending.

They could not only be ignorant, but they could actually be simple-minded, and the license would still be issued, provided they were of legal age or had the parents' consent.

They were required to know the penalty for reckless driving or driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors or drugs.

But there would be no penalty attached if they entered marriage with ailing bodies and spread their ailments to their mates and children. Nor, in most of our states, would divorce be allowed on that score.

Of the technique of child-bearing they might not know a word—

AND ANY ONE WHO TRIED TO SEND THEM INSTRUCTIONS THROUGH THE MAILS WOULD BE PROMPTLY JAILED FOR ISSUING OBSCENE MATTER—

BUT THEY COULDN'T GET A CHAUFFEUR'S LICENSE UNLESS THEY KNOW HOW MUCH SPEED WAS ALLOWED ON SOLID TIRES WHEN GROSS LOAD IS 9,000 POUNDS AND NOT MORE THAN 12,000 POUNDS.

Yet we got all het up when Miss Mayo wrote a book about the crude and ignorant marriage practices of Mother India. And immediately wanted to send some efficiency experts over there to tell them how it should be done!

MAKING GOLD

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Can gold be manufactured of certain substances which we know do not contain gold? Recently some German professor assumed that he could create gold by compounding; can you enlighten us on this theory?—G. Rothiger, Glenwood, Ill."

IF you want to understand how it is believed that gold may be formed by transmutation from other elements, for instance mercury, you must begin by abandoning entirely your ordinary ideas about the distinction between gold and mercury. Gold has certain "properties" by which you recognize it, and mercury has certain other properties, equally distinctive. Gold is yellow, heavy, hard, but not too rigid, malleable, so that it can be shaped without too much difficulty, resistant to atmospheric influences, so that it keeps its brilliancy, etc. Mercury is white, liquid at ordinary temperatures, gathering itself into drops and running wildly about, and heavy, but a little lighter than gold.

By these contrasted physical properties we distinguish between them. But nature knows them by entirely other marks. Nature builds the elements up out of atoms, each element having its own kind of atom. And she makes the atoms themselves up out of what seem to be nothing but electric charges positive and negative, offsetting one another.

She gives to every atom a nucleus, composed of a certain number of negative charges. But always there is at least one positive charge in excess, by virtue of which the nucleus can hold a negative charge, or an electron, prisoner as it were, in the atom.

Beginning with the simplest of the elements, hydrogen, it is found that the atom consists of a nucleus having one positive charge which balances one negative charge, or electron belonging to the same atom. So the hydrogen atom is made up of a positive nucleus (proton) and one negative electron. The latter is figured as revolving around the nucleus.

Other elementary atoms are made up of nuclei surrounded by different numbers of electrons depending upon the outstanding nuclear positive charge. Thus each element is characterized by its so-called atomic number, i. e. the number of electrons which its nucleus can retain around it.

The atomic number of gold is 79; that of mercury is 80. Now, suppose that it were possible in any way to change the number of elementary electric charges contained in the nucleus of the mercury atom so that say one electron (negative charge) could be added, which would reduce the positive nuclear charge from 80 to 79. In that way the mercury atom might thus be transmuted into an atom of gold, since it would now be made up of 79 electrons, the characteristic atomic number of gold.

The same effect might be expected to result if instead of causing a negative electron to enter the nucleus of the mercury atom a positive proton were withdrawn from it, for in either case the result would be a nucleus with a charge suited to retain only the 79 electrons recognized in the atom of gold.

Several experimenters have believed that they succeeded in producing traces of gold from mercury in such ways as these, and a few other apparent transmutations of elements have been announced, but the whole subject is still more or less covered with obscurity and uncertainty.

Bible Passages

Power of Faith

(St. Luke 17; 1-11)

THEN said he unto his deciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come.

It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea than that he should offend one of these little ones.

Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him.

And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent: thou shalt forgive him.

And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith.

And the Lord said, If ye had faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye might say unto this sycamine tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the sea; and it should obey you.

But which of you, having a servant plowing or feeding cattle, will say unto him by and by, when he is come from the field, Go and sit down to meat?

And will not rather say unto him, Make ready wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward thou shalt eat and drink?

Doth thee thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not.

So likewise ye, when ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

And it came to pass, as he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

At the Hospital

A GRIM and somewhat sombre place,
In spite of sunlight in the room,
The red-haired nurse's smiling face
And many hyacinths in bloom.

A house entirely too clean,
If cleanliness means smelly drugs,
And something cruel in the sheen
Of floors quite innocent of rugs.

They bring you food, they bring you drink.
Your friends drop in to chat a while;
Yet there is too much time to think . . .
The red-haired nurse, though, has a smile.

Come days when all your forces wane,
The world recedes as you grow worse;
You are alone, alone with pain;
But how she fights, that red-haired nurse!

At last she wins the weary race,
Bests death and pain with skill and guile;
And then you like that barren place,
You like the red-haired nurse's smile!

Hair-Root Gold

By Herbert Kaufman

THE Golden Age was a short-spurred rooster with an overgrown crow—richer in press agents than performance.

Comparison, the only accurate appraiser, finds a very inferior line of goods on its shelves. And mighty few pennies jingling in its pockets.

Croesus, the Lydian king and the greatest coin collector antiquity knew, broke all previous records and won his scarehead in history with a measly eight million dollars.

In 1700, the shrewd Dutch and the industrious British, between them, could barely inventory a hundred million pounds.

And when Napoleon decided to make the world his exclusive oyster, the outstanding capitalist of Europe was Frederick of Hesse, whose father founded the family fortune by furnishing cannon-fodder to Continental armies at $65 per head.

The business was so remunerative that other governments were often compelled to bow and scrape to his balance sheet for the funds to meet current obligations.

A mere century ago, Metternich confessed how Austria abandoned well-laid plans of war, because Nathan Rothschild notified his brother at Vienna that an international rupture at the particular moment would be unprofitable for their firm, and therefore refused to finance the campaign.

And Nathan Rothschild could even then remember when his concern borrowed two thousand dollars to establish the bank which already held the fate of empires in its vaults.

Money didn't begin to learn the multiplication table until steam and electricity became its schoolmasters and taught it the secrets of power.

Present surpluses simply represent recent savings in time and energy. We do more work in an hour than yesterday accomplished in twenty-four. And civilization is correspondingly affluent.

As long as production and transportation were confined to manual labor, the past lived from hand to mouth and in a chronic state of bankruptcy.

It hadn't the necessary tools or methods profitably to exploit raw materials, transport them and realize the latent possibilities in men and matter.

Wheels, wires and laboratories have only lately created the instruments which have lifted America's annual income to ninety billions—double the national wage for 1914, and several thousandfold the entire federal revenue of our tallowdip and stage-coach youth.

This enormous sum is just like the dividends of efficiency.

It came from saved clock-tickers; it grew in short-cuts; we found it buried in the air and gathered it with radio and aeroplanes; we dug it from dump heaps and distilled it from waterfalls.

We discovered it under thinking-caps—among the hair roots that cover the Mother Lode—the human brain.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 6.—The pawnshop is making desperate efforts to shake up its aura of seedy despair—the appearance of trafficking in human woe. Save in the slums, it no longer displays the three gilded balls, so long the traditional symbol of its quick financial aid.

It is only along the Bowery and down-at-heel side streets one may see the old time hockshop with its Shylock in skull cap exacting the final penny. The hockshop has become a "loan service bureau," and this financial plan and that Philanthropic bankers providing money at easy rates sounded the doom.

There are still a few of those places where bells ring over doors to guide unsteady feet at night and where windows feature such depressing unredeemed pledges as wedding rings, baby carriages and invalid chairs. Yet these are patronized chiefly by chronic drifters and petty thieves.

Uptown, many of the new pawn shops have gone modernistic. They lodge high in skyscrapers and are distinguished by a single gilded word on the door: "Loans." The up-to-date pawn broker believes many respectable and honest people frequently need cash but do not want acquaintances to know it.

In the high class pawn shop these days there are no booths where the unfortunate go to have their pledges appraised. There are no windows painted black to screen off views of passers-by. The customer is waited upon as he is in the well regulated jewelry store.

His pledged article is taken to a room in the rear. There is nothing about the establishment to indicate its brokerage aspect. There are counters of jewelry and windows, are modestly decorated, in contrast to the old jinkle-jumble of plainly priced pledges. Indeed, few realize such places are pawn shops.

The most famous of the pawnbrokers perhaps are the Simpsons, who have establishments in every part of town. They are of English descent, and five generations have been in the business. The average pawn rate is about 18 per cent a year, but the new movement is to make it a straight one per cent a month.

On Park Row is—or at least was a few weeks ago—a pawnshop whose windows are unbarred, save when closed. Its protection is a gentleman with a protruding jaw who to all appearances conducts a news and fruit stand at the side of the entrance. He has permission to carry two guns and can shoot from both hips. An alarm buzzer signal system is always in readiness. He stopped three robbers on the wing, and the place was never molested again.

Chicago's most famous gangster recently approached New York's most expensive publicity expert to exploit him. The offer of $75,000 a year was turned down. It was the gangster's idea to throw a smoke screen about his underworld connections by playing a society role in Florida and in New York. And from what is going on in society he might make the riffle at that.

And a bootlegger is having a $250,000 mausoleum built for him in one of the New York cemeteries. A rival, hearing of the splurge, is conferring with a mortuary architect to show the upstart a real mausoleum. With things as they are, they may need them any time.

Well, for one thing you may have a chutney sauce named for you.

And writes a press agent: "Yvette is an artist from the Far East who has a pet python. Won't you drop in Monday night and meet it?"

Sorry, but that's my ukulele lesson night.

From a postcard: "You are one of those writers who thinks it smart to crack at taxi drivers. I suppose at college you were the campus cutup!"

At my business college they didn't have a campus. Nor am I a writer. It is just an ambition and go comb your hair. There's writing going on in this room!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHILE your old friends are growing away from you you are not making new ones to take their place.

You feel that you are not to blame for this condition.

You lay the fault, if any, to something outside your personality.

If you would prove the state of affairs you might find that you are doing what your friends expect of you.

Perhaps you have ceased to make any effort to please.

You don't want to do anything that does not make a direct appeal to you.

You have become selfish and self-centered.

If others will make the advances, will come to you, you are willing to be agreeable.

But you have no idea of putting forth an effort to retain friends.

You may not exert yourself enough to show sufficient appreciation of what is done for you by your friends.

Friendship entails more than a willingness to accept.

Friendship means first a willingness to give.

Be reciprocal in your friendships—meet others half way and try to give, rather than receive and you will never be without good friends.
